Waltham Takes Legal Action To Abate Charles River Nuisance

At a special meeting held on Thursday, July 24th, the City Council of Waltham, in accordance with the request of Mayor Duane of that city, voted to empower City Solicitor John Foster of Waltham to bring legal action against the Boston Manufacturing Company and the Waltham Bleachery & Dye Works. As a result, a bill in equity was filed Monday in the Middlesex Court at East Cambridge, Judge Lummus granting permission to bring the suit. The bill, as prepared by City Solicitor Foster, refers to the contract agreement entered into in 1901 between the then owners of the Boston Manufacturing Company and the Waltham Bleachery whereby the former corporation was to release 30 cubic feet of water per second from the basin above the Moody street dam at Waltham; this volume to be released during working hours, not to exceed 12 hours per day. The bill recites that the Waltham Bleachery recently started two actions in tort against the receivers of the Boston Manufacturing Company alleging that the former corporation has been suffering because of alleged failure to receive the volume of water specified in the 1901 contract. The bill continues by stating that in consequence of the threats made by the Waltham Bleachery, the receivers of the Boston Manufacturing Company have, for weeks caused a much larger volume of water than 30 cubic feet per second to be released from the basin, causing the river level between Waltham and the upper reaches of the basin to be so lowered that mud flats have been exposed, menacing the health of the community. The bill further states that the operation of the Waltham Water Works pumping station is impeded because of the low level of the river; that the Waltham Bleachery does not need nor use the volume of water being wastefully diverted from the basin and that the proposed river payment to be held on August 12th by the City of Waltham, cannot be conducted unless the river level is higher.

The bill asks that relief be granted by a restraining order which will enjoin the Boston Manufacturing Company from causing water to be diverted over the Moody street dam, or through the canal nearby in sufficient volume to make the river level below its normal height, and that the company be ordered to keep the canal closed and the dam flash-boards up until the level of the river basin is restored to normal.

Goldberger Wins Tercentenary Golf

The qualifying rounds were played at 18 holes on Monday at Albemarle, Charles River, Commonwealth and Woodland Clubs. The 32 who qualified started promptly at nine o'clock on Friday at Brae Burn, playing 36 holes with the following result.

Best Gross—Herman Goldberger, Jr., of Auburndale.

Best Net—Dr. W. T. O'Halloran, Jr., of Newtonville.

Second Net—F. J. Fessenden, Jr., of West Newton.

Third Net—B. M. Horter of Newtonville.

The 4th net is still undecided—the triple tie at 157 Net between A. L. Le Baron of Newtonville, Donald Richie of Newton Centre and H. T. Leary of Newton Centre necessitated a play-off at 18 holes. This will be held at Brae Burn today and the winner will be announced in next week's Graphic.

Albemarle G. C. golfers captured the majority of prizes in the 36-hole handicap tournament limited to Newton residents, this morning and afternoon at the Brae Burn Country Club. The tournament was a part of the city's tercentenary program.

Herman Goldberger, Jr., Albemarle, with 164, and F. K. Fessenden, Jr., of the same club with 165 had the first and second best gross scores.

Dr. W. T. O'Hara, also of Albemarle, was far ahead of the field in net scoring. His 172 gross score and 22 handicap in each round netted him a 128, 17 better than the second net score of B. M. Horter. The summary:

W. T. O'Hara	89	83-172-128

Labor Shortage Report Attracts Applicants

An article was printed in a Boston paper last week to the effect that the supply of laborers in Newton was insufficient to meet the demand and that 15 laborers were needed on contract jobs of $5 per day wages. The article further stated that the alleged labor shortage in this city was occasioned by the large amount of work being done by the city on new streets and other projects, some of which is being done by contractors.

On the day following the publication of this article, not only did many men who reside in Newton go to City Hall to apply for work, but men from places far removed, such as Lowell and Clinton, lured on by the supposed opportunities for employment here. As a matter of fact, there are scores of men in this city who have not worked for many months. It is true, of course; that many of these men are unfit physically, to perform the arduous labor which must be done by men who work for contractors. Men who have never done laboring work find it beyond their ability to wield a shovel or a pick for hours each day, or push wheelbarrows loaded with cement all day. But, there are men in Newton out of employment who can and will do a reasonable day's work.

Some men who started to work for a contractor doing a large job in this city complain that they were put to work on a cement-mixer, labored for a couple of hours and then had to loaf for a number of hours while the mixer remained idle. They drew no pay for this idle time. Then, in the early evening the mixer was started again and these men were supposed to work into the night to get a few more hours' wages. The regular employees of this contractor worked eight hours straight.

CITY HALL NEWS

Miss Alice McLaughlin of the Street Department office went to New York over the week-end, travelling by airplane.

Miss Helen Cavanaugh of the Street Department has returned from her vacation which was spent in The Bronx, New York.

Miss Mary Sheehan of the Water Department is spending her vacation in Maine.

Miss Anna McMullen of the Comptroller's office has returned from a vacation spent at Onset.

Miss Kathleen Donnelly and Miss Mary Ryan of the Comptroller's office are spending their vacation at Oak Bluffs.

COMMONWEALTH AVENUE TO BE THROUGH WAY

The Board of Aldermen at its meeting Monday night again made an important traffic change affecting Commonwealth avenue. It was voted to make this boulevard a "through way." This order will go into effect as soon as the intersecting and side streets along the avenue will have STOP signs placed at their corners. Additional traffic signals must also be placed at intersections where traffic signals have been in operation. These include the intersections of the avenue with Centre, Walnut, Chestnut, Washington and Lexington streets.

Aldermen Discuss Court House Location

At the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night, the Board went into executive session as a "committee of the whole" to discuss the location of the new court house to be erected in the near future in this city. A few months ago the county authorities took an option on a parcel of land fronting on Elm street, West Newton, and running through to Cherry street near the telephone building. The GRAPHIC at that time published this information. Subsequently it was reported that this land had been purchased by the county.

When the Board of Aldermen, at the request of Mayor Weeks, voted to petition the Legislature for permission to borrow $750,000 outside the debt limit to finance the building of a new city hall, the question of where the new structure would be built was revived. At that time it was taken for granted that the proposed court house would be erected at West Newton, because of the previous action of the Board of Aldermen in 1927. The location of new police headquarters was considered. Subsequently the Aldermen voted 16 to 4 to adhere to the verdict of the 1927 Board and build the new city hall on the land seized and purchased for this purpose at the so-called "triangle site" at Commonwealth avenue, Homer and Walnut streets. This location is also to be the site of the War Memorial. Following this action of the Aldermen some Newton Centre people started agitation to cause the proposed new court house to also be built on the "triangle."

The closed committee meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night was to discuss the location of the proposed new court house and to obtain the sentiment of the Aldermen on this matter. Whatever transpires in these closed meetings is supposed to be kept confidential by members of the Board of Aldermen. Someone must, however, have confided to someone else, what transpired, because news items appeared in papers the following day telling of an informal vote taken by the Aldermen at the secret session. A member of the editorial staff of the GRAPHIC was present at the meeting in his capacity as a member of the Board of Aldermen but he gave no information to his fellow newspaper men. In conformity with its practice not to publish privileged information, the GRAPHIC will not print this week any details of what action was taken at the closed meeting of the Board. It is probable, however, that at the regular meeting of the Aldermen on next Monday night, a discussion will be held on the attitude of the Board regarding the location of the new court house. Next week's GRAPHIC will give a detailed account of this discussion.

Assessors Fix Tax Rate At $27.20 No Change From Last Year

Newton's tax rate of $27.20 per thousand, one of the lowest in Massachusetts, will be maintained for 1930, Mayor Sinclair Weeks announced yesterday, even though the city has this year launched its most pretentious program of public building and street construction in a decade. The city's total real estate and personal estate valuation is announced as $159,980,700, which for a city with a population of slightly more than 65,000 residents, places its per capita valuation at $2462 and ranks Newton again as the "richest city in the state."

In addition to the regular budget of nearly $5,000,000, Mayor Weeks has provided for the payment from the tax levy, without the usual recourse to borrowing, of all Betterment streets at a cost of over $200,000, all sewerage, a new High School Stadium and Football Field, $70,000; a new bath house and bathing beach at Crystal Lake, $33,000; an addition of $10,000 to the Municipal Insurance Fund, the first since 1923; improvements in the High School heating plant, $14,000; alterations at the Auburndale station, $7,000; and for Tercentenary celebration, $19,000. Moreover, the city has completed all payments on the 10-acre triangle site at Commonwealth avenue, Walnut and Homer streets, where the new municipal group will be built, holding title to this centrally located land by deed as well as by eminent domain. In addition, Mayor Weeks announced that a substantial surplus is carried forward.

Comparative figures for 1920 and 1930, which were furnished to Mayor Weeks by the Newton Assessors, John W. Murphy, chairman, John R. Prescott and Albert H. McAuslan, show that the city's valuation has increased during the past 10 years from $36,376,380 to $159,980,700. The number of property owners increased from 13,905 in 1920 to 23,399 in 1929, a gain of 68 per cent. The number of dwellings increased by 50 per cent, from 1920, when the number was 8,537, to this year, when there are a total of 12,768.

Newton's 1930 tax warrants total $5,700,469.95. Of this total, the state, county, and metropolitan warrants amount to $612,804.24, and the City Budget and additions, $5,087,665.71. For schools, it is announced, Newton will spend 25 1/2 per cent. of its total budget.

DOROTHY SIMMONS SPEARE

Dorothy Simmons Speare, wife of Edward Ray Speare of 61 Montvale road, Newton Centre, died Wednesday at her home after an illness of several weeks. She was a native of Boston and had lived in this vicinity most of her life. She was graduated from Boston University.

Mrs. Speare was an active clubwoman, holding membership in the Newton Centre Woman's Club, the Woman's Republican Club of Massachusetts, the College Club of Boston, the Twentieth Century Club, the Monday Club of Newton Centre, the National Civic Federation, the Woman's Council of Boston University, and the New England Farm and Garden Association. She was also a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma national sorority.

She is survived by her husband, E. Ray Speare, and by two daughters, a son and three sisters. One daughter is Mrs. Dorothy Speare Christmas of New York city, well-known concert singer and author of magazine articles and novels, notably "Dancers in the Dark." The other daughter is Mrs. Virginia S. Thayer of West Newton, and the son, Albert R. Speare of Newton Centre. The sisters surviving are Mrs. Harry A. George of Boston, Mrs. Frank A. Davis of Glen Ridge, N. J., and Miss Laura Simmons of Boston.

DANIEL W. DUVALL

Daniel W. Duvall of 37 Champa avenue, Newton Upper Falls, died on July 28th, following a long illness. He was a life long resident of that village, having been born there 65 years ago. For many years he was employed by the Gamewell Company. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Louise E. Duvall, three daughters, Misses Eva, Alice and Olive Duvall of Upper Falls, and three sons—Rev. William Duvall of Cambridge, Ernest Duvall of Eagle Lake, Maine, and Leslie Duvall of Malden.

The funeral service was held yesterday afternoon, Rev. G. Vaughan Shedd of the Upper Falls Methodist Episcopal Church officiating. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

DEATHS

KETTERER: on July 24 at 55 Manomet road, Newton Centre, Mrs. Lena Ketterer, age 77 yrs.

SAWYER: on July 27 at 88 Central st., Auburndale, Anna E. Sawyer, age 79 yrs.

DUVALL: on July 28 at 37 Champa avenue, Newton Upper Falls, Daniel W. Duvall, age 65 yrs.

SPEARE: on July 30 at 61 Montvale road, Newton Centre, Mrs. Dorothy Simmons Speare.

PEABODY HOUSE

The children at the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children have been fortunate in having had several outings that have been given by interested friends. A delightful trip was made to Wollaston Beach as guests of Mr. Deleware King of Quincy where they were given a chance to enjoy all kinds of outdoor games before lunch. There were forty-three children on the outing and they had a delightful luncheon finishing with ice cream for all. During the afternoon the children who were not in plaster casts went in bathing. There were flat bottom boats and tubs enough for all those who wanted to use them. About four o'clock they left for home and arrived in time for supper. Among those who loaned cars to transport the children were Mr. M. E. Coleman of Auburndale and Mrs. Edward Pike of West Roxbury.

This week Mr. Frederick L. Putnam of Newton Centre gave the children an outing on his spacious yacht. As none of the children had ever been on a yacht before there was nothing but wonder expressed at all the conveniences that were found as they went over the boat. The children were taken in automobiles loaned by Mr. Putnam and Mr. Pelham of Waban to the dock where they found the boat waiting.

Last Saturday a reunion of those who have been at the Peabody Home was held on the grounds of the Home. Mrs. Gilbert Brown, Mrs. Harriet Kellogg and Mrs. Nicholas Richardson entertained the children at luncheon. One of the boys had come on the night bus from New York in order to be present. Another told of having studied law and passing the bar. All had a pleasant day and many letters have been received telling of the good time they had seeing their old friends again.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM OF BOSTON

A motion picture with a sure appeal to the adventurous heart of boyhood, is showing daily at the Children's Museum of Boston this week, and next Sunday afternoon at 3.30. Admission is free. It is called "David in Baffin Land," and tells the story of young David B. Putnam, son of George Palmer Putnam, famous New York publisher, and his chum, Deric Nussbaum, who went on the good ship Morrissey into the frozen north to find out what it was all about.

The Museum is open daily all summer from 9 to 5; Sundays 1.30 to 5. Admission is free. Story-telling exhibits appeal to the adult as to the child, and the lady who thought that adults were refused admittance to this museum was quite, quite wrong. Last Sunday's attendance list included everything from mere toddlers to a woman well over ninety. A dinosaur folder telling what the Museum and its work comprises will be sent on application to Miss Mildred E. Manter, Director of the Museum.

PATCH-TOLLES

The Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge of Dedham officiated at the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Tolles, daughter of Mrs. Josie Holson Tolles of Nashua, N. H., and West Newton and the late James U. Tolles, to Mr. Frederic W. Patch of Framingham, son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Patch. The ceremony took place in the West Newton Unitarian Church, Mr. Frederic W. Tolles, brother of the bride, giving her in marriage. Mrs. F. William Whitling of Framingham was matron of honor and Mr. F. Wallace Patch, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. On their return from a wedding trip to Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Patch will live in Framingham.

KIWANIS CLUB

The weekly meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club was held on Tuesday, July 29, at the Old Venice Restaurant in Norumbega Park. Many visiting Kiwanians and Rotarians were present. The meeting was also honored by the presence of Thomas White, collector of Internal Revenue, and Charles Hatfield, former mayor of Newton and at present Treasurer of Middlesex County.

The singing was led by Bill Skelton, and he presented to the gathering the Democratic leader in the City, Tom Lyons, and the Republican leader, Charlie Hatfield, who together sang "Sweet Adeline."

The speaker of the day, the Honorable William M. Butler, former Senator and National Chairman of the Republican Party, was introduced by the Reverend Maurice Bullock. Mr. Butler severely criticized political grafters who attempt to confuse the electorate by injecting into political campaigns men with records with names similar to that of the more prominent candidate. He also expressed an optimistic outlook for the future of business and paid glowing tribute to the late John W. Weeks.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., report that they have sold for Gertrude Kimball her land located on Commonwealth avenue adjoining the Brae Burn Country Club property in the West Newton Hill district of Newton. The land comprises 49.778 square feet and is valued at $20,000. Paul A. Mazzuchelli was the purchaser and buys for improved. In conjunction with this sale Paul Mazzuchelli conveys to Gertrude Kimball the single seven room colonial home located at 83 Commonwealth Park, Newton Centre. This house consists of seven rooms, sun parlor, two car garage together with 11,000 square feet of land and is valued at $16,000.

ABOUT TOWN

A fire insurance expert came into the GRAPHIC office last Saturday and commented that the Newton Fire Department is entitled to high praise for its work at the fire in the Highland Mills at Newton Highlands on Thursday evening, July 24. The rapidly spreading blaze had raced through the hay-shed and forced its way into the high grain elevator when it was checked by determined effort on the part of Chief Randlett and his men. Ordinarily, when a fire gets any start in a grain elevator it is almost impossible to stop it.

Not only is John Janse very efficiently filling the terms of his contract to collect the garbage of this city, but he is keeping his equipment in excellent condition. The large automobile trucks owned by him have all been re-conditioned and newly painted.

A prominent society lady is endeavoring to obtain freedom for a murderer serving a life sentence because he has studied art during the twenty years he has been in jail. In return for the lady's interest in his behalf, the lifer has painted her portrait.

He was sentenced for life because he murdered a man while robbing the victim of $48. In twenty years he has become an artist and sentimental folks are anxious to procure freedom for him. But, the victim of this liberty seeking individual became a corpse, immediately, or approximately so, has been dead for twenty years and will remain so forever. Undoubtedly kind hearted people will, in a few years commence efforts to obtain the freedom of the dead who recently slew and burned a young woman in a neighboring state because she resented insulting advances he made. When there is more sympathy for those murdered and less for those who murder them, when more murderers are paid in their own coin, there will be fewer murders.

The old fire station at Newton Corner is being demolished. There is one use that the parcel of land occupied by this building might be well put to. On this site a convenience station should be built by the city. For many years persons residing in the vicinity of Nonantum square, or doing business in that vicinity, have realized, all too well, the necessity of such a public need. A few years ago the Newton Business Associates passed resolutions asking the city to provide proper sanitary facilities at Newton Corner. Thousands of persons travel daily through Nonantum square, which is the transfer point between the busses of the Middlesex & Boston and the cars of the Boston Elevated. The need of a convenience station at this place has existed for many years, and is greater now than before. Progressive cities throughout the country have established such stations and Newton should not continue to lag.

The recently organized band of Newton Post, American Legion is making good progress, considering that most of its members are novices on band instruments. The band holds a rehearsal each Monday night at City Hall annex in West Newton and most of the bandmen practice assiduously on other evenings at their homes. The band will participate in the big Legion parade in Boston next October.

Who's the real hero of the school boys today? Admiral Byrd or Colonel Lindbergh? Neither! Prof. Rogers of Tech would win any popularity contest determined by the youngsters after the article he contributed to the Boston Globe last Sunday. He advocated that the long school vacation during the summer seasons be considerably shortened.

According to a complaint made by an automobile salesman of this city, the nice, new smooth pavement on Beacon street at Waban has one serious drawback. This expert driver informed us that on a rainy day, recently, he was operating a car at a reasonable rate of speed on the recently surfaced street, when the automobile went into a dangerous skid. Too smooth street surfaces have their disadvantages under certain weather conditions.

Perhaps after a while it will dawn on the billboard magnates that the Board of Aldermen of Newton are determined to grant no more locations for such contraptions in this city.

PARAMOUNT—NEWTON

As The London Time quotes in a recent issue "No one who has seen this picture ever forgets it, it does not glorify war, but human character"—and they were correct and when the play was at the Wilbur Theatre in Boston for weeks every paper in Boston praised it. It is a study in life—of three men who set out at the beginning of the great war and one by one were victims of the great conflict.

If ever a film version of a stage classic required sincerity and fidelity, it is "Journey's End," all-talking version of R. C. Sheriff's famous stage play. On the same program will be "Strictly Unconventional" with Katherine Dale Owen and Paul Cavanaugh, this picture was played several years ago on the legitimate stage by Mrs. Leslie Carter and John Drew with great success.

For the last half of the week, Fannie Bryce in "Be Yourself" and "The Czar of Broadway" with John Wray and Betty Compson. The management earnestly requests those who see "Journey's End" to be in the theatre at the beginning of the picture and therefore get the full story and enjoy it much more.

AUTOS COLLIDE, TWO INJURED

Cars driven by Samuel Watts of Bayville street, Dorchester, and Joseph McCarthy of 21 Mount Vernon street, Brighton, collided Saturday afternoon at Centre street and Boylston streets, Newton Highlands. Mrs. Mary J. Watts and McCarthy claimed to have received injuries.

Recent Engagements

Mrs. Mabel R. Fowle of Newton Centre is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Miss Priscilla Hawthorne Fowle, to Brayton Stark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Stark of Stamford, Conn. Miss Fowle is a graduate of Vassar College and has the degrees of M.A. and Ph.D. from Radcliffe. She is at present dean of women at Denison University in Granville, O.

Mr. Stark is a graduate of the Guilford School in New York city and has done graduate work at the Eastman School of Music, Rochester University, Rochester, N. Y. He is a member of the faculty of the Conservatory of Music at Denison University and organist of the university. He is an associate of the American Guild of Organists.

Mr. and Mrs. Seavey Battelle of Rye, N. Y., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Susan Parkman Battelle, to Prescott Bigelow, Jr., of Suffolk road, Chestnut Hill.

Miss Battelle was graduated from the Rye Country Day School, in 1927, and spent the following winter studying in Paris. She is a sister of Mrs. Joseph Wright Powell, Jr., (Margaret Battelle) of Rye, and of Miss A. Elizabeth Battelle, who is to make her debut next winter.

Mr. Bigelow was in the class of 1932 at Harvard College and is a member of the Hasty Pudding, Iroquois and Delphic Clubs. He is associated in business with Chandler Hovey & Company. No date has been set for the wedding.

A recent engagement is that of Miss Deborah Tappan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hooper Tappan of 183 Mt. Vernon street, West Newton, to Joseph Choate Bickford, son of Herbert J. Bickford of Pelham, N. Y. Miss Tappan attended Dana Hall school, Wellesley, and Miss Sacker's School in Boston. Mr. Bickford is a graduate of Phillips Exeter Academy and of Harvard, class of '27, where he was a member of the Hasty Pudding, Owl and Pi Eta clubs. At present he is with the Bankers Trust Company of New York.

Y. M. C. A.

The last group of boys who have been coming to the Newton Y. M. C. A. from the City Missionary Society of Boston were entertained at the Association on Wednesday, July 30th. They enjoyed games, baseball, a swim, motion pictures, and a fine luncheon prepared by a group of ladies, of which Mrs. D. A. White is Chairman. Other members of this group are Mrs. H. C. Fraser, Mrs. H. W. Bascom, Mrs. Henry Wittins, Mrs. C. B. Anderson, and Miss Etta Wittins. Flowers were furnished for the tables at all the luncheons by Mrs. Fraser. After luncheon the boys were led in community singing by Mrs. John Andrew, Jr., Asst. Boys' Secretary. Mrs. Howard Moore of Bellevue street, Newton, played the accompaniments on the piano. These outings have been made possible by a group of citizens, and we are told by the boys and their leaders that they are much enjoyed.

Mr. Walter S. Bruton and Mr. Vadel A. Anderson, Secretaries at the "Y" me spending vacations on Cape Cod. Miss Marjorie Aldrich has returned from her vacation at the Bangor House in Maine.

Through the courtesy of the General Ice Cream Company, a group of boys visited their plant in Cambridge on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. William MacPherson, former physical Director at Newton and now General Secretary of the "Y" at St. Louis, Ohio, will meet some of his friends on Wednesday, August 6th. Mr. John Irving is inviting all those who knew Mr. MacPherson to be present that evening.

The Doubles in the Tennis Tournament were won by Messrs. Kitchen and Coombs and Kepner and Trowbridge were runners up. The final match was played on Wednesday evening on the "Y" courts. It is expected that a return match with the Brockton "Y" will be played on Saturday.

The Senior Baseball team have a full schedule this week, having played a team from Bachrach's on Wednesday and the Hoyt Cardinals on Thursday at Hoyt Field, Cambridge. Physical Director Simmons is planning also for a game on Saturday afternoon. Last Saturday the "Y" won from the Hoyt Cardinals by a score of 8-2.

The Junior team is playing the Endicott A. C. tonight on the Y. M. C. A. grounds and Saturday will play the Jamaica Alphas on their home ground. Monday the Juniors play at the Bicycle Park in Waltham with the Waltham American Legion Junior team.

The "Y" also has a team of Midgits playing baseball and they have been successful in winning from the Morse Street Tigers 25-5 and from the Burr Midgits 17-4.

Dear Sirs: Your editorial about the liquor element, in the last number of the Graphic, expressed a fact that has not appeared in any other publication that has been read or heard by me, and that has been plain to me practically all of my life.

The people who deal in liquor have been a law-breaking and law-defying portion of the community for the last 65 years, as I have observed them. It seems strange to me that educated people, professional people can make the claim that bootlegging and crimes have resulted from the prohibition laws, and that insanity has increased since liquor was no longer obtainable at saloons as in former years.

Very truly,
N. Emmons Paine.

The political pot is beginning to boil even tho the weather is hot and the primary six weeks away. The outlook for Republican success is dubious and if the Democrats present a well balanced ticket, defeat for the leading Republican candidates is freely predicted. Under these circumstances, Republicans should take especial pains to nominate the candidates who have both the necessary qualifications for the office and who at the same time can make the greatest appeal to the average voter. With these matters in mind, in our opinion, the best candidate for the Republicans to nominate for United States Senator is the Hon. William M. Butler. Mr. Butler, who served for two years in the Senate as successor to Senator Lodge, not only has the experience which went with that service, but, as chairman of the Republican National Committee which aided in the election of President Coolidge, has a wide and useful acquaintance with the Republican leaders throught the country. In addition to the qualifications of Mr. Butler, the sentiment of the state on the prohibition question has a vital bearing on the election. It is thought that 75% of Republican voters are dry and Mr. Butler has taken that side of the issue. Mr. Draper and all the Democratic candidates are wet. The question then arises—if Mr. Butler obtains the nomination, will the Draper adherents support him and if Mr. Draper is nominated, will the dry Republicans stand by him. No one knows the answer to that query, and upon its solution depends whether President Hoover has a Massachusetts Senator on his side or whether there shall be another Democrat Senator to make trades with "wild jackass" senators from the west and south. Think it over.

Few persons realize the time and attention to minute detail necessary in making delivery at your home of the daily newspaper. It requires early rising on the part of the news-dealer and his corps of newsboys, a knowledge of the city and the delivery of the right paper to the right subscriber. In proportion to its cost, the reader gets a larger return for his money than is the case in many kinds of business. We make this observation because of the retirement from this branch of his business, by Mr. Frank J. Perry, who for the past thirteen years has well and faithfully served the residents of Newton Corner and has earned their good will and respect.

From the wet point of view there is sound common sense in the refusal of the leaders to take a definite stand on a substitute for the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment. In the ranks of the wets are advocates of state option, government control, high and low license, and if one of these plans received official approval, the result would be a marked diminution of enthusiasm from supporters of other methods. The dries, on the other hand, are all united in their opposition to the repeal of the amendment and of the Volstead act.

Newton might well follow the example of Brookline and pass an ordinance prohibiting hitch-hiking or thumbing for automobile rides.

BROOKLINE OUTLAWS "THUMBERS"

The Town of Brookline will henceforth be a bad place for boys, youths or any persons who make a practice of standing in streets to beg rides of motorists. The Selectmen of that town on Monday night voted to pass an ordinance which forbids this nuisance. This ordinance makes liable to arrest any one stands in a public street and "thumbs" rides. It will not apply to seekers of free rides who beg from sidewalks. The object of the ordinance is to end the menace to traffic by boys and young men who stand out in streets and force drivers to steer into the path of approaching traffic. It is quite probable that other cities and towns in Massachusetts will follow Brookline's example.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

As a result of complaints made by residents of Vine and Brookline streets, Oak Hill, nineteen truck drivers were in the Newton court last week charged with driving with defective brakes. All were found guilty and 18 were fined. The 19th, who was represented by counsel, had his case placed on file.

The nuisance and menace caused by big automobile trucks have rapidly increased in the past few years. Supplanting railroad transportation on short hauls, heavy trucks have multiplied in numbers many times. Competition has become ruinous and has been taken advantage of the fullest by individuals and corporations who hire trucks. Chain store corporations have largely abandoned using their own trucks for transportation of their merchandise and hire trucks at rates which compel the owners of these trucks and their employees to hustle. Owners of gravel pits and contractors hire trucks at so much an hour, or so much a load. Trucks hired by the hour or day are supposed to carry so many loads.

The result is—that big lumbering trucks travel along streets, wide streets and narrow streets at high rates of speed. Not only do these trucks endanger the lives and safety of the public, but they also damage seriously residences on streets used by the heavy vehicles, and they fray the nerves of persons who live in these residences. Many of the trucks rattle and jangle so that they produce noise on a wholesale scale, making sleep impossible when they commence to rush by in the early morning. Narrow streets in residential districts, streets never built or intended for heavy traffic, are used by truck drivers as short cuts. And there is a great temptation to use short cuts when truck owners are paid on a "piece-work" basis.

Recently, a contract was let by this city and the trucks hired by the contractor, who took the job at a very low figure, rushed at such a speed, and were so heavily loaded, that they were scattering gravel along the streets in such quantity that the Street Department had to warn the offenders. This case was not exceptional.

The campaign against speeding, noisy trucks started at Oak Hill should be continued in all parts of the city until such big vehicles are compelled to be kept in proper condition, kept from using narrow side streets, and caused to be operated at reasonable rates of speed. If Newton and other cities insisted on this, truck owners and drivers would eventually benefit. Those who hire trucks would have to pay enough to allow proper operation of such vehicles.

Hard Soft CORNS

Gone in 4 Days
Roots and All

CALLOUSES TOO

Out to stay out—selling like hot cakes in Great Britain and now in America—the pleasant, easy way to get rid of corns—a joyous, refreshing, invigorating foot bath for 3 or 4 nights and then lift out the corn—roots and all.

They call this miracle worker Radox and since it has been working wonders with the bad feet of the tight little Isles—plasters and acids, cutting and skin destroying liquid belong to the dark ages.

It's the modern way—the sensible way to take out corns—to abolish callosities—to dissolve the hard skin from heels and toes and to put your feet in good vigorous condition so that you can walk and run and jump and dance with ease and pleasure.

Just ask for a box of Radox at any modern drugstore—you'll be delighted.

Petition to Dissolve
Ross Signal Company, Petitioner.

To the Honorable the Judges of the Superior Court for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:

Respectfully represents your Petitioner: (1) That it is a corporation duly organized under Chapter 156 of the General Laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts on December 12, 1929 under the corporate name of Central Railway Signal Company (name since changed to "Ross Signal Company") for the purpose of carrying on the business of manufacturing, purchasing and otherwise acquiring, dealing in, selling and otherwise disposing of torpedoes, fuses and other signaling devices, chemicals and other merchandise, etc., having its principal office and place of business in the City of Newton in the County of Middlesex, in said Commonwealth.

(2) That on June 3, 1930, it sold and conveyed to Central Railway Signal Company, Inc., a corporation duly organized and existing under the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, all of its properties and assets, including the goodwill of its business, said properties, assets and goodwill being conveyed subject to all of the known debts and liabilities of your petitioner and with an assumption of the same by said Central Railway Signal Company, Inc., and has since incurred no liabilities other than charges and expenses incident to the dissolution and liquidation and the distribution of the consideration received for said conveyance.

(3) That since June 3, 1930 it has ceased to carry on any business and intends to carry on no further business and desires to be dissolved.

(4) That at a meeting of its stockholders duly called and held for the purpose on June 4, 1930, it was, on motion duly seconded, by the affirmative vote of all of the holders of the outstanding common stock of the Company, said stock being the only class of stock entitled to vote by said holders being also the holders of all of the stock of the Company outstanding. Voted that whereas a sale has been completed by the said Company of its business and the goodwill of its business and of all of its assets and property used in the conduct thereof and there is no further business which the Company desires to conduct, the Company be dissolved and liquidated and that the Directors and Officers of the Company be and hereby are authorized and directed to cause to be filed a petition for dissolution in any court of competent jurisdiction in said matter or to cause the Company to be dissolved in any other lawful manner.

(5) That by vote of the Board of Directors, your petitioner's President has been duly authorized to execute this petition in its behalf.

Wherefore, your petitioner prays that it may be dissolved.

ROSS SIGNAL COMPANY, By Lester Watson, Its President.

July 25-Aug. 1-8.

OF REAL ESTATE

Lengthy Argument Over Gasoline Petition At Aldermanic Meeting

Local Concern Seeks Permit To Sell Gasoline—Other Routine Matters Acted Upon

A regular meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held Monday night. All the members were present with the exception of Aldermen Chandler and Grobenstein.

The outstanding feature was a resolution offered by Alderman Harte which placed the Aldermen on record as favoring the erection of the new court house at the "triangle" site where the new city hall is to be built. This resolution was presented to the County Commissioners of Middlesex County. But, the matter which occupied more time than any other on the docket was a lengthy and peppy argument over the petition of the Franklin Newton Company for a permit to sell gasoline at 36 Hovey street, Newton.

The first matters to be considered at the meeting were petitions of the Edison and Telephone Companies for pole locations.

Albemarle road, Ward 2, approximately 25 feet southwest of Brookdale road, one pole; Albemarle road, Ward 2, northeasterly from Brookdale road, two poles.

California street, Ward 2, at Nevada street, set one pole and remove one pole; Nevada street, Ward 2, approximately 15 feet north of California street, set one pole.

Noble street, Ward 3, between Derby street and Washington avenue, ten poles. (Poles originally set in private way which is now a public street.)

Williston road, Ward 4, at Maple road, set one pole; Maple road, Ward 4, at Williston road, remove one pole.

Intervale road, Ward 6, southeasterly from Bishop road, two poles; Hazelhurst avenue, Ward 3, easterly from Waltham street, four poles. (Poles originally set in private way which is now a public street.)

Watertown street, Ward 3, opposite Eden avenue, set one pole; Watertown street, Ward 3, easterly from Eden avenue, set one pole and remove one pole.

Edison Company, pole location, Clovelly road, Ward 6, approximately 240 feet west of Suffolk road, one pole.

Paul Barker of 100 Albemarle road and William McKee of 108 Albemarle road objected to the proposed pole locations on that street. They stated that if the poles were placed in the locations specified, several attractive trees will be ruined and that the houses to be served can be connected from Brookdale road.

On the petition of the Franklin Newton Company for a permit to keep and sell gasoline in connection with an automobile service station at 36 Hovey street, with a pump to be located inside the building, Mr. Sowers, manager of the company, stated that the permit is desired to enable the company to sell gasoline to its customers. Asked by Alderman Powers if he would agree not to have signs outside the building advertising gasoline for sale, thus, apparently seeking transient trade, Mr. Sowers would not give an affirmative answer.

The Licenses Committee recommended that the petition be granted. Alderman Powers asked that the matter be referred back to the committee for further consideration because of objections of residents on Hovey street. Alderman Gallagher also requested that the matter be referred back to the committee. Alderman Hawkins, chairman of the Licenses Committee, objected to the request, stating that a similar permit had been granted to the Anderson-Cadillac Company, former tenants at 36 Hovey street, and that the petitioner is merely asking for a renewal of this permit. Alderman Powers contradicted this statement, and asserted that the Anderson-Cadillac permit at 36 Hovey street did not allow the public sale of gasoline, nor did Mr. Anderson have signs soliciting such sales.

Alderman Murray favored the granting of the petition and was opposed to referring it back to the committee. He said that the petitioner is an outstanding member of the automotive industry and if he promises to serve only his regular customers with gasoline, he will keep his word. Alderman Gallagher in reply said that it is questionable to consider the interests of an individual ahead of the interests of the city. He told of the congestion now caused on Hovey street by parked automobiles. Alderman Murray suggested that the parking restrictions on the street be enforced. Alderman Gallagher replied that if the Board granted the petition, he will personally see that the parking restrictions on the street are enforced. He told of the difficulty autoists experience frequently in driving through Hovey street.

Alderman Mansfield favored the petition and asserted that the petitioner does not desire to sell gasoline to the public, he merely wishes to serve his customers. Alderman Powers inquired of Mr. Mansfield, "If such is the case, why did the petitioner allow a sign in the window at his premises advertising gasoline at a price lower than prevailing rate?" Alderman Gallagher asked Alderman Mansfield how many times he had passed by this location?

Alderman Gordon inquired of City Clerk Grant as to how the permit granted to the Anderson-Cadillac Company had been worded. The City Clerk replied that this permit read, "keep, store and use gasoline at 36 Hovey street." Alderman Smith and Prior of the Licenses Committee stated that they had voted favorably on the petition on the supposition that it was a renewal of the Anderson permit, but as it had been shown that the petition called for a permit different from that granted to the Anderson-Cadillac, they desired to reconsider the matter.

Alderman Jamieson said that as there seemed to be a misunderstanding on the matter, it should be reconsidered, and he so moved. Alderman Murray agreed with this motion and the Board voted to have the petition referred back to the Licenses Committee.

Alderman Temperley objected to a petition from the Newton Cemetery Corporation asking for certain changes in the plans of its gasoline filling station at the corner of Walnut and Beacon streets, Newton Highlands. Mr. Temperley explained that he does not object to the station, but he opposed to a driveway which will lead into it from the corner of the two streets. He referred to the practice recently established in this city of allowing gasoline filling stations to have three driveways and asserted that the third driveway to these stations on street corners creates a traffic menace. He contended that autoists driving out from filling stations on corner driveways might assume that they would not be affected by a traffic signal because they would neither be travelling on one street or the other and thus had the right of way. The Board did not heed Mr. Temperley's warning and voted to grant the petition.

The Aldermen voted to make the following appropriations: additional award to Julius Nesson for land taken for the War Memorial site at the "triangle" $4,585.69; award to Middlesex & Boston Street Railway for land taken for City Hall site at Walnut street and Commonwealth avenue, $10,500; award to Christine McIntosh for land taken on Needham street,

Newton Man Wins Popular Vote Prize

At Fine Arts Exhibition Of Boston Tercentenary

Mr. William M. Paxton, well known artist, residing at 19 Montvale road, Newton Centre, has been awarded the popular vote prize of the Boston Tercentenary Fine Arts Exhibition recently held in Horticultural Hall, Boston.

• In this show Mr. Paxton exhibited some fine drawings and sketches, as well as a very charming oil painting called "Glitter."

This exhibition, which continued throughout June and July, contained oil paintings, water colors, etchings and drawings, sculptures, arts and crafts, all the works of prominent Boston artists. During the exhibition, which was attended by thousands of people from all over the country, each person attending was entitled to cast one vote for their favorite work of art. The popular vote went to Mr. Paxton.

He was brought up in Newton, and attended the public schools here. He began painting under Dennis Bunker at the old Cowles Art Studio, and continued his training under Gerome at L'Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris. He returned to this city in the early 90's, and has lived and worked here ever since.

Mr. Paxton's work is represented in the permanent exhibits of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the Corcoran Gallery, and many others. He has won numerous prizes, including the popular prize at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in 1922, the popular prize at the Corcoran Art Gallery in 1919, the present popular prize at the Tercentenary Exhibit, as well as a great many others.

Among the many portraits he has painted are those of the late President Cleveland and Chief Justice Hall of the Massachusetts Superior Court.

Newton Highlands, $390; appropriation for Newton's participation in entertaining visitors to American Legion convention next October, $2000.

Among the communications read by the City Clerk were protests against heavy trucking on Brookline and Vine streets, Oak Hill; petition from Jacob Cron of Waltham for a junk license; Pasquale Colullo, common victualler license at 891 Washington street; Stefano Pittarino transfer of common victualler license from 42 Langley road to 788 Beacon street; Colonial Oil Company petition to relocate pumps, lights and sign at 90 Winchester street; Middlesex & Boston Street Railway permit for buses on Boylston street from Floral to Centre, and on Floral from Boylston to Walnut.

Orders were passed authorizing the Mayor to accept a deed from the Middlesex & Boston for land at Auburn and Charles streets; deeding certain land on Quineboquin road to Joseph Condon.

A resolution was offered by Alderman Harte placing the Aldermen on record as favoring the "triangle" site as the location for the new court house. This resolution was to be sent to the County Commissioners. Details of the discussion on this matter are printed in another column.

The Board adjourned after voting to hold the next regular meeting on September 8.

JULY BUILDING REPORT

During the month of July 109 building permits were issued in this city. Of this number 26 were for single dwellings valued at $264,000; 35 for private garages valued at $18,488 and one for a gasoline station valued at $15,000. So far this year 644 permits have been issued with an estimated value in construction work of $3,217,963. In the corresponding period last year 891 permits were granted and the valuation was $4,900,826. In 1928 for the similar period 964 permits were granted and the valuation was $5,959,748.

DRAWN TO SERVE AS JURORS

At the meeting of the Aldermen on Monday night the following names were drawn—the owners of which must serve as jurors at the coming sessions of the Superior Court: Russell G. Carter, 14 Blackstone terrace; Charles Boggs, 20 Wamesit road; Mark Emerson, 24 Leonard avenue; Everett Collins, 11 Orchard avenue; Edgar Lehmann, 37 George street; Edgar Nordstrom, 15 Lexington street; John S. Clapp, 22 Irvington street; Floyd Cochrane, 45 Taft avenue; Louis Lansed, 9 Fayette place; Thomas Lynch, 31 Elliott street; Martin Cunningham, 300 Centre street; Percy Smith, 242 Islington road.

BARN BURNED AT LOWER FALLS

A barn at 45 Pine ridge avenue, Newton Lower Falls, formerly owned by the Crehore estate and latterly the property of Bonelli & Adams was destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. The old structure caught fire from a spark which came from a locomotive on the Lower Falls branch of the Boston & Albany railroad and was destroyed.

Gas Company Wants Big Plant Here

Seeks Location In Auburndale Near Grove St. R. R. Bridge

A petition has been received from the Boston Consolidated Gas Company by the Newton Board of Aldermen asking for a permit to construct, maintain and operate a side track from the Boston & Albany railroad over and across Grove street just north of the Circuit Branch bridge of the B. & A. on that street. The Boston & Albany railroad owns a parcel of land on the east side of Grove street bounded by its Circuit Branch tracks, a private residence district and the golf links of the Woodland Golf Club. The section adjoining this land is quite attractive. Across the street on the other side of Grove street is the large area of land owned by the Boston & Albany. Part of this area is used by the railroad company for storage and roundhouse purposes and part is leased to a sand and gravel company and adjoins land used as a gravel pit.

Last year the Gas Company petitioned the Board of Aldermen for a permit to use the land on the east side of Grove street as a site for a huge gas-holder and a big pipe yard, in conjunction with other equipment holder would be of huge proportions. It would be 355 feet in height and 200 feet in diameter, and would have a capacity of 15,000,000 cubic feet of gas. According to the Gas Company representatives, this big holder is needed to serve the Newton customers.

The members of the Licenses Committee of last year's Board informed the officials of the Gas Company that they would not favor any plant on the east side of Grove street because of the fact that this location bordered a fine residential section and the golf links which probably in the future will be developed into a quite attractive residential neighborhood. To allow a gas plant, including a huge holder at this place, would greatly depreciate the values of property within a large surrounding area. Furthermore, this site is only a half-mile distant from the new Newton Hospital and would be in plain view from the hospital.

The Aldermen suggested to the Gas Company officials that if a plant should be located in this city the site should be on the railroad owned west of Grove street contiguous to the land now used for gravel pit and railroad purposes. The Aldermen further made it evident that they would not favor granting a permit for any gas-holder approximating 355 feet in height because such a holder would dominate the city and become its most conspicuous feature.

Aldermen Favor Court House On "Triangle" Site By Large Majority

Adopt Resolution Offered By Alderman Harte Requesting County Commissioners' Approval

By a vote of 14 to 4 the Board of Aldermen on Monday night voted to request Mayor Weeks to ask the County Commissioners to select as the location for the new court house the "triangle" site at Commonwealth avenue, Homer and Walnut streets. The vote was taken on a resolution offered by Alderman Harte of Ward 6. The resolution read—

Resolved: That it is the judgment of this Board that the District Court House, to be built in the immediate future, by the County Commissioners, be located on the so-called "triangle" location at the corner of Commonwealth avenue, Walnut and Homer streets.

Be It Further Resolved: That the Mayor be requested to take such steps as he deems advisable looking toward the selection of the "triangle" site by the County Commissioners as the location for the new Court House. That a copy of this resolution be presented to the County Commissioners by His Honor, the Mayor, and that the President of the Board appoint a committee to co-operate with the Mayor to this end.

Alderman Powers did not favor the resolution. He reminded the Board that he had voted and spoken in favor of the new City Hall being located on the "triangle" site which was purchased for such a purpose. It was also decided on as the site of the proposed War Memorial. But, inasmuch as the County Commissioners had not manifested a willingness to pay the city a rental proportionate with the cost to Newton of providing quarters in the City Hall, the Aldermen had agreed not to agitate to have the court house located at the "triangle."

A few days following this decision of the Aldermen, several residents of Newton Centre started a petition seeking to have the court house built at the "triangle" instead of at West Newton, and pressure was brought on members of the City Government to have them request the county officials to erect the court house on the "triangle."

The Ward 1 Alderman commented on the fact that residents of Newton Centre take pardonable pride in the appearance of that village, with its group of public buildings and village green. He asked if it is fair for them to attempt to take from West Newton all the public buildings which have been located on Washington street for generations, perhaps to have the land now occupied by these buildings to be lined with one-story blocks of stores.

He stated that one of the reasons for the selection of the "Triangle" site as a Civic Centre was because of the artistic effect it would produce. Progressive cities do not have police headquarters and police courts as integral parts of a city hall. He asked if it would add to the aesthetic effect to have unfortunates in varying degrees of sobriety, or intoxication dragged onto the "triangle" site for the edification of persons travelling along Commonwealth avenue? He commented that if it was the desire of Newton Centre people to have all possible city buildings located on the "triangle," they should have insisted that the new Fire Alarm Headquarters should have been built there, rather than on Centre street, Newton Centre.

Alderman Prior said that he would vote against the resolution because he had conferred with about 100 residents of West Newton and found them all opposed to the removal of the court house from that village.

Alderman Bowen stated that he had opposed the removal of the City Hall site to the "triangle" and would oppose the removal of the court house to that location. He predicted that the City Hall, next the people who want all the city buildings on the "triangle" will demand that the library be removed from Newton Corner to the Ward 6 site. He asked, facetiously, "Why should not the 'triangle' become a depository for the City Home, for the city stables?" He said that no one has pointed out that the City Hall has been located "all these years at West Newton because of the public spiritedness of residents of that village, who donated the land on which the city buildings are located. He said that no good reason has been offered for locating the city hall and the court house on the same site.

The Aldermen voting in the affirmative to accept the resolution offered by Alderman Harte were—Collins, Floyd, Gallagher, Gordon, Harte, Hawkins, Holden, Jamieson, Mansfield, Murray, Pratt, Smith, Temperley and Woodcock. The Aldermen voting in the negative were—Bowen, Chase, Powers and Prior.

SIX HURT IN CRASH

Bennie Boudreau of 82½ Cannard street, Cambridge was in the Newton court last Friday charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. His case was continued to August 18. Boudreau was arrested the preceding night after the car he was driving had collided with another automobile at Washington street and Commonwealth avenue, West Newton. The other car was operated by John Hendley of Roslindale. Boudreau was arrested by Patrolman Foley, McHugh and McGrath who also took into custody another man in his car who was charged with drunkenness. Five women and a little girl who were passengers in the two cars received injuries. They were taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance for treatment.

POLITICAL NOTES

There will be a meeting this evening in Columbus Hall, Nonantum, of the Newton Italian American Club, in the interest of Warren L. Bishop for the Republican nomination for District Attorney. Assistant District Attorney Volpe will speak and Dominick Lombardi will preside.

WANTS MINIATURE GOLF COURSE AT WEST NEWTON

The latest "craze"—miniature golf is invading this city. Already there is a course at Norumbega Park and a petition was received on Monday night by the Board of Aldermen from Vito Guzzi asking for a permit to operate a miniature golf game on land at the corner of Watertown street and Davis court, West Newton. Mr. Guzzi asks for permission to operate the game daily, including Sundays.

How To Save Money

Of course nobody can save all he earns, but everyone of us can save something. $5 per month will carry five shares which will accumulate to $1000 in about 140 months, you pay in $700, the bank adds $300 in interest. $10 per month grows to $2000, $25 to $5000, $40 to $8000. Save under our systematic savings plan. Regularly every month, that's what counts.

Stop Itching Feet

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

After the baseball season closes Cronin is marrying a Newton girl which is all the more reason the local fans are planning a big time for him. His teammates on the Braves have offered him many suggestions for a honeymoon according to reports. Rabbit Maranville wants him to accept his date at Rochester and Wally Berger says he will go as far as San Francisco that he (Berger) will rest.

As has been stated the benefit game on Tuesday night sent the fund off with a good start. Another baseball attraction has been planned to give it another boost. This will be staged at Victory Field, Nonantum when the Newton Police will play the Nonantum A. A. of the local tw-league.

Hill and Johnson Out

Malcolm T. Hill and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., of Waban were eliminated from the invitation doubles tournament at Southampton, N. Y., yesterday in a second round match. They were defeated by Sidney B. Wood, Jr., and Francis X. Shields of New York. This pair sprung a big surprise in the singles tourney by defeating their respective opponents George Lott and Bill Tilden, both Davis Cup players.

Nevertheless, most motorists will probably paste the stickers prominently on their cars, Registrar Parker declared, in order to save themselves trouble. He urged all motorists to do this as the display of stickers on many cars will spur other owners on to hasten their inspection, which he suggests be done as early as possible in August. The stickers should be affixed to the lower right-hand corner of either the windshield or the rear window. As before, the sticker will be a small white rectangle with the word "inspected" and the signature of the proprietor of the inspection station.

The following program will be rendered by Gorton's Y. D. band at the Riverside Recreation grounds next Sunday at 3.30 P. M.:

March, "On the Square".....Panella
Overture, "Orpheus".....Offenbach
Intermezzo, "In a Moonlit Garden".....King

WHY WE JOINED

with Firestone to give

Lower Prices and Greater Values!

WE WANTED the advantages locally, that Firestone has nationally, for reducing our costs and building volume business on small profits.

A Department Store for Your Car

Our costs are absorbed by several different lines instead of one. We sell and service the complete Firestone line, including Tires—Tubes—Batteries—Brake Lining—Rims and Accessories. Instead of buying these items from several different places, we get them from nearby Firestone branches or warehouses—all from one place on one shipping order—one handling.

Our Costs Are Lower Your Savings Greater

Firestone leads in bringing down prices. Firestone leads in new tire improvements and builds more miles into tires than any other manufacturer. Every advantage Firestone has in world wide resources—buying rubber and cotton at the lowest prices—is put right back of us for the benefit of our customers. Result—you get more in value for less in price. The name "FIRESTONE" on every tire is the pledge of the manufacturer that the tire you buy is the best you can obtain for the price you pay.

DOUBLE GUARANTEE

All tires guaranteed without limitations by us and Firestone. Drive in today! We give service for the life of our tires and see to it that you get all the mileage and satisfaction that Firestone builds into them.

★ A mail order or Special Brand tire is made by some unknown manufacturer and sold under a name that does not identify him to the public, usually because he builds his "first grade" tires under his own name.

SIX PLYS UNDER THE TREAD

THE patented Double Cord Breaker provides for two extra plies of cord right under the tread. They take up road shocks and resist punctures and blowouts. In the Firestone Anchor Super Heavy Duty this means 8 plies under the tread—Extra strength right where the wear comes.

POLICE NEWS

Thomas White of Milton street, Dorchester and Vincent Toomey of M street, South Boston were arrested Friday night by Patrolman Carley charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. They appeared in the Newton court on Saturday and their cases were continued to August 11.

In the Newton court last Saturday, Arthur Hicks of Ramford avenue, Waltham was fined $10 for speeding. Robert Lohnes, 20, of 63 Cottage street, Newton Upper Falls was arrested Sunday by Patrolman Hamill charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. His case was continued to August 11 when he appeared in the Newton court on Monday.

George Goodband of 411 Dedham street, Oak Hill was fined $10 in the Newton court Monday for allowing a horse he owns to graze on another person's land. He appealed. In court the same day Esther Castagnino of 181 River street, West Newton was fined $5 for failing to stop a car she was driving before entering Washington street.

Joseph Connors of 206 North street, Newtonville was in court Monday and given a suspended sentence of six months in jail when convicted of a statutory offence. He was also given a suspended sentence to the State Farm for drunkenness. He was arrested Sunday at the North street address by Patrolman Forristall. His companion, Mary Tiernan of Huntington avenue, Boston was.

Inspector Shaughnessy, Patrolmen Kilman and Forristall captured four Watertown boys, aged 8 to 14, on Saturday afternoon after the quartet had broken into a house at 269 Lexington street, Auburndale, owned by Ephraim Orrell. The police were notified by a neighbor who saw the young thieves enter the house after breaking a pane of glass in a door. The boys confessed to the police that on the previous day they had broken into the home of Warren Shields, 297 Mount Auburn street, Watertown and stolen jewelry valued at $150 in addition to a revolver. The loot was buried in a field off Watertown street, Watertown, where it was recovered by the Watertown police. The four young house-breakers will appear in the juvenile court at Newton today.

Leon Hawes of Sudbury was fined $5 in the Newton court yesterday for speeding.

Oscar Meunier of Bennington street, Newton was arrested Wednesday by Inspector Goode. He is charged with larceny because of having passed a worthless check.

PRIZE ESSAY

The following essay by James Brown Hunter of Oakleigh road, Newton, won the medal offered by the Newton W. C. T. U. to the students of the Bigelow School. There were 85 entries in the contest.

WHY FLIERS AND DRIVERS SHOULD KEEP FREE FROM ALCOHOLIC LIQUORS

In olden times alcohol was regarded as a necessity and a part of the meal. Since then, however, man has found out how alcohol ruins the system, and in 1919 the Prohibition Law was passed. In the following paragraphs you will see what alcohol does to the body and why we should not use it.

Let us take first what alcohol does to the body. Scientists have found that alcohol lowers the resistance of the body against germs. Insurance firms show that out of the number of deaths expected among non-drinkers 71.54% died—of the drinkers 94% died. This shows that alcohol shortens the span of life. Other experiments have shown that alcohol has the following effects on us—deadens the brain, lowers morals, slows speed and accuracy, ruins the nervous system, and in time ruins the whole body.

Every year millions of autos are in use in the United States. Most of the drivers are careful, a few reckless, and some mean well but do not take the right precautions. The following is an incident that could happen every day: One day Bill was driving with his father, a doctor. Suddenly a boy leaped into the street intent upon getting a baseball. Bill turned the wheel and ran the car on the sidewalk just missing the boy. The boy's father, who had not taken a drink, remarked his father, "I never drink enough to hurt, but for a moment I was rattled as to what to do," remarked Bill. "Just the reason why the driver should not drink," said his dad.

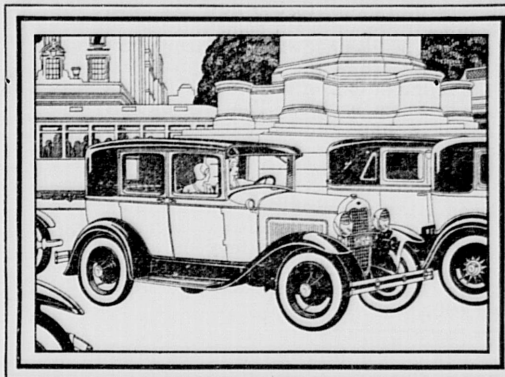

Scientists have made tests showing the time taken to answer signals down to the thousandth of a second. They have tried men with and without alcohol and found that just a small amount of alcohol lowers reaction. A man with liquor may act faster but he does the wrong thing oftener. The boy in the road was a signal to you and it was a lucky thing for them both that no alcohol was muddling Bill's brain.

A slogan now comes to us from the skies, "Wine does not mix with flying." The danger points in flying are in taking off and landing. In landing the pilot must not only have power of vision but he must focus his eyes so he can judge the distance he is from the earth. If he miscalculates the distance he is apt to "crack up" and get seriously hurt. His eyesight must at all times be keen. Take for instance an extremely foggy night, the aviator must fly by instruments alone. This requires concentration, good eye-sight and clear brain. If the pilot had taken alcohol before the trip his instruments would look blurry and he would probably crash. The pilot must be able to act quickly at all times. Sometimes a mere fraction of a second results in a crash. This shows there is no place for a muddled brain in the air. Scientists find that a small amount of beer results in confusion and slows action in times of emergency. Many lives are lost in this manner.

From the moment that Byrd takes off for the trip over the South Pole until he returns to his camp, having for the first time in the world's history flown directly over the Pole, the voice of Floyd Gibbons, radio favorite and famous war correspondent, will be heard from the screen, giving a vivid word picture of the flight which you, the audience, actually see!—at the Paramount Theatre, Newton, on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Thus we may all see why not only Flier and Driver, but all people should refrain from alcoholic liquors and so keep more healthy and normal.

Meeting the Needs of Millions of People

The low-priced automobile has brought greater opportunity and added hours of recreation to millions of men and women.

BECAUSE the automobile is such an important factor in the lives and prosperity of so many people, the purpose of the Ford Motor Company is something more than the mere manufacture of a motor car.

There is no service in simply setting up a machine or a plant and letting it turn out goods. The service extends into every detail of the business—design, production, the wages paid and the selling price. All are a part of the plan.

The Ford Motor Company looks upon itself as charged with making an automobile that will meet the needs of millions of people and to provide it at a low price. That is its mission. That is its duty and its obligation to the public.

The search for better ways of doing things is never-ending. There is ceaseless, untiring effort to find new methods and new machines that will save steps and time in manufacturing. The Ford plants are, in reality, a great mechanical university, dedicated to the advancement of industry. Many manufacturers come to see and share the progress made.

The greatest progress comes by never standing still. Today's methods, however successful, can never be taken as wholly right. They represent simply the best efforts of the moment. Tomorrow must bring an improvement in the methods of the day before. Hard work usually finds the way.

Once it was thought impossible to cast gray iron by the endless chain method. All precedent was against it and every previous experiment had failed. But fair prices to the public demanded that wasteful methods be eliminated. Finally the way was found.

A better way of making axle shafts saved thirty-six million dollars in four years. A new method of cutting crankcases reduced the cost by $500,000 a year. The perfection of a new machine saved a similar amount on such a little thing as one bolt. Then electric welding was developed to make many bolts unnecessary and to increase structural strength.

Just a little while ago, an endless chain conveyor almost four miles long was installed at the Rouge plant. This conveyor has a daily capacity of 300,000 parts weighing more than 2,000,000 pounds. By substituting the tireless, unvarying machine for tasks formerly done by hand, it has made the day's work easier for thousands of workers and saved time and money in the manufacture of the car.

All of these things are done in the interest of the public—so that the benefits of reliable, economical transportation may be placed within the means of every one.

TAG DAY

The City of Newton has kindly granted permission to the Salvation Army to conduct a Tag Day on Saturday, August 9, in the interest of "Wonderland," its great fresh air camp on Lake Massapoag, Sharon. A permit was granted last December but the Army was unable to make use of it at that time.

A total of more than 3,000 undernourished and underprivileged children from the poorest and most congested city areas will have had free vacations at "Wonderland" by the end of the summer. They are received at the camp in groups of 500 at a time and are boarded, lodged and entertained there for periods of 10 days or more.

A large number of these children are chronically underfed or suffer from malnutrition, many are sickly and many display tendencies to organic disease. It is the work of the Hayward Health Unit, with its doctors and nurses in constant attendance at the camp, to correct these conditions by dieting, medical treatment and proper care.

Mothers of infants also are guests of the camp. They are housed, often with several of their younger children, in separate cottages scattered over the tree covered hills and dales that make up a large portion of the 66 acres of "Wonderland." The forest growth of cypress, hemlock, maple and towering pines affords a pleasant shade for the joyous youngsters at their play in the beautiful glades and dells of this natural beauty spot.

Great roomy and well ventilated dormitories, which camp councillors share with the children, and a huge dining hall, where 600 can sit down at one time to heaping dishes of wholesome food, work wonders in the restoration of neglected bodies and strained nerves. And most of the time not taken up in eating and sleeping is devoted to recreation and to bathing in the beautiful Lake Massa-poag, with its array of rafts, diving platforms, lifelines and other safeguards.

From early morn to dewy eve the joyous cries of happy youngsters echo through the groves and playgrounds of the camp. The games include basketball, baseball, horseshoe pitching, tennis, merry-go-round, swings and a host of childish pastimes for the youngest ones. The children are initiated into the delights of story telling and group singing. An occasional campfire gives added zest to the gay round of daily joys, the frolics with the animals, the pony rides and the chicken and squirrel feeding.

And health and a liking for cleanliness will follow these unaccustomed privileges as naturally as flowers turn to the life-giving light. "Wonderland" is a strong influence in the raising of good citizens.

PARAMOUNT THEATRE

The cold, yellow sun slips below the horizon. Towering mountains of ice are draped in impenetrable silence. Night has come. At the bottom of the world night will last for six months; six months of unrelenting darkness to test the courage of men seeking adventure with eternity.

Seated about the radio operator in a house built of ice, listening eagerly to word from the outside world, are groups of determined men engaged in the most thrilling experience of their lives. Among them is Rear Admiral Byrd, the little giant, the commander of the South Pole expedition. By his side sits the burly Bernt Balchen, famous trans-Atlantic pilot. Off in one corner, puffing silently on a great pipe that has served him in countless adventures, is Dr. Lawrence Gray, noted geologist and second to Byrd in command. There are nearly forty others. All of them veterans of daring escapades and explorations to the far corners of the earth. Igloo, Byrd's pet fox terrier, dozes contentedly at his master's feet. Byrd and his men are 2300 miles beyond the last outpost of civilization.

In bringing the great adventure of our century to the screen, Paramount, through the untiring efforts of two ace cameramen, Willard Vander Veer and Joseph Rucker, steps forward with one of the most stirring dramatic stories ever recorded on film. From more than thirty miles of film, actually photographed in the ice bound Antarctic, there emerges a story of vital courage, daring, simple humor and vivid action which Paramount has titled "With Byrd at the South Pole."

From the moment that Byrd takes off for the trip over the South Pole until he returns to his camp, having for the first time in the world's history flown directly over the Pole, the voice of Floyd Gibbons, radio favorite and famous war correspondent, will be heard from the screen, giving a vivid word picture of the flight which you, the audience, actually see!—at the Paramount Theatre, Newton, on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

An analysis of the figures pertaining to the new tax rate, and printed in another column, brings to light some interesting facts. The total of the state, county and Metropolitan district warrants is $21,000 less than the same figures last year, due largely to the elimination of the $51,000 item of last year for the Cottage Farm bridge. The city budget shows an increase of nearly a half million, partially offset by the increase in items of deductions of about $225,000. These estimated deductions show a gain in regular receipts of about $50,000, with $30,000 more from motor vehicles, about $100,000 from income taxes and $50,000 more than last year taken from the Excess and Deficiency account. All these figures give a net gain in the tax levy of about $200,000 and the gain in taxable property of some $7,000,000 enables the assessors to fix the rate at the same figures as last year, $27.20 per $1,000.

We wonder if much attention has been given to the probable results if by any chance, this country, after repealing the 18th amendment should adopt some form of "state option" on the selling of intoxicating liquors. As we see it, there would be a constant state of warfare between the wet and the dry states, with the dry states flooded with liquor sent into their territory by auto, flying machine and other methods of transportation, and it would be a practical impossibility to stop it. Moreover, the dry states on the seaboard would have to maintain a fleet of ships, while "rum row" would have a merry time landing its cargo almost at will. State option is fine in theory, but its adoption would mean the uncontrolled traffic in liquor.

We have no fear of the illegal use of money by candidates for high office. Massachusetts has a clean record in that respect and we believe it will be maintained. It should be borne in mind, however, that it takes a large sum of money to reach the million and a half voters in this state, even with one piece of printed matter.

This week will see the final line-up of candidates for the various offices to be contested for at the coming state primary. Let us hope the Democrats will have numerous and bitter contests.

RED CROSS LIFE SAVING SERVICE

With the summer season of instruction half over the Red Cross reports quite satisfactory results at Crystal Lake.

During the month of July, 171 boys and girls passed their Beginner's Swimming Test and 93 their Swimmer's Test. This is all incidental to the work which the Red Cross is trying to accomplish in bringing our boys and girls to a point where they are able to take care of themselves in the water.

In the actual life saving work, those who have recently passed tests at Crystal Lake are as follows:

Juniors: Jane Tobin, Genevieve Gill, Ruth Banes, Grace Crosby, Earle Hirth, Edward Wildman, William Osborne, Vaughan Shedd.

Seniors: Donald Bowen, Arthur Marquard, Edward Kinchla.

At Camp Mary Day the following girls have passed their Junior life saving tests: Barbara Bailey, Marjorie Ernst, Barbara Moses, Helen McNaught, Helen Bennett, Sally Pratt.

Barbara Livermore passed her Senior Life Saving test.

The work of the younger groups has been particularly active this year and the woman instructor, Miss Hartenstein, has among the girls alone nine groups which are meeting twice a week for instruction purposes.

All are welcome to visit the lake at any time and see this work in swimming and life saving instruction as carried on by Mr. Westgate and Miss Hartenstein, both experienced instructors.

Maidenhair Tree Exhibited

The ginkgo, or maidenhair tree, of Japan, the only modern survivor of a tree family of which ten fossil species are known, is represented by an exhibit in the hall of plant life at the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, which includes a branch in full flower, seeds, fruits and wood.

Rev. Raymond Lang, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, has returned from Camp Edmonds, South Sandwich, where he has been since July 26. He is a reserve officer of the United States army of the 901st Coast artillery, 94th Division, attached to the 211th C. A. 1st Corps Cadets of Boston. During his recent encampment with this organization at Camp Edmonds, Mr. Lang received a promotion from 1st Lieutenant to Captaincy. He had an average grade of 97.7.

fact that the First Corps Cadets is commanded by another Newton resident—Colonel Horace Z. Landon of Newtonville. Another Newton man who is also an officer of this organization is 1st Lieutenant Stanley Juthe.

Two other Newton residents, reserve officers, are attached to this organization. They are 1st Lieutenant Howard Nevin of Newtonville, and Lieutenant Fenwick of Newton Centre.

There were also several enlisted men from Newton at Camp Edmonds.

By Edw. H. Powers

Alderman Charles Floyd of Auburndale reports that 3200 young terns were banded this summer at Tern Island off Chatham, Cape Cod. Also 209 old terns were trapped for inspection. Bands on these birds' legs showed that some of them had been banded in 1924. These birds migrate each year to South America.

If you want to see about the most repulsive spot in Newton travel to the North street dump at Newtonville. In addition to a collection of old junked automobiles scattered about the dump, there is a slimy mass fermenting in the water which fills part of the old gravel pit which certainly is not conducive to better health for the neighborhood and has caused complaints from residents of the district in the vicinity of the dump.

Last night was cloudy. At 8:15 the streets were dark. The street lights were not turned on until 8:27. It is more important to save lives than to save lights. The street lights in this city should be illuminated earlier.

The old adage "Politics makes strange bedfellows" was seldom better exemplified than in the present political fight. We see arid dry supporters "wet" candidates and sopping wets boosting "dry" candidates. Verily, it is to Ha-Ha.

Styles are funny. For instance—the young ladies with sleeveless dresses and elbow length gloves and the temperature above 90.

They are arresting coolies in Shanghai, China, for not being clothed from the waist up. The other day we saw a section hand on the railroad at Upper Falls. All he was wearing from the waist up was a deep tan. Well, if the young oarsmen at college can dress that way while swinging an oar, why can't a fellow do so who is swinging a pick?

MANY LOCAL RESIDENTS ATTENDING SUMMER SCHOOL

Among the 1301 students registering in Boston University's Summer Session are the following local residents.

Auburndale—Grace Warren Irwin, Lasell Seminary.

Newtonville—Joseph Arthur Dedard, 46 Eddy street; Edward Bromley Flehert, 14 Thaxter road; Sadie Vesta Johnson, 318 Cabot street; Beryl Parker Kimball, 375 Newtonville avenue; Eleanor Whitney MacLachy, 8 Bullock park; Frances Rose Scipone, 156 Walnut street; Frank Maitland Simmons, 41 Thaxter road; John Worcester Spiers, 27 Brooks avenue; George Willard Tomlinson, 819 Water-town street.

Newton Highlands—Catherine Baker, 230 Winchester street; Elam Benson, 45 Forest street; Edward Berg-solu, 29 Hillside road; Esma Wood-bridge Brown, 5 Chester street; James Buers Cullen, 1150 Walnut street; F. Eleanor Elliott, 1110 Walnut street; Margaret H. Fairchild, 3 Oak terrace; Ray Stanley Kelley, 14 Bowdoin street; Adah Prescott Knight, 18 Mountfort road; Winthrop Thatcher Lewis, 78 Erie avenue.

Newton Upper Falls—Charles Joseph Bridle, 1295 Boylston street.

SPECIAL MEETING OF ALDERMEN

A special meeting of the Board of Aldermen was held on Monday night, July 28, that was called by Mayor Weeks to make certain appropriations to be charged to the Tax Levy of 1930. As the tax rate for the year was de-clared last week, it was the Mayor's desire to have all appropriations which would be financed by the tax levy made at this meeting. The list of appropriations included the fol-lowing:—

Accounting Dept., Military Aid, $550; State Aid, $476; Treasury Dept., Temporary Clerks, $360; Law Dept., Additional award Avery school land, $2,640.62; City Clerk Dept., Work-men's Compensation, $1,000; Soldiers' Relief, $5,000; Engineering Dept., Engineering Assistants, $1,466.46; Public Buildings Dept., Care City Hall, $200; Bicycle Shelter, Warren Junior High School, $1,800; Moving Portable, Emerson School from Clafin, $1,000; Police Dept., Maint. Autos, $300; Fire Dept., Firemen, salaries, 2 additional men from November 1st, $200; Main-tenance of apparatus, $250; Public Welfare Dept., Poor out of City In-firmary, $15,000; Mothers' Aid, $3,000; Care Sick Poor, $2,000; Library Dept., Care of buildings, Waban branch, $600; Assistants' salaries, $200; Play-ground Dept., Office Expenses, $200; Street Dept., Sewer, Valentine Park, Wd. 3, additional, $1,200; Drain Val-uit street, from Dedham across Cen-tre street and runs across Centre land, etc., Wd. 5, $5,000; Sewers Construction, additional, $100,000; Sever, Edmonds Valley, Wd. 1, taking land, etc., $6,977.63; Sewer, Chestnut street, Wd. 5, $2,137; Construction Nottingham street, Wd. 6, and taking land, $2,277; Water Dept., New Ford Coupe, $555.25; Conduits, lands and reservoirs, $7,500; Mains, Gralyn road, Wd. 7, Oakdale road, Wd. 5, $1,800; Main, Waverley avenue, Wd. 7, $2,100; Main, Walnut street, $1,100; Order transferring from Excess & Deficiency Account to Revenue, Taxes, 1930, $150,000.

The sewer in Edmonds Valley is a sanitary sewer which will follow the course of the brook that starts at the rear of the old cemetery on Centre street and runs across Cen-tre street, through the property of Henry I. Harriman, thence through Edmonds park to Cabot street. This sewer is needed to service scores of new houses recently erected along Cotton street and on the former Brackett and Goddard estates.

The bicycle shelter at the Warren School is to house about 150 bicycles owned by pupils who use this means of travel. Answering a question put by Alderman Powers as to who will construct this building, Alderman Gallagher, chairman of the Public Buildings Committee stated that it will be a metal structure and will be erected by Brooks, Skinner & Com-pany. The racks for the bicycles will be built by the carpenters employed by the Public Buildings Department.

At a recent meeting the Aldermen voted to prohibit parking on the north side of the north roadway of Commonwealth avenue from the Metropolitan police station at Auburndale to the westerly end of the roadway, and that parking on the south roadway be pro-hibited from the Weston bridge to where the west end of Auburn street converges with Commonwealth ave-nue. These parking restrictions were made at the suggestion of Mayor Weeks and were deemed necessary because increased traffic and in-creased parking at this place had caused congestion and automobile acci-dents.

At the meeting on Monday night, upon motion of Alderman Grebenstein, the parking restrictions were changed so that the prohibition of parking will extend only for a distance of 133 feet east of the Weston bridge on the south roadway and a distance of 100 feet east of the bridge on the north side of the north roadway. Alderman Grebenstein and Alderman Gallagher favored the change, and ex-plained that it was asked for at the request of the Metropolitan District Commission in behalf of the person who has the concession for the re-freshment stand at the Newton side of Weston bridge. Alderman Gal-lagher stated that $7,000 is paid for this concession and the parking restric-tions would ruin the business. Alder-man Grebenstein said that the high-way west of the bridge is closed on one side, because of construction, and this further complicates the parking situation. He asked that the mod-ified parking restrictions be granted for the balance of this year.

Alderman Powers said that while he would not oppose the changes asked for, with the understanding that such changes be only for this year, it should be realized that the safety of the public is of more import than cater-ing to the business interests of some individual who has obtained a refreshment concession. If the Met-ropolitan District Commission sym-pathizes with the person who is being charged a high rental for the conces-sion affected, let the Commission re-duce the rental. Alderman Smith called attention to the added hazards which will result now that the north roadway of Commonwealth avenue is to be opened to traffic. He opposed any parking on the north side of the north roadway from the police station to the bridge.

On the favorable report of the Li-censes Committee, the Aldermen vot-ed to grant the following petitions:—

Philip Byfield et al, renewal an-ti-trust licenses.
Edison, Telephone, and Middlesex Companies, joint locations existing poles, and abandonment pole loca-tions.

Harry Gath, Jr., Common Victualler License, 857 Washington street, Wd. 2.

Newton & Watertown Realty Trust, amended plan, gas station, 1256 Wash-ington street, Wd. 3.

Albert T. Stuart, amended plan, gas station, corner Beacon and Walnut streets, Wd. 6.

The Board accepted the report of the Licenses Committee granting leave to withdraw on the petitions of Earle S. Johnson for a second class taxi license at 1149 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, and Jacob Klig-man for a gasoline filling station per-mit at 456 Watertown street, New-tonville. Kligman had previously been granted a filling station permit in con-junction with a public garage, but sub-sequently informed the committee that he could not finance the garage building and asked for the gasoline station permit alone.

Oh Boy! What Joy LIFT CORNS RIGHT OUT

The English Way

Right from England comes the new, better, joyful way to take out corns, roots and all.
Callouses go also and you can rub off that hard skin on heels and toes with your hand—the magic treatment.
Ask any leading druggist for a package of Radox—put 2 tablespoonfuls in a gallon of hot water—do this for 3 or 4 nights in succession—then lift out the corns.
This joyful exhilarating foot bath is simply great—you'll enjoy every minute of it and your burning, sore, tired, aching feet will feel better than they have for years—ask for Radox and foot comfort will be yours.—Advertisement.

SIX CYLINDER SENTENCES

By DR. JOHN W. HOLLAND

License is liberty with the brakes "shot."
The sky of a lazy man is likely to be hazy.
I wonder what things I most prize? Those that I did not get, or those I did.
Love alone will keep wedded life from sinking into leaden strife.
When a man smiles at the good fortune of another, he enriches his own soul.
Watch out for little things. Mosquitoes cause us to lose more sleep than do elephants.

Comfort from Coolidge.
Britannia, in the Air.
Two Italians Celebrate.
Dredger-Jaw Elephants.

Calvin Coolidge suggests that those in need of "a little encouragement can look at the condition of the Federal Treasury."

It seems like advising the hungry to look through the glass window of a restaurant. But figures quoted by Mr. Coolidge are encouraging. "The national debt has been reduced by ten billion dollars and now stands at a little over sixteen billion dollars. The interest charge has been practically cut in two, but is still over $600,000,000."

Mr. Coolidge also reminds you that "we have had five reductions of taxes which gives the people direct relief of about $2,000,000,000, two thousand millions yearly."

Credit for the draft of tax bills, issuing new securities that cut the average interest rate below 4 per cent, is due to Secretary Mellon, says Mr. Coolidge.

Credit for the policy of economy "belongs to the President," but Mr. Coolidge doesn't say which President.

A little credit also, although Mr. Coolidge doesn't mention it, belongs to the American citizens, who have been taxed to pay off the ten billion in bonds, and are taxed now to meet every foolishness that Congress can invent.

Britain's airship, R-100, greatest that ever rose into the air, has crossed the Atlantic to Montreal with thirty-seven crew and seven passengers. The R-100, faster than the Graf Zeppelin, represents Britain's determination to rule the ocean of air as for centuries she has ruled the ocean of water, regardless of expense.

Germany and England make the effort. We look on and do little. It is all the more surprising as we have the money, the industrial skill, and in the White House a great engineer, who must be sorely tempted to put this country ahead in a field that is purely one of engineering skill.

Two celebrations in Italy recently. It was Mussolini's forty-seventh birthday, and the thirtieth anniversary of King Victor Emmanuel's coronation. Italians congratulated Mussolini and their king enthusiastically. They adore Mussolini, their national hero, looking upon him as the savior of Italy from "the fate of Russia."

They love their king, a modest, courageous and sincere man.

Fourteen years ago Mussolini took control of Italy and her government, and thus, in all probability, prolonged King Emmanuel's reign by fourteen years.

What would have happened had Mussolini adhered to his early Socialistic and Communist beliefs, the ideas that put him in jail?

Could he have put his black shirts on Communists instead of putting them on the Fascists, repeating in Italy the experiment in Russia?

Turkish territory was invaded by savage tribesmen, coming out of Persia. Kemal Pasha threw his troops into Persia to get them, and killed thousands of them.

To Persia's demand for damages "for invasion" Kemal replies, "Come and get the damages."

What interests students of history is the fact that Kemal announces his intention to "end nomadic tribal life in Turkey." It seems strange to think that millions of human beings are still ready to fight to the death for the right to wander up and down in the earth, with no settled habitation.

Roy Chapman Andrews believes that he has found in an ancient Mongolian mud pit the most remarkable fossils ever discovered. Some convolution happened 3,000,000 years ago, and twenty-five monstrous, prehistoric elephants with "dredger jaws five feet long" met death suddenly where Andrews found their skeletons.

Science says the monsters with dredger jaws came gradually, as a result of evolution, using their jaws like the working end of a steam shovel, to scoop up marine grasses by the roots. But it is not necessary for fundamentalists to believe that. You can readily understand that elephants with dredger jaws might have been extremely useful in the garden of Eden, to dig ditches, canals, excavate artificial lakes or any other work that Adam might have planned.

And think how they would have interested little Cain and Abel. Even grown men in our day will stand for hours watching a steam shovel.

Among other things, including lowest wheat and cotton prices and a general uncertainty, our nation is "enjoying" the worst drought in its record.

Washington officials say the dry spell is unparalleled, in records reaching back fifty years.

Farmers and truck gardeners have planted, ploughed up and replanted crops.

Perhaps the drought will mean higher prices for some farm and garden products. Unfortunately, as usual, the higher prices will be due to the fact that the farmer hasn't the goods to sell.

CITY HALL NEWS

Collisions between city owned automobiles and other cars have caused several claims to be entered against the City of Newton. Among these claims are Marjorie Corliss by Carl W. Corliss of Gammons road, Waban, for damages to an automobile caused by collision with a Water Department truck at Langley road and Centre street, Newton Centre, on June 16; James Fraser of 17 Boardman street, Cambridge, for personal injuries to his daughter received in a collision with a garbage truck on Pearl street, Newton, on June 30. Catherine and John McLaughlin of 76 Clinton street, Newton, and Mrs. Catherine Shea of Dragon court, Woburn, bring claims for personal injuries received and damages to an automobile when a car they were in collided with a Street Department truck on July 4th, at Linwood avenue and Craft street, Newtonville. The city is not legally liable for damages caused by trucks it owns (other than trucks of the Water Department) and it has been the practice of this city to refuse to pay such claims.

A petition has been received from Helen Rose and others asking that Newton street at Chestnut Hill be renamed Chestnut Hill road.

Philomena Esposito and others have petitioned that Lincoln road, Ward 2, at its westerly end be improved and accepted. Other petitions for street improvement are: Harry Posner, Adena road, West Newton, from North Gate park to Derby street; Elizabeth Harris, Greenlawn avenue, Newton Centre, from Hammond brook southerly; Joseph Hickey, Bow road, Newton Centre, from Cypress street. William Lucey petitions that a drain be built on private land off Auburndale avenue, West Newton.

Petitions for taxi licenses have been received from Philip Paisner, 317 Washington street, Newton; Bruno Rizza, 40 Alden place, West Newton.

Farina Brothers ask for a permit to install a 500 gallon gasoline tank and a pump at 114 Melbourne avenue, Newtonville.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

The visiting attendance at the Children's Museum of Boston, Jamaica Plain, for the month of July totals 15,797. This is an increase of 3,853 over July of last year and speaks plainer than words of the gain in interest in the opportunities offered by this live-wire institution. From the playgrounds of Greater Boston alone 2,717 children in three weeks spent a day at the Museum, enjoyed the freedom of beautiful Olmsted Park, on the shore of Jamaica Pond, ate their picnic lunches under the trees, played all kinds of games, in addition to the main object of their visit—listening to a motion picture talk and being shown the wonders of the Museum. What is there to see? Natural history, including Molly, the baby elephant, a baby moose, bears, an ostrich, a leatherback turtle, and various small animals; birds of many countries; their nests and eggs; rocks and minerals; sea life; butterflies; shells of the Seven Seas, small models of prehistoric monsters; bird and animal habitat groups. North American Indian collection, including articles of rare value. Finest display in existence from the Philippines. The most complete collection in the East illustrating in miniature the daily life of the Japanese, Japanese Festival Dolls, and Myoko Kyoto San, Grand Will doll, ambassador. Miniatures, figurines of India, and in the Reading Room such interesting books and magazines. And the live exhibits are not forgotten. The fish, the snakes, the horned lizards, the toads and frogs and salamanders, the turtles, the alligators, and—but come and see for yourself!

The Museum is open daily all summer from 9 to 5. Admission is free. It is located on the north shore of Jamaica Pond, just opposite Mayor Curley's home on Jamaica way. Take a Jamaica car from Park or Dudley street to Moraine street where signs point the way.

DAY and NIGHT SERVICE

ROTARY CLUB

Due to the midsummer vacations there was a small attendance at the usual Monday luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club held at the Woodland Golf Club.

The speaker of the day was Dr. George E. May of Waban and his subject, "Nine thousand miles in nine weeks." The time was all too short for the speaker and he held the interest of the club until long after the usual hour for adjournment. Among the special interesting points in this trip were the Mesa Verde, Hollywood, Lake Tahoe, the Grand Canyon, the big trees and Salt Lake City, all of them described in graceful and eloquent language.

Prizes were awarded in the club golf tournament.—Harry Hanson winning first place with Ira Roe, runner up while Herbert McGill won the consolation with Irving C. Paul, as runner up.

Y. M. C. A.

Mr. H. W. Bascom, General Secretary of the Newton Y. M. C. A., and Mrs. Bascom, are spending part of their vacation in Canton, Maine.

This week at the "Y" in spite of the heat, has been one of the busiest of the entire summer to date. Monday morning, the Midgets baseball team were out in almost full force for a full hour of good practice in preparation for their coming games. Of course, after an hour in the heat of Monday, the boys deserved and were allowed to have a special period in the swimming pool.

On Tuesday, seven of the members made use of the opportunity to visit the plant of Lever Brothers Co. in Cambridge and were well rewarded by seeing just how both laundry and toilet soaps were made. The boys were deeply impressed with the size of the tanks in which the soap is made and which hold one quarter million pounds of soap in each one. Thirty of these tanks filled the space of just one part of the plant. They also expressed their pleasure in being able to see just how the soap flakes were made, and of the chemical laboratory in which tests were being made of various fabrics to determine the best methods of washing. In addition to the educational value of the trip, each boy received a gift box containing five of Lever Brothers Co. products. These were greatly appreciated, especially by the boys' parents.

As some of the boys asked that a trip should be made to the Aquarium, Thursday was given over for this trip and again a group left the "Y" for another educational factor in their lives. After the daily swim, the members of the boys' division were ushered into the hall for three reels of Motion Pictures.

The Tennis Team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. will play this Saturday in the preliminary matches of the Y. M. C. A. Two-State Tennis Championship. Preliminary matches for this section will be held at the Brockton "Y" with teams from the Brockton, Boston, and Newton "Y's" competing for the honor of representing this section in the semifinal matches to be held at the Newton "Y" on August 16th. A team will be picked from the following men to represent Newton "Y": Gordon Kitchen, Roland Coombs, Chase Kepner, Rene Avigdor, George Carter, J. L. Carr, and W. M. Dynes.

Saturday the Newton "Y" Tennis Team played the Brockton "Y" team on the Newton courts and defeated it four to one. On the singles matches Chase Kepner, Newton defeated H. Mason, Brockton 6-4, 6-0; Roland Coombs, Newton, defeated C. Nelson, Brockton, 6-3, 6-3; Rene Avigdor, Newton defeated C. McLaughlin, Brockton 6-1, 6-3; and in the doubles matches Roland Coombs and W. Dynes, Newton, defeated W. Flint and H. Fish, Brockton 5-7, 6-0, 6-4; and C. Willis and C. McLaughlin, Brockton, defeated J. Carr and R. Avigdor, Newton, 6-3, 6-3.

The Men's Baseball Team of the Newton Y. M. C. A. played the Graphic Arts Team of Boston Saturday at Columbus Park, South Boston, and lost to it fourteen to nine. The battery for the "Y" was Hokanson and C. Surette. Home runs were made by Horace White and Charley Gallagher of the local team. Tuesday evening the "Y" played the Ten-Ligne Team of the Waltham Watch Factory and won nine to two. The batteries were: for the "Y", Leo Cormier and Tim Finn, and for the Ten Ligne, Handrahan and Flint and W. Powers. A return game is to be played a week from Saturday at either West Newton or Bicycle Park.

Juniors 6, Waltham A. L. Jrs. 1
The Junior Baseball team defeated the Waltham American Legion Junior Team 6-1 at Bicycle Park, Waltham, Monday in a twilight game. Gallagher, Lansed, Earle, Joyce, Lombardi, Plenty, Granzow, J. Joyce, and Barker played for the "Y" Juniors.

The Junior Team play the Legion Team a return game at the Y. M. C. A. tonight, Monday evening they play the Brookline Dodgers at the "Y" field.

The Midgets Baseball team will play the Morse Street Midgets tomorrow morning.

free wheeling makes THE PRESIDENT EIGHT more than ever champion of the world

OVERNIGHT, the marvel of Free Wheeling with positive gear control has captured motoring America. Studebaker's initiative in developing and perfecting this exclusive feature, manufactured under Studebaker patents, is the subject of world-wide compliment.

Yet, the limelight of motordom's approval is no new experience for Studebaker.

Look back to July 21—August 9, 1928. You find the President Eight traveling 30,000 miles in 26,326 minutes—a feat that established 5 world and 18 international records; that made The President undisputed champion of the world.

That accomplishment still stands unmatched and unchallenged. Yet, today's brilliant new President Eight, offering you Free Wheeling with positive gear control, is a larger, more powerful, more beautiful edition of this World Champion car. Now it gives you world championship stamina and speed—plus Free Wheeling!

The benefits of Free Wheeling are manifold—

You shift from high to second, back and forth, at 40—50 miles an hour, and never touch the clutch.

You need use the clutch only to start or back up.

The braking power of your engine is available as readily as in conventional cars.

For the first time in a motor car you get the full benefit of momentum automatically. When your car has gone 10,000 miles your engine has "worked" only 8,000 miles.

You save 12 per cent on gasoline, 20 per cent on oil—even more in heavy traffic.

Strains on engine, transmission and axle are lessened. Tires wear longer.

There is nothing new to learn—Free Wheeling with positive gear control is simplicity itself. You drive just as you do in a conventional car.

Free Wheeling is an epochal contribution to motoring—a brilliant milestone in Studebaker's 78 years of manufacturing progress.

Arrange today to drive the President a World Champion seasoned Eight, with Free Wheeling. We promise you the thrill of your life

CONFERENCE ON NORTH STREET DUMP

A conference was held Wednesday by Mayor Weeks, Street Commissioner Stuart and Dr. Francis Curtis, chairman of the Board of Health, relative to the nuisance caused by the stagnant water in the old gravel pit at the North street dump, Newtonville. The place breeds mosquitoes and causes a stench which has disturbed the surrounding neighborhood. Dr. Thomas M. Gallagher of the Board of Aldermen suggested that a chemical disinfectant be poured into the pit to eliminate the stench. It was also suggested that crude oil be dumped into the water to stop the breeding of mosquitoes.

POLICE NEWS

Sarkis Bulbulian of Talbot avenue, Dorchester, was in the Newton court on Tuesday charged with non-support of his wife, who is a resident of this city. He was ordered to pay $15 a week and the case was continued until September 12.

A complaint was made to the police on Tuesday night that a dog owned by Michael Tombasco of Middle street, Newton, had bitten three children, Mary and Lucia Bianchi of 235 Chapel street, Nonantum, and Christine DeLuca of 229 Chapel street. The dog was ordered restrained and Dr. Boutelle notified to examine it.

Bonaface Latanzio of Readville street, Hyde Park, was fined $100 in the Newton court on Wednesday when found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor.

Ethel Anderson of 15 Oxford street, Cambridge, was arrested at 12.30 a. m. Wednesday morning by Patrolman McLaughlin charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. He will be tried August 14.

In the Newton court on Wednesday, George Smith of 1049 Beacon street, Brookline, was charged with parking within 10 feet of a hydrant and within 600 feet of a fire. The charges were placed on file. The offences were committed the night of the fire at the Highland Mills. In court the same day Robert Foley of 283 Langley road, Newton Centre, was fined $10 for speeding, and the following fined $5 each—Fred Dennis, 2122 Washington street, Lower Falls; William Fearon, Babson park, Wellesley; Albert Orde, Jr., of Crafts street, Brookline.

TRAVEL NOTES

We recommend Tourist Third Cabin on the new motorship LaFayette of the French Line. The LaFayette has public rooms and cabins in its Tourist Third Class as beautifully and comfortably appointed as any on the Atlantic, supplemented by a cuisine commended for a century and atmosphere that is distinctly French. There is space available on her next sailing, August 21. Obtain reservations from the Newton Steamship Agency, 11 Centre avenue, Newton, next door to the postoffice.

You still have an opportunity to witness the Passion Play at Oberammergau. This is but one of the many attractions offered in a 30 days Tour of Europe which will leave Boston on August 31st, on the Cedric of the White Star Line and which costs but $410. This large, comfortable boat, patronized by Boston's most particular people will arrive at Liverpool on September 8th, and the tourists will have two full days to see London. Thence through Holland and Germany to Berlin, Munich and Oberammergau and on to Switzerland. From there the tour leads to Paris where two days will be spent. The return will be on the S. S. Lapland of the Red Star Line. For $80 additional a trip of 8 extra days may be taken to Venice, Rome, Florence, Milan and Montreux, returning on the S. S. Westernland and arriving in New York on October 6. Excellent reservations may be obtained from the Newton Steamship Agency, 11 Centre avenue, Newton. The European arrangements of this tour are in charge of Thomas Cook & Son.

First Colored Pavement

Canal street, New Orleans, La., is said to be one of the first cities to use colored pavements. They are terrazzo-like, made of chipped rock, laid in a series of diamonds, shaped with brass stripping and then sanded down and polished.

VACATION SCHOOL PRESENTS PAGEANTS

On Wednesday evening the Daily Vacation Bible School of the First Methodist Church at Newton Upper Falls gave an exhibition of the work done there during the past four weeks. Over sixty children took part. A pageant about Nature was presented by the primary department under the direction of Miss Olive Duval. The junior department with the assistance of the school presented a pageant about the flags of the world.

This was followed by an exhibition of handiwork in the chapel. This included notebooks, bird stands, sewing kits, painted pictures, plants, toys and many other articles made by the school. Some of the children, 4 years of age, had articles as interesting as the older ones of 15.

The school closes its work today with a picnic lunch on the parsonage lawn given to the children by Mrs. James McNeely.

Legion Band Has Outdoor Rehearsal

Charles N. Clark Elected Bandmaster at Meeting

The newly organized Newton Post American Legion Band, made its first outdoor appearance last week, when it held its rehearsal on the field of the Warren Junior High School in West Newton. Although the band has been organized less than three months several hundred people witnessed its first out door rehearsal, and the organizer and chairman of the band, Harold D. Ames, has been receiving congratulations on the band's splendid appearance.

The band practices twice a week at the old Legion Headquarters in the City Hall Annex, West Newton. At a business meeting of the band held last Monday evening, Charles N. Clark was elected bandmaster of the organization and Frank Meakin was elected as assistant band master.

The official Department Americana Legion Uniforms have been adopted by the band, as every member of the band is a member of Newton Post. Julius B. Ramm is in charge of the uniform committee of the band. Harold D. Ames is the manager of the band, Dr. Thomas F. Dowd treasurer, Edward R. Ennis secretary, Robert L. Cunningham, librarian, Russell J. Viles, custodian, Charles N. Clark, bandmaster, Frank Meakin assistant bandmaster, Thomas Cummings drum major, and Francis J. Barry publicity manager.

BOUCHER—PRIEST

Miss Gertrude Marie Priest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Priest of 147 Cherry street, Newton, was married to William F. Boucher, Jr., of 172 Pearl street, Newton, on Saturday afternoon, August ninth, at five thirty o'clock in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Danahy.

The decorations at the church were of palms and roses. Miss Esther Costello played the wedding music and Mr. Lyons of Brookline was the soloist.

Miss Miriam Priest, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid and Edmund R. Boucher, brother of the groom, of Newton, was the best man. Raymond F. Gibbons of West Newton and Elmer T. Priest, brother of the bride, of West Newton, served as ushers.

The bride wore a gown of ivory satin and her bridesmaid wore orchid chiffon.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony, at which the couple were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Priest and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Boucher. The home was decorated with baskets of roses and palms.

After a wedding trip to Atlantic City and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Boucher will reside at 217 Cherry street, West Newton, where they will be at home after October 15.

The bride is a graduate of the Portia Law School and is a member of the Massachusetts Bar Association. The groom is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, class of 1922.

BIRTHDAY RECEPTION

The 75th birthday of Mr. D. Fletcher Barber was observed last Saturday afternoon by a reception at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Morrison of Centre street, Newton Centre.

Weeks Endorses Bishop Candidacy

Latter Pledges Continuation of Bushnell Policies

First Assistant Dist. Atty. Warren L. Bishop of Middlesex County, candidate for the office of district attorney, has filed nomination papers with the secretary of state. He filed thousands of certified names of Middlesex men and women voters, obtained from all sections of the county.

Mr. Bishop, who has been connected with the Middlesex prosecutor's office as an assistant for almost eight years, is rounding out an intensive campaign which has netted him enthusiastic support from all of the 54 cities and towns of the district.

Pledged to carry on the policies which have marked the successful administration of the present district attorney, Robert T. Bushnell, to whom he has been first assistant for almost four years, Mr. Bishop has won the wide-spread support and endorsement of Republican leaders and voters throughout the county.

Numbered among those is Mayor Sinclair Weeks of Newton, who, last week, sent Mr. Bishop the following letter:

"I am very glad to endorse your candidacy for District Attorney of Middlesex County. I believe your long and creditable service in the district attorney's office entitles you to the promotion which you seek. You have my unqualified endorsement and are at liberty to use it in any way you desire. With best wishes for your success, I am, Sincerely yours, (Signed) SINCLAIR WEEKS."

SWITZER—COTTON

Miss Margaret Grey Cotton, of Faxon street, Newton, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank Cotton, was married to Joseph P. Switzer of 312 Centre street, Newton on Friday evening, August eighth, at the Church of Our Lady, Newton. The ceremony which took place at seven-thirty o'clock was performed by Rev. Fr. Riordan.

Miss Wilma Cotton of Newton, a sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and Francis A. Switzer, brother of the groom, of Needham was the best man.

The bride wore orchid chiffon and the maid of honor wore rose chiffon. A reception was held at the home of John Cotton, brother of the bride, on Faxon street, from seven-thirty until eleven.

On their return from a wedding trip to Quebec, Mr. and Mrs. Switzer will reside at 29 Boyd street, Newton.

REPAIR YOUR HOMES NOW

There are many homes in the Newtons which are in need of necessary repairs. Repairs which must be made before winter arrives. For your own benefit and for the benefit of the community have these repairs made now. Hundreds of carpenters, painters, plumbers, electricians and others engaged in building trades have been idle for months. If you, and others who must have work done on your houses within the near future will have this work done now, you will assist men who badly need employment. You will hasten a return of prosperity because the money earned by the men who obtain work will be circulated in this vicinity and will aid in boosting business hereabouts.

Raise Level Of River Temporarily

Bleachery Acts To Aid Waltham's River Pageant

Following the unsuccessful attempt of Mayor Patrick Duane of Waltham to compel corporations in that city by legal action from lowering the level of the water in the river, officials of the Waltham Bleachery voluntarily refrained from using the river water from last Friday, August 8th until Wednesday of this week. Attorney Lothrop Withington, associate of Sherman Whipple, counsel for the Waltham Bleachery, stated in a letter to Mayor Duane that it would be necessary for the Bleachery to suspend operations during the 4½ days the water would be retarded above the dam at Moody street, Waltham. Mr. Withington gave the information that the corporation he represents had authorized a letter to be sent to the Boston Manufacturing Company releasing that corporation from any legal liability because of keeping any water from flowing from the basin above Moody street during the 4½ days period. He also commented that the loss and embarrassment suffered by the Waltham Bleachery because of its shut-down during the 4½ days can be regarded as its contribution to the success of the river pageant which was held on Tuesday night, August 12th, as Waltham's contribution to the Massachusetts Tercentenary celebration.

Mayor Duane had ordered the City Solicitor of Waltham to start equity proceedings against the Boston Manufacturing Company and the Waltham Bleachery to compel them from lowering the level of the water in the Charles River below its normal height and had sought to have an injunction placed on these two corporations. The reasons given for these legal proceedings were—that the low level of the river prevented the conducting of the pageant and that it caused conditions that menaced the health of residents of Waltham, Weston and Newton, who live near the river basin between the Moody street dam and Newton Lower Falls. Judge Loomis of the Superior Court refused to issue the injunction asked for. He stated that riparian rights granted the Boston Manufacturing Company over a century ago give it the right to use as much of the river water as it desires, and that it cannot be enjoined from limiting the amount which is allowed to flow over the Moody street dam or through the sluiceway near the dam.

It would appear, from the judge's decision, that if Newton, Waltham and Weston are to obtain relief from obnoxious conditions in the Charles River because of low water resulting from increased flowage over the Moody street dam, some legislation must be sought by the representatives in the Legislature of these three communities.

TOURING EUROPE

Word has been received from Seward W. Jones of Newton Highlands, with business offices in Boston and quarries in Barre, Vt., now on a European tour, accompanied by Robert Lincoln O'Brien, former editor of the Boston Herald. They have special-ized in cemeteries and memorials and in a contrasting study of the stone-cutting methods of the two continents. They first visited Aberdeen, Scotland, where Jones Bros. maintain a purchasing agent, and later went over the marble cutting establishments at Carrara in Italy.

The cemetery at Genoa, Mr. Jones found one of the finest sights in Europe. The memorials there may be well described, he says, as tableaux in stone, with family groups, life-size, all worked out with unceasing detail and wonderful nicety. The climate there permits these memorials to live where that of the United States would not. Mr. Jones, of course, visited the Campo Santa in Pisa, near the Leaning Tower, which he finds slipping the half an inch a year and already 13 feet out of plumb. His unit took him as far south as Florence, and included Venice and many interesting spots in Switzerland, notably the Gornegrat, reached from Zumatt, and also the Rocher de Noyl at Montreux. At Florence he ran into Sanford Thompson of Newton, with wife and daughter, who had been on a Temple Tour.

Jones and O'Brien stayed but a short time at Monte Carlo, taking the famous Grand Corniche drive and then hurrying on to the Avignon where they have visited the remains of the Roman work in stone in that wonderful region. They expect to arrive in Boston on Sunday, Aug. 17, on the Cunarder, Laconia.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The old Engine House at Newton Corner has gone. Building wreckers finished tearing it down last week. It really was not such an old building. At a town meeting in November 1867, the Town of Newton voted to erect a modern fire station at Newton Corner. On November 30 of that year the site was purchased and work on the building was started the following Spring. The structure was completed on October 19, 1868, and the new Hunneman steam fire engine which had been purchased the previous January was placed in it. The building of this fire station had caused bitter discussion. Other villages of the town considered it an extravagance. But, a serious fire in the business district at Newton Corner on July 11th, 1866, had aroused the people of the town to the need for better fire protection than was provided by the old hand-tubs then in use.

There was much ado in Newton Corner when the new steamer arrived with its carmine paint and shining brass parts it looked quite imposing. It was a big piece of apparatus for those days. It had double four and three-eighths inch pumps, with an eight inch stroke and it weighed 5,800 pounds. With iron tired wheels it was some load for two horses to haul at a dead gallop. On November 5th the new station was dedicated, and more than water was used at the ceremony. The first fire at which the steamer was used was on November 11th, at the residence of W. W. Wright in Auburndale. This fire happened late at night. Consider the time it took to hitch a pair of horses to the engine and then have them run at a moderate speed to Auburndale. A pair of horses could not drag over three tons at a gallop for a distance of over three miles. On short runs the horses on fire apparatus were driven at their top speed. But, on long runs the steeds were driven at moderate speed, and had to be slowed to a walk as they struggled to pull the heavy engines up grades.

The company to man the new steam engine and its accompanying hose reel was not organized until December 19, 1868, and the hose reel, a large, ornate carriage, made in Philadelphia by Thomas Peto, did not arrive until April 24, 1869. This hose-reel was drawn by hand; long ropes on it being pulled by the young men and boys of the town. As might be imagined, when the fire was any distance removed from the fire station, unless it happened when there was a large force of volunteer firemen available for motive power, the hose-reel reached the blaze quite some time after the new steam engine, which was drawn by horses of the Highway Department. Of course, if the fire occurred in the daytime, and the horses happened to be at work at some part of the village remote from the fire station, it took a considerable interval for the driver of the dump cart to gallop the horses to the station, unharness them and then harness the equines to the fire engine. How anxiously the folks at Newton Corner waited until the highway wagon rattled through Nonantum square, and then what hectic activity there was at the fire station as the hoses were shifted from their prosaic duty as dump-cart pullers to the much more heroic role of fire hoses. Sometime later the big hose-reel was equipped with a pair of shafts, and it, too, was drawn by a horse.

The first company organized at Engine 1 had the following personnel: Edward Boyd, foreman; Hosea Hyde, Jr., clerk; Taylor Harrington, J. C. McDonald, Frank Barrows, James Henthorn, J. Warren Bailey, W. H. Park, Jr., George Lamson, W. H. Kelsey, J. E. Warner, E. S. Cummings, W. F. Phillips, Frank Harrington, E. H. Graves, George Wentworth, an employee of the Hunneman factory at Roxbury was appointed regular engineer of the steamer and he was the first permanent fireman in Newton. William Warnick, a call man, was the first stoker. The first drivers of the steamer and hose-reel were W. F. Dexter, E. D. Brooks and Jim Henthorn, who were employees of the Highway Department of the town. Jim Henthorn was appointed first permanent driver of the steamer in March, 1874.

Following the organization of Engine 1 Company, enthusiasm among its members was rife for several years. It was decided that the new "steamer" should bear a name and so it was called "Nonantum." The same was the old hand-tub which had been located at Newton Corner for many years. In 1871 the firemen of Engine 1 desired to honor a veteran fireman of Newton Corner, a man who had the

Typhoid Follows Employees Outing

State Officials Are Investigating Outbreak of Disease

On July 29th, the shop employees of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway held an outing at Danforth Farms, Saxtonville. The outing was attended by about 100 employees and officials of the M. & B. and their guests. About a week after the outing many of those who attended commenced to become ill, and since then over 20 of these have developed typhoid symptoms. Among those seriously ill are William H. Wilson of Kaposia street, Auburndale, superintendent of the M. & B. and John A. Campbell of Weston street, Wilesey, assistant treasurer of the company.

State health officials have been investigating the situation in an endeavor to ascertain the cause of the outbreak.

Other employees of the Middlesex & Boston who have become victims of the disease during the week are John Walsh, superintendent of rolling stock who is quite ill at his home in Waltham, Roy Milton, a bus operator who is at the Waltham Hospital, George Yeo and James Conroy of Natick, who are in the Natick Hospital, Leo Matthews and Thomas Griffin of Lexington division, and P. J. Mullen of Hopkinton.

Investigation by the State Health officials has included the taking of cultures from employees at Danforth Farms and employees of the caterer who furnished the food at the outing to ascertain if any of these men are typhoid carriers. The water from the well at the farm will also be analyzed.

ANOTHER TYPHOID VICTIM

Philip Bradford of 126 Otis street, Newtonville, was reported to the Newton Board of Health yesterday as being ill with typhoid fever. Mr. Bradford, who is a Boston representative for the Westinghouse Air Brake Company was a guest on July 29 at the outing of Middlesex & Boston employees at Danforth Farm, Saxtonville. He became ill on August 5th and his physician yesterday reported to the local health authorities that his patient has developed typhoid. Mr. Bradford is the 32nd person who was at the outing who has either developed typhoid, or symptoms of that disease. Of this number 8 are seriously ill.

EXHIBITION TENNIS MATCH AT VICTORY FIELD

Considerable interest in tennis has been displayed this year by the younger children of Nonantum. Each Tuesday and Thursday morning, they are playing a series of matches with the other playgrounders of the city. As many of the boys and girls are beginners, there exists a keen rivalry among them to see who will be the most advanced at the end of the summer.

Most of the children have never seen a first class tennis match. For the benefit of the children of Victory Playground, Miss Grace Thompson, the playground instructor, arranged an exhibition match for Tuesday afternoon of last week. Miss Mary Cutter and Miss Thompson opposed the Misses Caroline Mercer and Grace Cutter, the former pair being victorious in two straight sets. A good-sized audience of enthusiastic boys and girls witnessed the match.

Miss Mary Cutter is the eleventh ranking woman tennis player in the United States. Miss Thompson is the Newton High School tennis champion, and runner-up in the City Tercentenary championship. Miss Mercer and Miss Grace Cutter are familiar figures in tennis matches here in New England.

MRS. ALMA CHAMPAGNE

Mrs. Alma Belisle Champagne of 278 California street, Nonantum, wife of Paul Champagne, and a resident of this city for 45 years, died on August 11. She was born in Woonsocket, Rhode Island, 55 years ago. Mrs. Champagne was a member of L'Union St. Jean Baptiste d'Amerique and of the Newton Emblem Club. Her funeral service was held yesterday morning at Saint John the Evangelist Church, Nonantum. A solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Joseph Robichaud, assisted by Rev. Eugene Fredette of Marlboro as deacon and Rev. Leo Dumas as sub-deacon. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. Mrs. Champagne is survived by her husband, four sons and four daughters.

VAN DER VOORT—WRIGHT

Miss Mary Elizabeth Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wright of Newton Centre was married to Roland Curtis Van Der Voort of Mishawaka, Indiana, on Saturday afternoon, August ninth. The ceremony which took place at four o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 706 Beacon street, was performed by Rev. Edward M. Noyes.

Miss Margaret LeConey of Bedford, Mass., was the maid of honor and the best man was John Van Der Voort, brother of the groom.

The bride wore ivory satin empire style and her maid of honor wore pink chiffon.

After a wedding trip to the home of the groom in Indiana, Mr. and Mrs. Van Der Voort will reside in Portland, Maine.

The bride is a graduate of Simmons College, class of 1930 and the groom of Purdue University, 1927.

Gas Company Does Not Want Holder

Location Sought In Auburndale Is For Other Purposes

In last week's GRAPHIC was an article telling of a petition which has been presented to the Newton Board of Aldermen by the Boston Consolidated Gas Company asking for a permit to construct and maintain a side-track from the Boston & Albany across Grove street near the railroad bridge on the Circuit branch. The article further stated that last year the Gas Company manifested a desire to the Aldermen to erect a large gas holder on land off Grove street where this side track is proposed to be placed.

The plan to erect a gas holder at this place, or in the vicinity has been abandoned by the Gas Company. According to information received from officials of the company, a large part of the land on Grove street would be used for the storage of pipes and fittings. The buildings to be erected on this property would be but two stories in height. They would be used for the storage of equipment and appliances, a garage and a repair shop. It is the intention of the Gas Company to grade the land to be used down to street level. A glacial moraine which rises on three sides of the property to heights of 60 and 80 feet above sea level would be allowed to remain and serve as a screen to hide the plant from all sides except that bordered by the street. The company has received a letter from E. J. Winslow, owner of adjoining property in which he states that the proposed plans seem to avoid any objectionable to residents of the neighborhood.

The Gas Company gives the assurance that the track across Grove street will create no traffic hazard. Comparatively few cars will be shifted across this track and movements of them will be made usually during hours when there will be little street traffic. Flagmen would be on duty whenever a car was being shifted. It is planned, in the future to supply this city with gas from small high-pressure holders, located elsewhere.

98TH BIRTHDAY

On Sunday last occurred the 98th birthday of Mrs. Abbie M. Wedger, widow of the late Benj. M. Wedger and probably the oldest lady now living in the Newtons.

She was born in Limington, Maine, in 1832 the youngest of ten children and the only daughter of John Adams and Abigail Sawyer Libby.

Mrs. Wedger has buried nine brothers, all of their wives and most of their children. She has two children living, Mr. Walter L. Wedger of Belmont and Mrs. Alfred Mawson of Newtonville avenue. She also has 4 grandchildren and 5 great children. At the time of her marriage in 1856 she was living on her father's farm in Needham.

For a little over two years she has been at the Fuller Hospital with a broken hip but is able to walk about the rooms. Her keen mind, active memory and loving disposition have endeared her to the many friends who have surrounded her with cards, gifts and flowers on this memorable occasion. She is a member of the Universalist Church, her father and mother being among the first of that faith. One feature of the day was a birthday cake with 98 lighted candles, a gift from the hospital.

How To Save $1000

Present Dividends

5³/₄%

The one reason why so many people fail in their efforts to save money, is because they do not follow any definite plan or system. Adopt our plan of Systematic Monthly Saving, it has been in successful operation with us for 42 years. $40 saved here each month will bring you $1000 in two years; $26 will bring $1000 in three years; $19 will bring $1000 in four years; $15 will bring $1000 in five years.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

CRONIN DAY PLANS ARE PROGRESSING

Plans for "Cronin Day" on Sept. 6 at Braves Field are rapidly progressing with the initial start given it with a $500 check as the receipts from the benefit game on the West Newton Common ten days ago between the Upper Falls A. A. and the Waltham City Club. Many events are planned for the next three weeks to boost the fund. Tonight there will be a Bridge and Forty-five party at the Newton Catholic Club under the direction of Joseph Ryan. Tomorrow afternoon at Victory Field, Nonantum, the Newton Police baseball team will play the Nonantum A. A. of the Newton Twilight League. Another banner attendance is expected at this game. Monday, Aug. 18, a Turkey Forty-five party will be held at Odd Fellows Hall, West Newton, for the same fund.

Cronin, who is the son of Officer Timothy Cronin of the Newton Police Department and Mrs. Cronin of Sheridan street, West Newton, has had a varied baseball career. He first made his mark in the national pastime as a catcher on the Newton high school team for three years under the late Allie Dickinson, who predicted that Cronin would make the big-league grade. He was the all-scholastic choice of the schoolboy sport-writers. After graduating from high school he broke into organized baseball as a catcher on the Worcester team of the old New England league where he remained for two years. He was picked up by the Braves and farmed out to Providence, of the Eastern League. Last year, after his second trip south on the training trip, he was sent to Baltimore of the International League for further seasoning. This year he was again taken south and has been kept with the squad since, appearing in about forty games. He is the third Newton youth to reach the big leagues, "Shono" Collins and "Chippie" Gaw, the latter also a West Newton product, being his predecessors.

William Cahill of the Newton Trust Company is treasurer of the General Cronin Day fund and anyone desiring to contribute is requested to send their donation to him in care of the bank.

The committee in charge is headed by Thomas J. Lyons of the Newton Playground Commission, who is assisted by W. U. Fogwill, treasurer, John Brocklesby, secretary, John E. Hackett, publicity, John Albert Hubbard, Lyons, John Keefe, George O'Neill, James Mohan, Joseph Ryan, Daniel Reardon, Bernard McCarthy, M. W. McGough, Louis Fried and Martin Stanton.

On September sixth the Braves will play a doubleheader with the New York Giants and Cronin is slated to catch for the Hub team. An entire section along the third base line of the Braves dugout has been reserved for the local Cronin Day fans and tickets may be procured from any member of the committee. Large delegations of Cronin's friends are also expected from Providence, Worcester, Waltham, Malden and Winthrop. The Winthrop Lodge of Elks, of which Cronin is a member, is planning to turn out "en masse."

SPORT NOTES

Cronin In Every Day

Bill Cronin has been getting in the Braves' lineup every day on the present western trip as Al Spohrer, the regular catcher was left in Boston with a lame knee. In last Saturday's game at Chicago which was halted by rain at the end of the second inning the Braves were leading 3 to 2 as Cronin doubled to score two base runners and scored himself on a triple that followed. The game being called this hit does not figure in the official records which was rather a tough break for the local youth.

Football Season Coming

First news of the coming football season is here. A picked list of 34 Boston University football players will report to the coaches at Riverside on Thursday, Sept. 4th. The squad will sleep at the field house on Nickerson field. In the group ordered to report which is comprised of 21 upper classmen and 13 freshmen are eleven in the initial squad last season, giving the Hub university fair prospects of a veteran team. Among those expected to report are three former high school stars. They are Carleton McCullough of Newton Centre, who has been an end on the B. U. team the past two years, Arthur Chamberlain of Auburndale, last year's freshman centre, and Daniel Harrington, last year's freshman captain and fullback, who played a tackle position while at Newton.

Miss Saltonstall Wins

Miss Saltonstall, daughter of Speaker Leverett Saltonstall of the House of Representatives, sailed the Nancy of the junior class to victory at Nahant last Saturday in the Nahant Dory Club's five mile race.

Noble Loses N. H. Title

Fred Harris, former Dartmouth tennis star, defeated Arthur Noble of Newton Centre in the finals of the New Hampshire State men's singles tourney at Manchester last Saturday. Harris was forced to play his best to capture the match at 11-9, 6-3, 9-7. The winner's greater experience was the deciding factor with Noble's game carrying him a long way. Noble had a lead of 4-2 in the third set but failed to hold his advantage.

Garden City Nine Defeated

The Garden City Club won on the short end of a 10 to 4 count in a baseball game at Cabot park last Sunday with the Javer A. C.

Gotshall Loses Semi-Final

Abbott Gotshall of Newton reached the semi-final round of the Maine State singles tennis tourney this week where he was eliminated by the defending champion, Percy Rockefeller in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1.

UPPER FALLS CLINGS TO SECOND

The Newton Upper Falls A. A. first half champions, clung to second place in the second half race of the Hub Twilight league this week by winning two of its three games. The Hopdale Club of Allston with 11 wins and 5 losses leads the field with Upper Falls with eight victories and five defeats in second place and Revere right on the local club's heels with one more defeat and the same number of wins. Upper Falls won its Sunday game from the St. Augustine Club of South Boston, 9 to 4 on the Upper Falls playground with Hanson on the mound. He was in little difficulty although touched for ten hits. Upper Falls pounded out twelve safeties including a home run by Kerrivan, triples by Mahoney, Stanton and Brinn, and two-baggers by Proctor and Brinn.

Tuesday night the locals lost to the Somerville City Club which is staging a spurt in a 3 to 1 contest at Lincoln Park, Somerville. Arthur Graham, 48-year old veteran pitcher, turned in a great performance in his debut for the Somerville outfit, fanning seven and allowing but eight scattered hits with Kerrivan's two-bagger the only extra base blow. Russell did a nice job on the mound for Upper Falls letting the home team down with but seven hits and fanning three. Somerville bunched its hits in the first frame to score twice to take the lead throughout.

Last night the locals played Hyde Park at the latter's diamond and staged a three-run rally in the fifth to win out by a 7 to 4 score. Hyde Park led, 4 to 3 at the end of the fourth but the rally by Upper Falls sewed up the game. Proctor led the attack for the winners with three safeties in four times up. DeGeorge, Gumprecht, Brinn, Kerrivan and Simpson collected two apiece with the first three making a triple and a single.

Tonight Upper Falls meets the last place Mt. Hope team of Roslindale at Newton while Allston and Revere are battling at Revere in a game which may tighten up the race considerably should both Revere and Newton win. Hyde Park is at South Boston in the third game on tonight's schedule.

SPORT NOTES

Newtonville Girl Wins

Natalie Welch of Newtonville, with a two-foot advantage, won the running broad handicap event at the annual field day and women's track meet of the Emmett Club held at Woburn last Saturday. The winning distance was 18 ft. 1/2 in.

Newton Cubs Lose

The Hoyt Cardinals defeated the Newton Cubs on the West Newton Common Sunday, 6 to 4. Brooks and Donlan were the local battery. The visitors collected twelve hits off Brooks while the local team could make but four with Brothers in the box for the Cardinals.

Y. M. C. A.

The Public Speaking class will open early in October. Advanced interest among certain business and professional men promises a good class. Mr. Edward M. Rowe of Harvard will again be the instructor. Different parts of the building are being renewed in preparation for the fall and winter activities which are not far away.

Junior Baseball

The Y. M. C. A. Junior Baseball Team trimmed the Brookline Dodgers at the Y. M. C. A. field Monday evening. This makes the 16th win for the Juniors with only 3 defeats. Some of the stronger teams defeated were Burroughs News Boys of Boston, Waltham American Legion Juniors, Eudicot A. C. of Dedham, Jamaica A. A. of Boston, and Silver Lake A. C. of Newton. The pitching and hitting of Charles Gallagher has helped a great deal in winning many games. He has a record of 95 strike outs to his credit and leads the team in batting. Every player has contributed to the many wins. Among these are Granzow, Lansed, Earle, Plenty, Joyce, Clarke, Cummings, Barker and Lombardi. The Juniors play the strong Burroughs News Boys Team again at the "Y" field Saturday afternoon. The game will start at 3:15.

Senior Baseball

The Senior Baseball Team defeated the Cantab Clubs 6-1 at the "Y" field Saturday afternoon. Taking advantage of the Cantab errors and a two base hit by Ed Gallagher the "Y" team played heads up baseball. Newton's batting order was as follows: White, Finn, Larkin, Gallagher, Hinchey, Cormier, E. Bunnell, Surette, and S. Bunnell. Cormier and Surette made up the battery for Newton with Anderson and Westberg doing the work for the Cantabs.

The Senior Team will play the Waltham Watch Factory at West Newton next Saturday.

Tennis

The semi-finals for the Massachusetts and Rhode Island Y. M. C. A. Tennis Championship are to be played at the Newton Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. The local "Y" was defeated in the preliminary matches at Brockton last Saturday. The matches tomorrow are: Boston vs. West Springfield and Salem vs. Providence. The finals will be played on the Newton "Y" Courts a week from tomorrow.

Pedestrian's Rights Outlined

"If the proper attitude of mind existed with every individual who operates a motor car there is no question that our motor accident problem would be far less serious," declared Lloyd A. Blanchard, executive secretary of the Governor's Committee on Street and Highway Safety, in a radio talk over Station WLOE.

He pointed out that a careful analysis of accidents made by the committee and other safety organizations substantiated the conclusion that individuals in a moment of thoughtlessness were responsible for a great majority of auto accidents.

Two of the prominent factors in the highway safety problem, he said, are the pedestrian's responsibility and the relations of the motorist to the pedestrian.

In his advice to pedestrians, Mr. Blanchard said: "The best place to cross the street is at the intersection and in the crosswalk. Where there is traffic control by officer or by automatic signal, the pedestrian should cross with the 'Go' signal. Children should be kept out of the streets between intersections. If children do not have adequate play space near home, send or take them to the nearest supervised playground."

The relation of the motorist to the pedestrian, he outlined as follows: "Wherever the pedestrian has a right to cross the street, he has a right to do so at reasonable speed without hazard or embarrassment. The right to live is superior to the privilege of driving. Pedestrians with infirmities must receive special consideration from motorists as must also the children. Special care should be exercised in sections where pedestrians are numerous."

Drivers should know that they are required to yield the right of way to pedestrians in the crosswalks in the paths of their vehicles. Where traffic control by officer or by automatic signal is provided, pedestrians in crosswalks crossing against the Red Lights are required to yield the right of way to vehicles crossing with the Green Lights.

Regulations require vehicles to make all stops back of the crosswalks. In starting with the "Go" signal they must give pedestrians who are in the intersection at the time of the change an opportunity to complete their crossing before starting.

Drivers should always remember that pedestrians are not to be injured wherever they may be in the streets.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns and Sons report that they have sold for Lawrence Tocci the new brick colonial home recently erected at 23 Richmond road, Newton. With the house there is a two car garage and 7,000 square feet of land, and the total value of the property is $23,500. M. B. Fox of Brookline was the purchaser and buys for a home.

The Burns agency also report that they have sold in the Auburndale district the Colonial eight room home located 57 Windemere road. With the house there is a two car garage and 15,000 feet of beautifully landscaped grounds, the total value of which is $17,500. Frederick B. Anderson was the grantor and Dr. A. Leo Brett the purchaser. Dr. Brett buys for occupancy.

In the Newtonville district Burns and Sons have sold for Colombo Grazia a lot of land on Whittier road, containing 13,500 square feet. The value of the lot is $4,000. Eugene Howell was the purchaser.

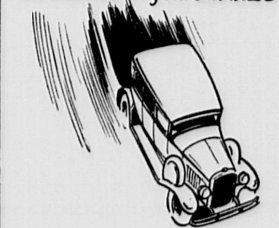

In the Newton Corner district Joseph A. Willens has sold to Edwin and Christina M. Bryson the brick and single seven room home located 10 Wiltshire terrace. With the house there is a garage and 5,000 square feet of land, and the property is valued at $9,500.

All the above sales were negotiated through the Burns agency.

Appropriately Named

The Garden of the Gods is a grotesquely curious rock formation of brightly colored sandstone. "Origin of Place Names in the United States" says that Lewis N. Tappan and three others went from Denver to select a site for a town. They stood upon a rocky prominence and exclaimed, "A fit garden for the gods!" hence the name.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

That the Sunday, August 17th, visitors at the Children's Museum of Boston will go on a hunting trip at 3:30 in the Museum lecture hall is the announcement of Miss Mildred E. Mander, Director. The object of the trip will be to shoot animals—but only with the camera! The location will be the Canadian Rockies and the members of the trip will see close-ups of mountain sheep, ewes, rams, goats, etc. They will pass through the Canadian Pacific Gateway and look upon the beautiful scenery of Vancouver and its environs.

About thirty enthusiastic naturalists went on the Field Trip on August 5 to the Arboretum to study trees. The field trip members, known as the Olmstead Naturalists, went to Spot Pond this week for aquatic life knowledge. Next Tuesday, August 19, they go to Puritani Swamp in Norwood for the study of the insect life of that region. The museum staff members in charge of these trips, trained field naturalists, report that they would defy even the most casual of observers to go on one of these nature trips with the youngsters without catching some of their earnest enthusiasm and becoming aroused to an active interest in the world that is all about us.

Co-operating with Miss Julia A. Murphy, supervisor in charge of playgrounds, and Miss Marguerite G. Sullivan, playground supervisor, the Children's Museum is continuing its July program of entertaining two playground groups daily. These groups of 50 or more children each, accompanied by two leaders, arrive every morning at the Museum in the Park.

The motion picture program this week included "Yoho Valley," a depiction of the Canadian Rockies featuring lovely waterfalls and "Out of the Salmon Can," a story of the famous fisheries of British Columbia. The museum is open daily all summer from 9 to 5. Sundays 1:30 to 5:00. Admission is free. It is easily reached by auto along Jamaica Way. The Museum is the former old stone mansion that sets far back among the trees in Olmstead Park. By car it is reached from Park or Dudley street on a Jamaica trolley to Moraine street where signs point the way.

NEWTON HOSPITAL

Miss Eleanor M. Sullivan, of Salem, Mass., completed the six months' course as student dietitian on August 3rd. Her place in the course has been taken by Miss Emmy Lou Clark, of Leonia, New Jersey.

During the past week there have been 139 patients in the Hospital. Of this number 45 paid as much as cost of care, or more, 53 paid less than cost of care, and 41 were treated free of charge. The latter figure includes newborn babies. 14 babies were born, 10 boys and 4 girls. 16 accident cases were admitted to the accident ward. 15 patients were transported by the social service car. Although the daily average of patients for the month of July was thirty less than for June, 151.29, the actual number of patients admitted, 499, exceeded June by 8. 168 patients were also admitted for x-ray and as out-patients in the general hospital. The largest number in any twenty-four hours was 167. Other items are: 1 patient was admitted to the contagious department. 72 babies were born, 37 boys and 35 girls. There were 239 entries to the x-ray department. 769 visits were made to the out-patient department, and 110 calls by the social worker. 86 in the hospital and 24 in the homes. 14 patients were transported by the social service car, and 2 by a volunteer car.

Only 3 of the 16 accident cases admitted during the past week were automobile accidents: two were men; one with a question of fractured wrist and ribs and one with lacerations of his hand. The third was a girl with a fractured hip. Five patients were treated for injuries received from falls: Two were girls, one with an incised wound over her chest, and one with a fractured collar bone. Two were women, one with a laceration of her arm, and the other with a compound fracture of her forearm. One boy was treated for a laceration over his eye caused when he fell on a stick. Eight patients were treated for various injuries: Three men were treated: One with a foreign body in his eye, one with lime in both eyes, and one with a piece of steel in his eye. Three boys were admitted: One with a splinter which was removed, one with a laceration of his scalp caused by a horseshoe, and one with a laceration of his foot caused by a shell while he was in swimming. One girl was treated for a sprained arm, and one woman for poisoning.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS CONVENTION

The annual national convention of the Knights of Columbus will take place in Boston at the Hotel Statler commencing Tuesday, August 19. Members of Newton Council will be visiting delegates and guests. Among Newton men prominent in the activities of the convention are Peter Collins of Chestnut Hill, National Lecturer for the K. of C. He is chairman of a reception committee which comprises 150 men.

John E. Riley of West Newton is in charge of a reunion of Knights of Columbus War Secretaries. Many men who performed service at camps in this country and overseas will meet Monday night, August 18 at the Hotel Westminster.

Shifting Man

David's mother gave a man soliciting work a task for the day. After a weary time trying to keep the laborer on the job she called him a shiftless man. A few days later a stranger called and the five-year-old lad said: "If you are a shifting man, mother'll not give you a job."

Just a Little Sunlight.
You Can't Breed Genius.
Standard Oil in New Lines.
Mr. Guggenheim in the Air.

A little sunlight came filtering through dark business clouds recently. Business failures in July carried smaller liabilities than for the same month a year ago.

One hundred and seventeen thousand that had been idle in Detroit went back to work, most of them for Henry Ford, the others for the General Motors Truck factory, Packard and other concerns.

In one of Racine's tragedies, the lady says to her husband: Ne veuillez pas vous perdre, et vous etes sauve, which means "Don't try to destroy yourself, and you are saved."

Somebody ought to say that to American business. Its troubles are largely born of its own fears.

Siegfried Wagner, son of the great Richard, died recently. Eugenists, stirpiculturists and others who believe that better human beings can be bred, as we breed better horses, will admit that he was a disappointment.

His father was the third greatest musician. His mother, Cosima Wagner, was a daughter of the great musician, Liszt.

And, as a musician, Siegfried Wagner amounted to nothing, although he did write operas, and was a moderately good conductor.

Genius, apparently, "just happens."

Standard Oil of New Jersey, and affiliated companies, covering much of the country, will sell tires, at gas stations, and at lower prices.

This will annoy retailers, on a small scale, but it was inevitable. Distribution at retail costs too much. One mail order house, cutting retail prices, sold more tires than any concern in America, except General Motors and Ford, that sell them on the cars.

Standard Oil, presumably, will arrange to sell standard makes of tires, which cut rate dealers hitherto have not done.

It is plain that retailing is to be done, more and more on a "big business" basis, as proved by chain stores, one of them selling a billion a year of food stuffs. As labor was once forced to establish unions, for self defense, so retail merchants may find unions necessary.

Mr. Daniel Guggenheim, supplying funds for Professor Robert H. Goddard's experiments with "rocket propulsion," renders public service. Professor Goddard, of Clark University, plans his rocket, not for human flight, but for information about the upper part of the atmosphere in which we live.

At present we are like fish in the deepest parts of the ocean, not knowing what is above us, unable to live in the upper layers of our ocean air, as deep sea fish are unable to live near the surface.

Our atmosphere is about 500 miles deep, or high, and we are acquainted with it only 20 miles up from the earth's surface.

The Goddard rocket, shot upward by liquid gases, will come down supported by a parachute, bringing samples of upper air and information about it. Much is to be learned above the "ozone belt," 50 to 75 miles up, and above "the ceiling" under which the radio waves travel, that has been believed to be a belt of air heavily charged electrically.

Men ought to know their air ocean. Some day, around-the-world travel will be carried on far up where thin atmosphere will offer little resistance to a moving airship.

David Belasco obliges Mr. Curtis by picking the "fifty greatest actors of all time," and many of them are now living, including George M. Cohan, fifty-two; Mable Anderson, seventy-one; Minnie Maddern Fiske, sixty-five; Maude Adams, fifty-eight; Julia Marlowe, sixty-four. The ages are supplied by Mr. Belasco, but those that have seen Cohan and the ladies can testify that at least twenty years should be taken from each.

The fact is that we have charming actors and actresses but not "great" actors and actresses.

Rachel, born in Switzerland, daughter of a Jewish peddler, possessed genius that could not be extracted from all the American actresses that have ever lived.

What the Greek actors with their masks were like, we don't know. But there must have been considerable genius in the succession of actors that caused one of Euripides' tragedies to run in Athens for 500 years.

Jean Tassierand, to prove that he loved a girl, wrote her a farewell note, jumped to his death from an airplane, his broken body landing in the garden of his mother's home.

Fools will make a hero of him. He would have been more like a hero had he taken care of his mother and lived to prove that he appreciated her, which is every man's first duty.

When prosperity droops, the car stays in the garage. New York State's enormous income from the gasoline tax is much diminished, sales falling off $2,000,000 gallons in May, compared to last year.

On Saturday Miss Mary Malocca gave a shower for her sister, Miss Fanny Malocca at their home on John street.

Scientists Unable to Cope With the Locust

Scientists have studied the locust for centuries. They still do not understand the inspiration of its migrations or the irregular abundance of the insects. Where do such armies come from? They have flown in solid planarxes from Africa to England; swarms have been seen at sea twelve hundred miles from the nearest land. Apparently most of them remain for years in remote desert regions; then something within them impels the advance upon man's gardens.

The gulls once saved Salt Lake City from a locust invasion, and the grateful citizens raised a monument to their winged saviors. In the old days our plains farmers kept flocks of turkeys, regarded as the locusts' mightiest enemies. But apparently the plow was more potent still, for when the plains went into cultivation the great breedings of the locusts ended, and the Rocky mountain locust that ravaged the prairie states in the 70s and 80s is a rare insect today. The Russians have had some success with poison gas distributed by airplane; but airplanes are not always readily available when the swarms begin to fly. In most of the Arab countries today a flight of locusts is still as appalling as in the day of Joel.

Carthage Made Great

by Its Able Leaders

Ancient Carthage was the world's first experiment in straight plutocracy. Its frame of government was much similar to that of Rome. Its ruling families governed through a senate, checked in one way or another by a popular assembly. Some of the ruling families kept power by alliance with the public, but what really made the city great was the ability of a few men, many of them of the Barcid family—Hanno, Hamilcar, Hasdrubal and, above all, Hannibal.

Yet the spirit of the city differed from that of Rome. Its people were at once more oriental and more commercial. Its religion was a weird affair, with the sacrificing of children in the burning mouth of a god. And its trading spirit went so far as to weaken its strength. Its mercenaries were good fighters, while they were paid, but in the end the Roman legion, manned by citizens of the republic, brought them to the ground.

Frascati and Tusculum

One of the most delightful excursions from Rome is south to Frascati and Tusculum. This section is higher than Rome, and cooler, so it has become a favorite summer resort for Romans and foreigners alike. There are many beautiful villas owned by famous Roman families, and often the public is admitted to the gardens of ancient trees and splashing fountains, and to the interior courtyards and galleries. It is a hard climb to see them all, so many people prefer to hire little donkeys before leaving Frascati. The road to Tusculum was built by the ancient Romans—Cicero's chariot used often to pass over it on the way to his summer place, and all the patricians came this way to the theater which is in a fine state of preservation to this day.

Philosophic Fable

Once upon a time there was a man who discovered that he could run faster from a lion than he could after a rabbit. One day while marveling over the fact that the rabbit always got away when he chased it, and that in escaping from a lion he always ran faster than any rabbit was ever known to run, it came to him that if he could only be chasing bunnies at the same time that he was fleeing lions he would always be able to capture the one at the same time that he was getting away from the other.

After that he always had Rabbit Stew for dinner any day he got between a lion and a rabbit, and he went looking for lions every day.—Kansas City Times.

Mankind's Duty

There is nothing lost in doing good. Nor is there lack of wisdom in cloud or light. They are all above us and beyond us, and for them we are not to account, but the talent given in our keeping, we are held to render its return with something added. Progress is the law of life, and progress is the product of doing. Our work is here and it is within our grasp and power to do our best. We cannot advance in this life, by asking that our work be done for us, nor if we possessed untold wealth would we be content.—Sparks.

Historic Colonial Mansion

The Wythe house in Williamsburg, Va., was the home of George Wythe, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. He was the first professor of law in America, teaching at the College of William and Mary. Among his pupils were John Marshall, Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe. It was in the George Wythe house that George Washington, with Lafayette and Rochambeau, planned the battle of Yorktown.

All in the Spacing

Printers have much to answer for. Ella Wheeler Wilcox had opened a certain set of verses with one of her cosmic lines, typical of her style: "My soul is a lighthouse keeper," but the printer in setting it up caused it to read:

"My soul is a light housekeeper."—Kansas City Star.

By Edw. H. Powers

A large crowd of children gathered on Chapel street Wednesday afternoon hoping to capture one of the many toy balloons released from the radio tube factory on that street. Anyone capturing one of the balloons would receive a complete set of tubes. But, none of the little air travellers came down in the immediate vicinity. They soared high and went some distance. One "wise" kid was ambushed on Bridge street with an air rifle ready to take a pot-shot at any balloon which might come his way. But, fate was against him. The light breeze was in the other direction and he obtained no chance to try his skill as a marksman.

Last night was cloudy. It was dark at 8.10. The street lights in this city did not go on until 8.17. At 8.15 we observed an aged woman endeavoring to cross Washington street near Church street, in the darkness. She realized the hazard she would take in attempting to cross the street under such conditions with a steady stream of automobiles approaching, and she gave up the attempt. Probably she remembered that two persons had been killed in late years near this spot while attempting to cross Washington street at night. When will this city have its street lights illuminated earlier on cloudy nights than it does on nights when the weather is fair? Or better still, when will this city have its street lights turned on earlier every night?

Favorable comments are heard on the spick and span appearance of the Somerset Farms Creamery trucks. Persons cannot be too careful as to the purity of the milk and cream they use. And cleanliness is the first requisite in the production and handling of Somerset Farms Cream.

While it is possible that there may be some last minute changes in the list of candidates for the party nominations at the coming state primary, so far as Newton is concerned, there will probably be no change in the list already printed. Speaker Saltonstall and Representative Luitwieler are unopposed for Republican nomination for the House in the south side district. In the north side, Representatives Thompson and Baker will have two opponents, James P. Gallagher, who is also after the Democratic nomination, and Theodore Morrison. We understand that the last named candidate has been a voter in this city less than a year. James P. Akins is also a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the House. Senator Hollis is unopposed for the Republican nomination for the Senate and Congressman Luce will be renominated by the Republicans. In county affairs Hon. Charles E. Hatfield will be unopposed for the Republican nomination for county treasurer and he may also win the Democratic nomination for that office. County Commissioner Barlow, Associate County Commissioners John M. Keyes and Melvin G. Rogers, and Register of Probate Loring P. Jordan, will all be renominated by the Republican party. There are three candidates for the Republican nomination for district attorney, Warren L. Bishop, the present first assistant, George S. Harvey, a former assistant district attorney, and Kenneth C. Dunlop of this city. The contest here will be between Bishop and Harvey. Charles H. McGlue will have the Democratic nomination for this office.

Newton, one of the banner Republican cities of the state, is honored in the Democratic primary by having three of its residents candidates for the nomination of that party. John F. Malley and Strabo V. Claggett desire the nomination for lieutenant governor and Donald M. Hill is assured of the Democratic nomination for Congressman. We have an idea that neither nomination will result in election.

REMINISCENCES OF ENGINE ONE

In the hand-tub days been an active member of Nonantum Company and who had always been ready to donate the use of his horses when they were needed to assist in hauling the tub to distant fires. This man was George Daniels whose farm was located just the other side of the Boston & Albany railroad tracks from the house of Engine 1. But, the town officials would not allow the engine to be named after any citizen and it continued to be known as the "Nonantum."

In those days it was the custom to have steam fire engines compete in musters, even as hand-tubs competed and the new Engine 1 was taken to Portsmouth, New Hampshire to such a competition in 1871. The big event in the social history of the call firemen who constituted the crew of Engine 1 occurred in September 1874. The preceding June an elaborately decorated new horse-drawn hose reel had been purchased from the Hunneman Company of Roxbury. Its arrival had been celebrated with an evening parade, followed by a banquet. So, on September 8th Engine 1 company, taking this ornate, new piece of apparatus, departed by an afternoon train from Boston for a tour of Maine. Those who went on this trip were: George J. Curtis, marshal; Hosea N. Hyde, Jr., foreman; W. E. Glover, clerk; Frank Barrows, W. H. Johnson, Charles A. Hill, O. F. Hamblin, Horace Lindley, Thomas Cleaves, James McDonald, E. A. Byfield, A. H. Adams and Charles Redding of Engine 1. Other members of the Newton Fire department who accompanied them were—Chief Orrin Whipple; Assistant Chief Engineers Henry L. Bixby and W. Parker Leavitt; Captain Griggs of Engine 2, Captain Cousins of Hose 5. Guests who accompanied the Newton firemen included C. F. Ricker of Newton and John H. Lee, famous Brighton local leader.

The first stop was at Waterville, Maine where the Newton delegation was entertained by the fire department of that city. The following day was spent as guests of the Augusta fire department and on Friday, September 11th the Newton visitors were royally received and feasted by the firemen of Portland. The tired and happy excursionists arrived back in Newton on September 12. During the tour the convivial fire fighters exchanged badges with some of the firemen in the Maine cities. Many years ago, the writer was given one of these badges by the late Horace Lindley. On it is inscribed—"Clark, Engine 4, Portland."

On October 12, 1875, Engine 1 competed in a contest against two new steamers, Engine 3 of Newton Centre and Engine 1 of Brookline. The contest was held at Jackson's Brook, later called Laundry Brook, about where Boyd Park is now located. It was won by Engine 1 with a stream thrown 204 feet. A banquet at Elliot Hall followed.

The Hunneman steamer, the original Engine 1 remained in active service until June 2, 1892 when it was replaced by a smaller steamer manufactured by the Amoskeag Company at Manchester, New Hampshire. The new steamer had an official try-out at the Boyd Pond, drawing water from the pond and pumping it through 200 feet of hose. Some small boys, who were present got a thrill by throwing their caps in front of the nozzle to have them caught in the powerful stream and shot forward. While this diversion was in progress, the two men holding the nozzle lowered it somewhat, and one small boy was caught in the chest by the stream of water and his shirt went off over his head pronto. Incidentally, this youngster's wind was knocked out for a couple of minutes.

(In next week's GRAPHIC reminiscences of Engine 1 will be continued. ED.)

The Badge of The Badger

Impressions of "Wondrous Wisconsin" Made on the National Editorial Association

Milwaukee, Wisconsin.
It is a city whose charms linger long in the minds of those who have had occasion to visit there.
A few weeks ago it was the unanimous opinion that Milwaukee's kindness in entertaining the 1930 National Editorial Association convention there will ever be remembered and seldom surpassed.

Wisconsin's hospitality in entertaining its visitors the following week stands alongside that of its chief city. After the convention sessions were over the editors went on a six-day sight-seeing tour of the neighboring country, with their first stop in the most picturesque section in the state where time and nature have left their mark for all to see—

The Dells. Continual erosion in the soft sandstone has left formations, unbelievable and unimaginable except when seen at first hand.

Detouring at Kilbourne for lunch the visiting editors were later assigned to motor aunchees for a close and most interesting look at Nature's handiwork before starting for their next entertainment at Madison, the state capital. Here automobiles met the party and conducted it on a drive around the city which is located on an isthmus of land between four beautiful lakes.

Students at the University of Wisconsin on the shore of Lake Monona are never at a loss for sport or recreation.

Kohler, where every home is owned by its occupant was our stop the next day.
Here Governor Walter J. Kohler, a man of character, lives and works. He heads a plumbing fixture industry employing many men. We were entertained at his residence, "River Bend" before moving on to Sheboygan, a lakeport city nearby.

Having toured this city by auto we entered a banquet hall where the Assoc. of Commerce bade welcome to us all. After the repast was over vaudeville was the program which young and old enjoyed. Late that evening the Gordrich steamer "Carolina" with our party aboard steamed out to the moonlit harbor.
Next morning we landed at Sturgeon Bay, the gateway to Dor County and the land of cherries red.

Our guides took us in autos through a land of beauty rare, with thousands upon thousands of ripening cherry trees upon every side.

Continuing on to Ephraim at the tip of the "Thumb of Wisconsin" we boarded our boat again.
Up to Macinac to visit the island there, next, to the Twin Soos, Michigan and Ontario, and T he land of Hiawatha where history was made in years long past. Then back to Wisconsin to

Two Rivers for our next and final stop, where a uniformed band greeted us as we set foot on land again after a delightful voyage on Lake Michigan.

Received by officials of the Hamilton Mfg. Co., whose invitation to visit their plant we eagerly accepted, we voiced our approval in enthusiastic cheers. Late in the evening we sought our berths and returned to Milwaukee.
Remembrances of Wisconsin, as long as we shall live will ever be with us. And first among all—The hospitality of its people.

If the above brief description of the 1930 convention of the National Editorial Association has been of interest continue to read further. This association is an organization of newspaper publishers in the weekly and smaller daily field throughout the country. The annual convention is held in one of the major cities of the nation and at the close of the business sessions an educational tour of a week or more is enjoyed. Milwaukee was the seat of the 1930 convention on June 16, 17 and 18 and the tour of six days which followed embraced various stops in Wisconsin and two in Michigan.

Milwaukee, the chief city of the state of Wisconsin, is less than a hundred years old, yet, despite its modernity it possesses an atmosphere of Old World charm. Situated on the shore of Lake Michigan where the Milwaukee, Menominee and Kinnickinnic rivers enter the lake and form a most excellent harbor it rapidly grew from a village of 500 in 1846 to its present population of nearly 600,000. It is the thirteenth largest city in the United States, the leading port on Lake Michigan and second on the Great Lakes.

It is also one of the leading grain ports of the world and one of the largest coal receiving ports.

The name Milwaukee was derived from the Indian name of "Man-a-wau-kie," meaning "good and beautiful land", in much the same way as many names of places here in the East had their origin. The Indians of Ouisconsin were accustomed to gather at the natural meeting place formed by the mouths of the three rivers, with broad plateaus rising from their banks and making ideal camping grounds.

Milwaukee has long been a famous American city of world renown and many of us in the East wondered if prohibition, which closed its many breweries, would impose a severe handicap. While some of its breweries are standing idle and others have been re-equipped for other industries this important lakeport has so many diversified industries that it is probable that the loss of income from the beverage source has been felt but little. It might be well to say here that Milwaukee is no "wetter" than many large cities and no "drier" than many others—perhaps. A few of the industries that have and are still making Milwaukee famous might be mentioned. Milwaukee manufacturers among other things turn out the greatest excavator machines, the greatest automatic frame machines, the greatest steam and water turbines, the most Diesel engines, the largest herringbone gears, the largest ore crush-ers, the most outboard motors, the most tractors, and the largest gas engines in the world. In its confines are located the largest tinware and enameling plants, the largest tanneries, and one of the leading toilet soap producers in the world. Nationally Milwaukee leads in the manufacture of silk hosiery, playground equipment, sausages, cement machinery, motorcycles as well as being the largest maltine center in the world. It ranks second in the manufacture of trunks and the making of candy. Many of its other industries, located in the valleys of the three navigable rivers, rank high in the business world but are too numerous to mention here.

The high plateaus on the shores of Lake Michigan and Milwaukee Bay make it a very desirable residential city. The city's health conservation activities last year gave it the highest ranking of 109 metropolitan centres, representing nearly a third of the country's urban population. For the past three years it has had the second lowest death rate of any of the larger cities. One of the most interesting things about the city is that it has no slums or tenement districts.
The percentage of laboring people who own their homes is said to exceed that of any city in the country. Its winters are mild and its summers cool. Of easy access from any part of the northern mid-west its good hard-surfaced roads, wide streets, transportation lines, and air service in every direction have been a prominent factor in its growth.

Milwaukee has many municipal attractions of which it may well be proud. Its museum, the largest municipally owned and managed in the United States, is especially famous for its early American characterizations.
Nearly every variety of animal,
each provided with surroundings similar to its habitat, is represented in the municipal zoo, one of the large-est of its kind in the country. Its vocational school methods have been studied by educators from far and near. Its public schools have an enrollment this year of over 100,000. Its courts, district, municipal, county and circuit, are noted for their swift met-ing out of justice. It is completing a civic centre that will add much to its attractiveness. Fifty-eight parks and playgrounds provide all manner of sports. There are five public golf courses, five well-equipped bathing beaches and six natoria. It is the home of Marquette University, the State Teachers College, Milwaukee University and other widely known educational institutions. A centralized bureau takes care of all charitable work with an annual drive by all agencies. Last year the fund exceeded a million dollars. In character of population Milwaukee is over four tenths native born of native white parents.
A third are native born of foreign white parents and about a quarter are foreign born whites. Less than one per cent of its entire population are of colored races.

One could go on for columns stating pertinent facts about this important city and still miss the real factor that makes Milwaukee mighty. Behind its industries, its municipal attractions and its importance is the friendly and enduring spirit of its people. The West and the Mid-west have long been noted for their cordiality to visitors from the East. Instead of finding what we here term "wild and woolly" Westerners one is surprised to mingle with folk who are far from this characterization.
They are not as radical as we have been led to believe. On the contrary they have many of the same problems which confront us and they meet them in much the same way as we in the East although from their own local angle. And their hospitality! Words cannot convey the appreciation of the members of the N. E. A. who experienced it on every turn.

was remodeled not long ago. One of the most striking things about this hotel is the many beautiful oil paintings which hang in the library and in the corridors of every floor. Many of these are rare copies by famous artists and their total value runs well over a million dollars.

Although the business sessions occupied much of the time of our stay in Milwaukee we were entertained by various hosts. Following the morning session on Tuesday we were the guests of the Milwaukee Daily Sentinel at the Rotary Club luncheon held in the Milwaukee Athletic Club. The speaker of the day was Cylus Strawn—"the man who refinanced Chicago." He gave us a most interesting address covering several important matters, including a brief discussion of Chicago affairs, the business depression, and the tariff. He is a vice-president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and a former president of the American Bar Association and one of the outstanding men in the nation.

The ladies, many of the N. E. A. members being accompanied by their wives, also had an enjoyable program for that day. In the morning they were shown through the plant of the Phoenix Hosiery Company, where the making of silk hose from the spinning of the thread to completion proved most interesting. At noon a luncheon, followed by a bridge party, was given them by two Milwaukee concerns, the Cheshire & Greenfield Mfg.
Co., and the Reusch Printing Machinery Co. at the Milwaukee Yacht Club.
Many other Milwaukee business houses had donated some thirty or more attractive prizes ranging from a bridge table and four chairs to boxes of candy and boudoir lamps, including other small articles of furniture, stationery and so forth. The holders of the four highest scores, one of whom was Mrs. Walter D. Allen of Brookline, Mass., and the wife of one of the N. E. A. board of directors, were given an aeroplane ride over the city in a six-passenger plane of the Kohler Aviation Co.

That evening the entire party, numbering about two hundred, were the guests of another newspaper—the Milwaukee Journal. From the new Journal building busses transported us to the ferry slip of the Pere Marquette Railway Company which operates a fleet of carferries between Milwaukee and Ludington, Michigan, across the lake. These carferries, which take thirty loaded freight cars, make the trip in six hours whereas it would take several times that number of hours to send the freight by rail around the southern tip of the lake and over the Chicago Beltline road.
Each ferry, the stern of which is open, has two sets of tracks in its hold on which the cars are run as it is tied up at the dock. The upper deck, having staterooms, salon, and dining room, are equipped to accommodate a small number of passengers. "The City of Flint 32" which was the name of the vessel we boarded for the evening trip, is one of the company's new twin ferries completed at Manitowoc, Wisconsin, a few months ago. It is a 4,000-ton vessel with two 3,000 horsepower electric motors for driving power, making it entirely vibrationless.
Being over five hundred feet long it is as large as some of the smaller transatlantic passenger boats. Before sunset we had a marvelous view of Milwaukee harbor and the large amount of lake traffic constantly moving by. We had the run of the great ship from bow to stern and from the captain's bridge to the stockhold. A visit below decks to the fire room where the operation of the massive generators and the electrically propelled twin turbines was most interesting to the mechanically inclined.

Between the morning and afternoon sessions on Tuesday we were the guests of the Western States Envelope Company of Milwaukee at a most enjoyable luncheon. Mr. George F.
Moss, president of the company, proved a most gracious host and a number of us accepted his invitation to go through the plant where the envelopes are made. A trip that was decidedly both interesting and instructive. The ladies, meanwhile, had an automobile ride through the city.

In the evening our party was given the distinction of being the first convention group in the history of the Wisconsin Club to be entertained in its beautiful and spacious grounds.
This club was organized many years ago and is regarded as one of the most exclusive in the city. We spent another delightful evening there as dinner was served outdoors with dancing and vaudeville for entertainment.

A Practical Plan

MANY people find it difficult to invest a large sum of money at one time. But everyone can manage to put aside a few dollars every week or every month.

Saving in a bank account is a practical plan for systematic thrift. It enables you to deposit small amounts at your convenience, with the additional advantage of compound interest.

A small first deposit will start your account

Why Mention of Thrift

Grates on Auto Driver

Charlie when he had his other car developed a system that saved him a lot of pennies—perhaps as many as 100 in the months he labored with it. Charlie lives in a street off Main street, in Montello, where it is possible to coast the length of it because of the grade, and ride right into his garage. Faithfully he always turned off his ignition at the head of his street and saved gasoline the rest of the way.

Recently when fortune smiled on him, he traded for a new car. On his first trip home with it from the club at night he turned off the ignition and coasted down the hill. However, he forgot that the new motor was equipped with a gimmick which automatically locks the steering wheel when the ignition is shut off.

Just as Charlie was about to turn into his street the front wheels failed to answer his tug and he rammed a telephone pole with the right fender before he could bring the machine to a stop.

"It'll cost at least a sawbuck to straighten that out," he moaned, "and all to save a little gasoline."—Brocton Enterprise.

Significance in Name

Clemens Made Immortal

Probably the best known nom de plume ever adopted by an American writer is that of Samuel Clemens, "Mark Twain." Usually it is regarded as just a proper name, chosen by the humorist from a book or some family record, as most such names are chosen. But the fact is that it wasn't a proper name at all until Clemens made it such, says the Golden Book Magazine, which tells the story:

"From the carefree days of his life on the Mississippi, Clemens passed to setting type on his brother's newspaper, to piloting a steamboat, and to wandering in the West. Shortly after, he began writing articles for a Nevada paper—clever, fun-poking skits. It was in 1863 that he first adopted the name of Mark Twain. 'I want to sign them Mark Twain,' he wrote. 'It is an old river term, a leadman's call, signifying two fathoms or 12 feet. It has a richness about it; it was always pleasant for a pilot to hear on a dark night; it meant safe water.'"

Women Geographers

The Society of Woman Geographers is a society, organized in 1925, by a group who felt that there should be some medium of contact between women distinguished in geographical work and its allied sciences—ethnology, archeology, botany, natural history, sociology, folklore, arts and crafts, etc. For active membership in this society only those women are eligible who have done distinctive work where by they have added to the world's store of knowledge concerning the countries in which they have traveled. Corresponding members are those who fulfill the requirements for active membership, but who reside outside the United States of America and Canada. The associate membership admits widely traveled women who are interested in furthering all forms of geographical exploration and research.

Ancient Norwegian Town

Voss is situated about sixty miles from Bergen by rail and resembles very much the "Ostlandet," as the eastern part of Norway is called, being broader and having many pine woods. Voss is a very old village; how old is not quite certain. The inhabitants were christened in 1023, according to Snorre's Heimskringla, by Olaf the Saint. The name occurs before that in the old sagas, and is once mentioned as a kingdom. There is a famous old stone church in the town proper and a Finne, a short distance from the railroad station, there stands the oldest wooden building in Norway, a so-called Finne-loft. The town itself is usually spoken of as Vangen, and the surrounding uplands as Voss, although the latter name is generally used for either.

Choosing His Own Name

At one time it was the custom in the Shetland islands for a man to select his own surname, and the last man to do this was Gideon Manson. The custom followed was for a son to twist his father's Christian name and make that his surname, a fact which explains why Gideon Manson's grandfather was called Magnus Robertson and his father James Manson (Magnus' son).

According to custom, Gideon should have called himself Gideon Jameson (i. e., the son of James), but he chose to be known by his father's surname. This ancient custom led to considerable confusion and was finally prohibited by parliamentary enactment.

Farthest From Land

The farthest distance a ship can sail from land is 1200 miles. This may seem strange, for the Atlantic ocean is more than 4000 miles wide, and the Pacific even wider than that. But there are islands in these oceans, and never can a ship be more than 1200 miles from some point of land. The spot of greatest distance from land, is in the Pacific ocean, halfway between New Zealand and South America.

Friend of the Helpless

Margaret Haugley, after being left an orphan and later losing her husband and baby, went to work as a laundress in a hotel in New Orleans. She spent part of every day visiting the orphans' home and taking food to them. She secured this food by asking various merchants for it. Later she established a dairy and bakery which were very successful. The money which she made she spent for her orphans. Through her generosity three orphan homes were erected in New Orleans. The statue erected in her honor in New Orleans is said to be the first statue of a woman ever erected in the United States.

Famous Pair of Friends

Damon and Pythias lived in the fourth century B. C. Damon, a Pythagorean of Syracuse, was celebrated for his friendship with Pythias, or Phintias, a member of the same sect. Pythias plotted against the life of Dionysius I of Syracuse and was condemned to die. As Pythias wished to arrange his affairs, Damon offered to place himself in the tyrant's hands as his substitute, and to die in his stead should he not return on the appointed day. At the last moment Pythias came back and Dionysius was so struck by the fidelity of the friends that he pardoned the offender and begged to be admitted into their fellowship.

Jewish Holy Day

"Yom" is Hebrew for "day" and Yom Kippur means day of atonement. It is the tenth day of October and is observed by continuous prayer and fasting for 24 hours from sundown on the evening previous.—Pathfinder Magazine.

8 plies under the Tread

Here is EXTRA SAFETY!

FOR the high powered, high speed cars of today, with needed quick starts and stops, you should have this extra protection. Just look at the inside of this Firestone Anchor Super Heavy Duty Tire. There are eight plies of cords under the all Non-Skid, Center Traction Tread. It is a big—tough—strong tire—a construction that insures against punctures and blowouts.

Come In and See for Yourself!

We have cut up various brands of tires, so that you can see the inside construction. Come in and make these comparisons, section for section, and you will readily see the superiority of Firestone.

We sell and service the complete line of Firestone Tires, Tubes, Batteries, Rims, Brake Lining and Accessories, and actually give you greater values.

The Firestone Anchor Super Heavy Duty Balloon has a double cord breaker—8 plies under the tread. Some other makes have no breaker at all and some a single breaker made with old-fashioned, square woven fabric that Firestone discarded when they developed the balloon tire.

DOUBLE GUARANTEE: Every tire Firestone makes bears the name "FIRESTONE", and every tire we sell carries the Firestone Unlimited Guarantee and ours. You are doubly protected—absolutely assured every dollar you spend buys real quality and satisfaction. We guarantee that you will get all the miles out of your tires that have been built in by Firestone.

HOME INSULATION

During the past few years we have frequently mentioned the subject of building insulation and various types of materials used for this purpose. We take pleasure at this time in referring to the Johns-Manville Rock Wool insulation, both for houses under construction and for occupied houses as well.

This material contrasts strongly with other insulating products in that it combines so many desirable qualities.

Its efficiency as a non-conductor of heat and cold is rated among the highest by the United States Bureau of Standards. Being made from a Rock it is entirely mineral, and therefore fire-proof. In fact, it was used to fire-proof all the walls of Washington's home at Mt. Vernon, when that mansion was repaired in 1924; and it is accepted as a fireproofing material by the building commissioners of various cities and towns at the present time.

After being subjected to the most severe mechanical vibration tests, it has shown no change in texture, or any tendency to settle. After being installed in the walls of buildings for over 20 years, this Johns-Manville Rock Wool has been found to show no alteration from its original structure and appearance, and has tested to the same efficiency as brand new materials.

Buildings insulated with Rock Wool are much quieter because of its remarkable sound deadening qualities. As it fills up the entire space between the framing of all exterior walls, the most severe weather conditions have no effect on the interior temperature because of the thickness of the insulation. By the reverse process, the sun's heat is prevented from penetrating the house in summer, thereby keeping the interior much cooler.

Through an ingenious process, patented by the Johns-Manville Company, this Rock Wool Insulation can be installed in occupied houses without disturbing the interior.

A very interesting booklet describing this process will be mailed free by the Home Insulation Company, 172 High street, Boston, phone Hancock 1846, and this company will also furnish free estimates for installing the insulation anywhere.

Quebec's Name in Dispute
The origin of Quebec's name is interesting. Some claim that it is a corruption of "Quel Bec" (What a beak!) an ejaculation emitted supposedly by some of the followers of Jacques Cartier as they first set eyes on Cape Diamond; others claim that it comes from "Kepek" meaning "disembark," the greetings tendered by the natives to the new French arrivals.

Need Not Have Worried

About Waking Family

This newspaper man is a most thoughtful person and it is very seldom that he leaves his home for an evening out. But he did so one evening recently, intending to be out only a half hour or so. The half hour stretched into several hours and it was nearly midnight when he reached home. He thought as he approached the door that his wife and son would be sound asleep at that hour so he tiptoed softly after opening and closing the door more quietly than he had ever done before.

Even breathing more gently than usual lest he disturb the sleepers, he finally reached his own room without hearing any sound to indicate that he had awakened anybody.

Next morning at breakfast his wife casually told him that she went out to play bridge the night before and did not reach home until about two hours after his own arrival. The son reached home even later than his mother.

Husband and father still believes in being thoughtful and hopes he didn't disturb the family cat.—Brockton Enterprise.

Remarkable Salt Lake

in Central Australia

Lake Eyre might be called Australia's "Great Salt Lake." It is located only about 250 miles southeast of the geographical center of the continent and because of its desert surroundings has been called "Australia's dead heart."

The lake and its immediate surroundings constitute the only area in Australia that lies below sea level. Its shore line is 30 feet lower than the ocean waters that surround the continent. The bottom of the lake can be considered with little error as at the same level, for Lake Eyre is in reality only a tremendous salt flat that is covered from time to time with a few inches of water.

It becomes a lake after droughts are broken by unusual rains in the far-away Queensland plains, so that floods rush down the usually dry river courses that lead to this closed basin. But quickly the shallow covering of water evaporates and the "lake" becomes first damp and then dry.

Flesh-Eating Ants

The safari ant belongs to the subfamily Dorylinae, of which the genus Dorylus, with several subgenera, frequents nearly all parts of Africa. These ants usually make only temporary nests, but spend most of their time wandering in long files. The size varies from quite minute forms to over one-half inch in length. The mandibles are very strong and the ant also has a powerful sting and a swarm is able to kill animals or birds that it may come upon. These ants sometimes enter houses in search of vermin and on these occasions the people leave till the ants are through. The same general type of ant occurs in almost all the tropical countries, except on islands. The female is without wings, which makes its distribution to islands impossible.

Terrifying Records

One of the most fascinating displays at the New York Academy of Medicine, says an article in the New York Herald Tribune, is a chart, compiled a century ago, in the columns of which are arranged the records of cases, guaranteed authentic by the author, of persons who have died of spontaneous combustion as a result of drink. In one case recorded combustion was "complete" in one "who had abused spirits for three years," and in another even more terrifying event combustion was absolute "save for a part of the skull and the last joints of the fingers" and the cause is given as "too great a proximity to a foot-stove."

The Grip of Gold

There are metals rarer than gold and more precious. But no other substance remotely approaches gold in its grip upon the imagination of mankind. We do not speak of the Platinum Rule or of the Radium Gate. We discuss, instead, golden days and golden youth and golden weddings and a golden future. Gold is the universal symbol of riches, the inevitable metaphor of wealth. And in addition it is the solid and unsentimental foundation on which the world's structure of currency and credit is built.—Fortune.

Creative Instinct

Once the motive of craftsmanship went far toward keeping the world efficient and happy. This motive, and its self-expression through the homely arts, can be applied with as much satisfaction in the field of consumption as it ever was in production. Especially for men whose part in the productive system is highly mechanized, the creative instinct can find expression in the arts of use, and in the subordinate art of buying well.—From the World Tomorrow.

Water a Crop of the Forest

Forests are not only generous friends because of the raw material they furnish, says the American Tree association. They are useful in the conservation of water for domestic use, for irrigation, navigation and water power; they help to prevent floods and soil washing; they add greatly to the scenic beauty of our land; they furnish a home for many of our birds and wild animals; they offer a wonderful place for healthful recreation.

Loving Restraint Need of Modern Generation?

Don Juan is by no means a master of love. On the contrary, he cannot love, because he has not learned that which can be experienced only at home in the nursery—fidelity. He who has seen at home how true parents are to each other, how faithful is their love for their children, as a rule will himself become a faithful and dependable person. He will simply copy what he has seen at home. Today we are in a tidal wave of faithlessness. The innumerable divorces of our day will become even more numerous when the children of the divorced parents grow up. They very likely will not be faithful to their sex partners, because they have not experienced what fidelity is, and what its value may be. They miss the happiness and satisfaction of fidelity, and take freedom in exchange. They are appallingly free. They can always fulfill their desires until the fulfillment itself is no more desired. Within their souls they long for duties.

In the hands of a guide one is apt to be abused. Love is the only protection against abuse. If we love our guide we never feel abused, and if he loves us he will certainly not abuse us. All of us have met such guides in our childhood. The few—becoming less and less rare—who have not enjoyed this experience in their first years, it seems to me, can never be entirely happy. Freedom is all right, but affectionate coercion is also a necessity for men as well as for animals.—From "Critique of Love," by Fritz Wittels.

Varying Opinions as to "Books All Should Have"

There is a house in Chelsea which bears the intriguing sign, "The House of the Nine Books." The nine books are those which, in the occupiers' opinion, ought to be in every home. They are the Bible, Plato's "Republic," Homer, Horace, "The Arabian Nights," Dante's "Divine Comedy," "Don Quixote," Shakespeare, and Grimm's "Fairy Tales."

This is an interesting list, but how many people will agree with it? Many of us would like to substitute Milton for Horace; and if Grimm is included for the children's benefit, wouldn't Hans Christian Anderson be a better choice?

But no two people would make out the same list. What would you say were the nine books that ought to be in every home? Write them down and ask your friends to do the same, and you will be amazed, both at the variety of the titles, and also at the way in which some of them occur in every, or almost every, list.—London Answers.

Assemblies of Bards

The word eisteddfod (from the Welsh eistedd, to sit) is a name applied generally in Welsh to any meeting or concourse of people, but more particularly to the assemblies, who anciently formed an hereditary order. These meetings were forbidden by Edward I, at the conquest of Wales, but they were renewed by Henry VII, who was of Welsh origin. They were revived during the last century, and eisteddfods are held periodically at various Welsh towns in succession at which prizes are awarded for proficiency in the Welsh tongue, and for poems in that language, and playing on the harp.

Long Symbol of Authority

Since the days of ancient Rome the fasces has been the symbol of authority. Originally it was a bundle of elm or birch rods, from which the head of an ax projected, fastened together with a red strap. In the beginning this was an emblem of authority carried by lictors. This country is as much at liberty to use this ancient emblem of authority as is the Fascist government of Italy. It is a coincidence that on certain of our coins what is now the Fascist emblem should have for many years been a part of the decorative design.—Washington Star.

A Good Reason

"I wish I could find a short-sighted lover for my daughter."
"What a strange idea."
"You wouldn't say that if you saw my daughter."

A Real Job

"What are you trying to do now?" asked the reporter of the plant wizard he met at the street corner.
"Trying to cross a street with safety," he sighed.

She Was Doing the Letting

"So your husband is letting his beard grow?"
"He is not letting it grow—I am letting him grow it."

Our Cynics

"Father, what is a 'clue'?"
"Clue," my boy, is police pronunciation for 'glue.' It means they're stuck."

Mail Student

"Why do you always address the letter carrier as professor?"
"It's a sort of honorary title. I'm taking a course by mail."

KIWANIS CLUB

The speaker at this meeting was Mr. George Stanley Harvey, formerly First Assistant District Attorney of Middlesex County and candidate for nomination for District Attorney of this county at the Republican primaries this fall. In his address Mr. Harvey displayed a mastery knowledge of the duties which must be performed by an incumbent of this office and of those methods of procedure which will bring results for the good of the public. His interest extends beyond the mere prosecution of a given case. Indeed it is sometimes better both for the offender and for the community if certain cases are not prosecuted. Many an unfortunate, particularly youthful delinquents, may be saved from a criminal career and made into a creditable member of society if his case is properly handled in the District Attorney's office.

On the other hand Mr. Harvey confirmed the opinions of leading jurists by stating the proper punishment should be swift and sure for the confirmed criminal. This is by all means the best method of curbing his activities.

"THE BIG HOUSE"

The newspapers in recent months have been full of stories of prison riots on which theme, Metro Goldwyn Mayer has based an all talking Melodrama called "The Big House" which plays at the Paramount Theatre, Newton, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

With this realistic, fascinating background upon which to build its story, "The Big House" in vigorous, straightforward terms tells the absorbing story of a girl, who, despite prejudices of smug society, learns to love a man caught fast in the iron grip of the law. The story of her beautiful love and the manner in which this love inspires the man to whom she has given her heart, bring to the audience an unusual picture of surpassing interest. It has a story so real and so human that audiences everywhere will find it one of the most fascinating pictures of the season.

Chester Morris gives a well rounded, sincere and convincing performance as the hero and Leila Hyams, as the girl who inspires Morris to a new life, brings a sensitive, understanding quality to her performance. Others in the cast are Wallace Beery, Lewis Stone, Robert Montgomery and George Marion as the hero.

On the same program will be seen the two greatest lovers on the screen Loretta Young and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. in "Loose Ankles." This is from the stage play by the same name which rocked the nation with laughs a few seasons ago.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, will be seen Harry Richman and Joan Bennett in "Puttin' on the Ritz," a fast stepping and dancing spectacle. Mr. Richman, star of Geo. White's Scandals and master of ceremonies, sings and dances his way throughout the picture to make it one of the best musical plays of the season. On the same program will be those favorites, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon in "Alias French Gertie," a colossal drama of a love that defied the law.

POLICE DOG BITES BOY

A complaint was made to the police Saturday afternoon that a police dog owned by Henry Twardzik of 95 Webster park, West Newton, had bitten severely Domenic Guzzi, 7, of 11 Keith street, Watertown. The Guzzi boy was visiting his aunt on Oak avenue, West Newton and Saturday afternoon he entered the Twardzik yard. According to the boy's story the dog knocked him down and bit him on the neck, temple and right wrist. He was treated by Dr. Brady.

ROTARY CLUB

Hon. Charles E. Hatfield, of West Newton, was the guest and speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club held Monday at the Woodland Golf Club.

Mr. Hatfield, who is treasurer of Middlesex County, an ex-mayor of Newton, and a former chairman of the Republican state committee, gave an exceedingly interesting talk on his experiences as a politician and some valuable facts regarding the work of the county. He made an eloquent plea for a more rational and sympathetic treatment of persons when released from prison.

ITS SIXTY-SIXTH YEAR

Sixty-five years of experience and constant advancement in the science of business training has enabled the Bryant & Stratton Commercial School to hold its place at the very forefront of those educational institutions whose object is the training of young men and women to occupy worthwhile positions in business, professional and educational circles. So great has been the success of Bryant & Stratton graduates during these sixty-five years that at the present time thousands of them are proprietors and executives of prosperous business houses, which, when in need of new blood, always turn to the employment department of this school in order to secure promising young men and women for stenographic, secretarial, bookkeeping, accounting and executive positions.

LAND COURT.
To the City of Newton, a municipal corporation located in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth; Woodland Golf Club, a duly existing corporation having an usual place of business in said Newton, Charles Wood Bond, Homer F. Tilton, Carrie A. Robie, Hannah M. McNeil, Harry L. Tilton, Marion Tilton, and Louis O. Tilton, of said Newton, and Charles J. Fay, of Melrose, in said County of Middlesex; First National Bank of Boston, Boston and Albany Railroad Company, United States Bond and Mortgage Corporation, duly existing corporations having usual places of business in Boston, in the County of Suffolk and said Commonwealth; and Charles L. Willey, of said Boston; any persons interested in the Debenture Investment Company, now or formerly of Chicago, in the State of Illinois, who have not released their interest in the land hereinafter described; Arabella Tilton, Homer F. Tilton, John F. Roud, Norman S. Wood, John F. Thayer and Angus McKay, residences unknown, or their heirs, devisees, or legal representatives; and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by E. James Winslow, of said Newton, to register and confirm his title in the following described land:
Two certain parcels of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Newton, bounded and described as follows: First Parcel: Northwestly by Grove Street, 74.47 feet; Northeastly and Southeastly by land now or formerly of Charles Wood Bond, 89.94 feet and 71.67 feet, respectively; and Southwestly by land now or formerly of the Boston and Albany Railroad Company, 80.00 feet.
Second Parcel: North by Seminary Avenue; Easterly by the junction of Seminary Avenue and an unmarked street; Southeastly by said unmarked street; Southwestly by the Boston and Albany Railroad Company, Northwestly and Southwestly by land now or formerly of Charles J. Fay; and Northwestly by land now or formerly of Charles Wood Bond.

Petitioner claims as appurtenant to the above described land right of way to and in Seminary Avenue and the unmarked passageway for all purposes. The above described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.

If you desire to make any objection or defense to said petition you or your attorney must file a written appearance and an answer under oath, setting forth clearly and specifically your objections or defense to each part of said petition, in the office of the Recorder of said Court in Boston (at the Court House), on or before the fifteenth day of September next.

Unless an appearance is so filed by or for you, your default will be recorded, the said petition will be taken as confessed and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.
Witness, Charles Thornton Davis, Esquire, Judge of said Court, this thirtieth day of August in the year nineteen hundred and thirty.
Attest with Seal of said Court.
(Seal)
CHARLES A. SOUTHWORTH, Recorder.

ABOUT TOWN

By Edw. H. Powers

The sympathy of this city is extended to "Bill" Wilson, superintendent of the Middlesex & Boston and to his fellow employees of that company who are victims of typhoid fever, contracted at an outing held by employees of the M. & B. at Saxtonville on July 29. The fact that Mr. Wilson has been working many hours daily supervising transportation for this community may have lessened his vitality and made him become one of the victims of the dread germ. All of his many friends and those of his fellow workers who have the disease hope sincerely that the M. & B. men who are ill will enjoy rapid recov-eries from their affliction.

Several outsiders who regard Newton as a prolific field for miniature golf courses and who, apparently, did not know that this city is zoned, have been at City Hall seeking permits to conduct these Revere Beach affairs in residential sections of this city.

POLICE NEWS

Thomas J. White of 173 Milton avenue, Dorchester was sentenced to serve 30 days in jail and was fined $15 by Judge Bacon in the Newton court on Monday when he was found guilty of driving while under the influence of liquor and of drunkenness.
It was the second conviction of White on such a charge, despite the fact that he was not driving his car when arrested by Patrolman Carley at 2
a. m. on the morning of August 2.
The car was being operated by Vincent Toomey of M street, South Boston, who had no license. Toomey was fined $100. White appealed both the sentence and the fine. His attorney argued that White was so drunk that he did not realize that his car was being operated by another individual also under the influence of booze.
The judge could not see the merit of this plea and found White guilty.
Robert Lohmes of 69 Cottage street,
Newton Upper Falls was fined $100 in the Newton court on Monday for driving while under the influence of liquor.

Guido Bianchi of 97 Linwood avenue, Newtonville was arrested Sunday night by Patrolman Goddard. A complaint was sent to police headquarters that a crap game was in progress on Adams street and Goddard had attended to the scene on his motorcycle.
When he arrived there, no crap game was in sight, nor were any persons around except Bianchi. The latter refused to move when ordered to do so by the policeman, saying that he had committed no offence. In the Newton court Monday he was fined $5.

Harry Butland, 8, and William But-land, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs.
Henry Butland of Jackson street, North Cambridge were picked up in Nonantum Square, Newton on Saturday morning by Patrolman Connolly.
They said that they had been given a ride to Newton by the driver of a milk truck and had been put off the truck when it arrived at Newton. Their parents were notified to come to Newton for the boys.

Two Needham youths, Alexander Dolitka and Joseph Sokel, were arrested Friday night by Serg. King and Special Officers Burke and Feeley charged with having broken into the Charles River Country Club on the night of August 14th and having stolen cigars and cigarettes. They will be tried in the Newton court today.

A 15 year old boy residing on Crafts street, Newtonville and a 20 year old youth residing on Edinboro street, Newtonville were in the Newton court last Friday. The boy was found guilty of having entered a house on Walnut street, Newtonville and having stolen 10 quarts of wine. The young man was found guilty of having received the liquor. The former received a suspended sentence to the Shirley Industrial School. The latter was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail.

Omer Meunier of Bennington street,
Newton was found not guilty by Judge
Allen in the Newton court last Friday of larceny. He was charged with having passed a $200 worthless check.
The judge ruled that the matter was one for civil action rather than criminal. In court the same day Murriel Burns of Marlboro and Alfred Lee of Wellesley each was fined $10 for speeding.

Paul Olander of Morse avenue, Brookline was arrested early Wednesday morning after the car he was driving had hit a pole on Beacon street, Newton Centre. He was taken into custody by Patrolman Condrin and McCormick and charged with driving while under the influence of liquor. At police headquarters Olander was treated by Dr. Lowe for an injury to his wrist. He will be tried August 22.

Marriage After Dark

Not Legal in England

Although divorce is on the increase in England, it is difficult to achieve and seekers after legal separations often find it easier to find a flaw in the union itself, thus bringing about a dissolution on the ground that they were not truly married in the first place.

English courts have held, for example, that marriage by registration may be legal in Russia but cannot be so recognized in England. A Russian woman who sued for judicial separation and maintenance, stating that she and her mate had registered their union in Moscow, got the separation all right, but had no legal claim for maintenance when the court said:

"I have come to the conclusion that the petitioner and respondent were never husband and wife."

In another case a man accused of deserting his family defended himself on the ground that he married the girl after dark.

He was not joking. A marriage in England outside the hours between eight in the morning and three in the afternoon is no more legal than a whisky and soda bought at a bar after regular hours.

Finest Parchment Made

In Small English Town

In Havant, Hampshire, England, there flourishes a band of men engaged in making the finest parchment in the world. They possess a skill that has been passed from father to son for centuries; in fact, before Norman times men were dressing sheepskins at Havant, and their descendants follow the same trade. At present there is one man who has worked at it for 75 years; two other men have 62 and 60 years' service behind them.
One of the partners in the firm is a magic spring. Parchment making is a long process, and water plays a great part. At Havant there is a spring of a special degree of chalkiness, and although chemical experiments have been made, no water has been produced that can rival this spring, which produces a pearliness to be found in no other parchment.

Swinburne's Rating Poor

Swinburne's admiration for large families might have been somewhat tempered (suggests a correspondent) if he had known of the remarks with which he had been disposed of by a young nephew of his own.

This lad was a boarder at a famous public school in Edinburgh, and one day the English master asked his rather pompously, "Are you any relative, my boy, of the great poet Algernon Charles Swinburne?"

With a nervous glance around at the others, the boy blurted out, "Yes, sir!
He's my uncle." And then, in an outburst of confidence, added, "But he's an awful ass, sir!"

For this crisp summing-up the other boys loved him.—Manchester (England) Guardian.

Middle Name Custom

The practice of giving a middle name to children was unknown in England before the period of the Stuarts, and it did not become at all common until Georgian times. There was, in fact, a law on the statute books forbidding parents to give more than one name to their children. The same conditions prevailed in North America.
Not a member of the Mayflower party had a middle name and there are only three among the signatures to the Declaration of Independence. The first five Presidents of the United States had one Christian name only.

Most Expensive Avocation

The most expensive avocation which a wealthy man can find is dairying, according to the business monthly Fortune. Blooded cows cost from $300 to $25,000 a head, bulls up to $100,000. With tiled walls, vita glass windows, ice plants and ventilating systems, equipment of dairy and barn horses around $600 a head. And, of course, there's the pay roll. At a luncheon Mr. Charles M. Schwab once offered his guests their choice of champagne or milk. "Gentlemen," he said, "they both cost the same."

Old Flags

In the picture of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, by John Trumbull, the flags shown are all Colonial flags that preceded the Stars and Stripes. One is the Grand Union flag, on which the stripes appeared in conjunction with the British union.
The Red Union Ensign is also shown, with the English red cross on white, and with blue background. The others are similar ones, containing the British union or cross.

Memory Test

Mary needed some information to be found in the book entitled "Out of Doors in the Holy Land." She felt she could never remember the name.
Her roommate told her to think of Jerusalem and of the beauties of the outdoors.

Mary still cannot understand why the librarian did not get her the book but the librarian knows Mary asked for "Fresh Air in Jerusalem."

Ax to Grind

When I see a merchant over-polite to his customers, begging them to taste a little brandy and throwing half his goods on the counter—thinks
I, that man has an ax to grind.—

Just what you've been waiting for!

A really efficient Insulation—as good as a wool blanket 4 Inches thick!

NOW you can make your home really comfortable both winter and summer. The new Johns-Manville Insulation is one of the most interesting products that modern science has developed for the home!

Imagine if you can, your home completely walled in by a four-inch thick barricade against winter's icy blasts, and summer's scorching sun; a protecting wall that is fireproof, rot-proof and vermin-proof—for it is made of rock.

Johns-Manville Home Insulation is rock, melted and blown into fleecy fibres which entrap tiny air-cells making a light fluffy substance that is placed in all the open wall spaces in your house by an ingenious method that will amaze you in its simplicity.

Phone or write us and let us tell you how this Insulation will save fuel for you, and how it will make your present home truly livable both winter and summer.

This shows how the wall space between studdings are filled—making a blanket 4 inches thick that can be placed around any house—frame, brickwork or stone.

Seek Approval Of Bus Route Changes

Newton Centre and Highlands Routes Affected by Petitions

The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company has put into effect several changes in the routes of its bus lines in the city and seeks the approval of the Board of Aldermen.

President H. H. Hanson in a letter to Alderman Fred Hawkins, chairman of the franchises and licenses committee stated that at the request of Chief of Police Hughes and Street Commissioner Stuart the buses on the Newtonville-Newton Centre line were operated by way of Willow, Sumner and Beacon streets instead of using Centre street to Beacon street in an effort to turn around with less interference to traffic. It seems desirable to continue this plan.

On certain other trips on the Newtonville-Newton Centre line the buses have been turned around by way of Crescent avenue and Beacon street in order to make it less dangerous for children attending the parochial school. This was done at the request of Father Curtin and with the verbal consent of the street commissioner. The Lake street-Newton Highlands line has been turned around at Newton Highlands via Boylston and Floral streets. Some passengers have wished to ride around on these streets. Applications for petitions to operate on these streets have been filed with the Board of Aldermen.

MRS. MARY E. MARTIN

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Martin, widow of James F. Martin, died on Sunday, August 17th at her home, 50 Lexington street, West Newton, at the age of fifty-five.

Mrs. Martin, whose maiden name was Mary Elizabeth Hawley, had lived in West Newton for about thirty-five years.

Funeral services were held from her late home on Tuesday morning and a solemn high mass was celebrated at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

She is survived by four daughters, Agnes E. and Dorothy B. Martin, Mrs. Alice M. Kelley and Mrs. Mary Rennie, three sons, Joseph F., Vincent L. and Edward T. Martin, also by several brothers and sisters.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Word has been received that Mrs. George H. Wight and daughter, Betty, of Newton Centre, were injured in an automobile accident which occurred in Burlington, Vt., recently where Mrs. Wight is spending the summer.

The accident occurred on Shelbourne road. A sedan which was driving north responded improperly to the operation of the brakes going around in a complete circle and ramming the left side of Mrs. Wight's car throwing it on a side in a ditch.

Mrs. Wight and daughter were taken to the hospital for emergency treatment but were able to return to their summer home and were exceedingly fortunate in not being more severely injured.

Tercentenary Swimming Meet

To Be Held At Crystal Lake On Saturday, Sept. 6th

Another of Newton's Tercentenary athletic events will be held on Saturday, September 6th, at Crystal Lake, Newton Centre. Local swimmers are expected to stage close and exciting finishes on the racing events on the program of the swimming meet for the individual championships of the city. Entries will be limited to residents of Newton on April 1st of this year and who have passed their sixteenth birthday.

Prize medals of gold, silver, and bronze are to be awarded to the winners of first, second, and third places in the various events. There are to be five events for the men and three for the women. These medals are the special Newton Tercentenary design. Entries, the fee for which is twenty-five cents, close September 2nd, with John J. Lane of the Playground department at City Hall, West Newton.

The men's events include a 100 yard freestyle, 440 yard free-style, 100 yard backstroke, 100 yard breast stroke races and a diving contest. The women's events consist of a 100 yard freestyle race, an obstacle race and a diving contest.

Clarence V. Moore is the chairman of the Tercentenary Sports Committee by whom the recent tennis and golf tournaments were conducted.

POLITICAL NOTES

Warren L. Bishop, First Assistant District Attorney of Middlesex County, is receiving spontaneous demonstrations in support of his candidacy to succeed the present District Attorney of Middlesex, Robert T. Bushnell. With Dist. Atty. Bushnell strongly backing Mr. Bishop, who for the past four years has been First Asst. Dist. Atty. of Middlesex and four years previous to that second asst. dist. atty., Mr. Bishop has been endorsed by the leading men and women Republicans of his county.

Last night in Gasbarri Hall, Thompsonville section of Newton Centre was held another meeting of the Italian American Clubs formed for the purpose of furthering the candidacy of Warren L. Bishop for Dist. Atty. of Middlesex County. Addresses were made by Mr. Bishop, Mr. Volpe, Walter E. Lewis, former Asst. Dist. Atty., Andrews and Cavalier Chembelia. About 200 were present. Chairman Dominick Lombardi of the Executive Committee, presided and also announced that another meeting will be held on Sept. 2, 1930, in West Newton.

Mr. Gasbarri, the well known business man of this section, is chairman of Newton Centre.

The committee in charge of the campaign of Kenneth C. Dunlop of this city for the Republican nomination for district attorney is headed by Hon. Henry H. Bond of Waltham as chairman and the Newton members are Daniel Needham, William E. Brigham, Mrs. Charlotte S. Mansfield and Wallace E. Crowley.

PROMOTED TO RANK OF MAJOR

The adjutant general's office at the State House recently announced the promotion of Captain Paul G. Kirk of Sargent street, Newton, to the rank of major. He has been assigned to duty with the 101st Infantry, was appointed plans and training officer of that regiment by Col. Arthur W. Desmond. In his new post Major Kirk will map out the training schedules of the regiment and make frequent inspections under the supervision of the regimental commander.

He has been connected with the 101st for several years, winning promotion from the ranks. He is said to be the youngest major in Massachusetts and one of the youngest in the country.

Annual Playground Festival Is Held at Newton Centre

Many Interested Spectators Witness Demonstrations of Playground
Work and Competitive Events

The annual field day of the fifteen Newton playgrounds was held on Wednesday afternoon on the Newton Centre playground before an interested audience of parents and friends of more than 2000. Several hundred children took part in the various competitive events and folk dances. Spectators were also enabled to view exhibits of the handwork of the various playgrounds during the season in organized classes.

Mayor Sinclair Weeks awarded Tercentenary medals to scores of children who had distinguished themselves in various playground activities the past few months. This annual Field Day formally brings to a close the playground season and is held under the direction of the playground department and Mr. Ernest Herrman, director, superintendent of the department.

The program opened with the singing of "America, the Beautiful," and several other numbers by the children and spectators. A series of folk dances, "Hot Cross Buns," "Old King Cole," "The Hatter," "Highlands Schottische," by little folks of the Cabot, Newton Centre, Thompsonville, Eden Avenue, Auburndale, and Lower Falls playgrounds were both intricate and interesting.

Other features on the program were a selection "The Gobbler's Poker" by the Girls' Toy Orchestra of the Newton Centre and Thompsonville playgrounds, paddle tennis demonstrations, a tenknot demonstration, a selection, "On the Mall," by a boys' band, a cakewalk by children of the Upper Falls, Stearns, Hawthorn and Victory Field playgrounds, and folk dances by the older girls of the Stearns, Hawthorn, Victory, Burr, Horace Mann, and Highlands playgrounds. Two plays, "The Doll Shop" by Miss Toombs of the Newton Centre playground and an Indian play by Miss Grayce O'Hara of the Upper Falls playground, and acted by children from these villages were one of the highlights of the afternoon. A tumbling act by some of the playground boys demonstrated their acrobatic skill. Competitive events interspersed these numbers on the program which closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

The summary of the competitive events:

Rotarians Hear Captain Parker

Registrar of Motor Vehicles Gives Safety Talk

Capt. George A. Parker, Registrar of Motor Vehicles was the guest speaker at the Monday luncheon of the Newton Rotary Club held as usual at the Woodland Golf Club.

In the absence of the president, Frank L. Richardson, the vice president presided.

Capt. Parker gave a most interesting talk on the work of his department, making it clear that his duties were confined to the matters of registration and licensing and that he had nothing to do with traffic or road conditions.

The recent change in examination of persons after operating licenses had resulted in a change of 150,000 persons examined with 40% of failures to 75,000 examination with 10% of failures. 55,000 licenses and registrations he said were cancelled last year most of which were caused by speeding or inattention. He said it was a curious fact that accidents at railroad crossings were almost always due to the auto running into the train. He told of one incident where two men stopped their car on the railroad track a rainy night and stayed there for over two hours until struck by a train.

Over 700 persons were killed and 45,000 injured last year in Massachusetts and more persons were killed each year in the United States than there were U. S. troops killed in the Great War.

Capt. Parker gave his opinion that there was no excuse whatever for an automobile accident and told of an incident where a pedestrian who was knocked down by a car, getting up and apologizing for being in the way, and then the motorist started up his car and ran him down a second time and killed him.

Massachusetts and New England had as good automobile laws as any state in the union and the police and courts were functioning as well as could be expected.

NARROW ESCAPE AS CAR CRASHES

Four men narrowly escaped death Sunday afternoon on Quinobeequ road, Newton Lower Falls, when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into two trees and overturned. After being removed to the Newton Hospital they were arrested on charges of drunkenness.

Metropolitan police who made the arrests are also expected to charge Joseph Cannon of Cannon place, Newton Highlands, with driving while under the influence of liquor and driving without a license. He suffered numerous cuts about the head and face, one of which required ten stitches. His companions were James Cronin of 62 Lincoln road, Newton Highlands, Francis P. Hawley of 66 Green street, Newton, and John R. Manning of Walnut street, Wellesley. Hawley was cut about the head and Cronin was believed to have suffered internal injuries. Manning refused to have a severe cut on his face treated and was removed to a cell in the police station. A Metropolitan officer was stationed at the hospital to guard the other three men. At the police station Manning still refused medical aid from a physician that was called.

Just before the accident occurred Gustavus Clapp of Framingham Centre who was driving the opposite way was obliged to drive into some bushes to avoid colliding with the Cannon car. The latter, owned by Della Cannon, a sister of the driver, was demolished in the crash. Monday morning Manning was arraigned in court and an additional charge of profanity was brought against him. His case was then continued until September 3.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMS

Entrance examinations for the Newton High School will be held on Friday, September 5, in the library of the Classical Building, beginning at 8:30 A. M.

HALLORAN—BURKE

Miss Helen Marie Burke, daughter of Mr. Thomas Burke of Shirley street, was married on last Sunday afternoon at St. Bernard's Church to Mr. John Francis Halloran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Halloran of Walnut Park, Newton.

Rev. M. J. Danahy officiated and the nuptial music was played by Miss Esther Costello who accompanied George Dolan who rendered, "Ave Maria," and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride wore a gown of egg shell crepe with picture hat to match, trimmed with salmon and she carried a bouquet of roses and lily of the valley.

Mrs. Cathryn White, sister of the groom, attended the bride as matron of honor, wore a gown of pink georgette with picture hat of egg shell rimmed with pink. She carried a bouquet of opelia roses. Mr. Thomas Burke, brother of the bride, was best man.

A reception was held at the Kenmore Hotel where the couple were assisted in receiving by the bride's father and the parents of the groom.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Halloran will reside in Brookline.

POLICE NEWS

Russell P. Collins of Cambridge was fined $5 in court on Tuesday on a charge of speeding. He was arrested by Patrolman Judson Sartwell Tuesday morning.

Fire Destroys Large Gravel Plant

Blaze at Lower Falls On Sunday
Attracts Many

A two-story wooden building and a sand hopper at the plant of the Riverside Sand and Gravel Company off Grove street, Newton Lower Falls were destroyed by fire of undetermined origin Sunday afternoon. Damage was estimated at $16,000. The huge clouds of dense black smoke could be seen for miles and several thousands of automobilists were attracted to the scene.

The fire was discovered by the crew of a passing train on the Riverside circuit of the B. & A. and numerous blasts on the whistle were blown to spread the alarm. When the firemen arrived the blaze had gained considerable headway and a hard battle ensued before it was brought under control. Several nearby sheds used for the manufacture of cement blocks were ignited by the flames.

The fire was discovered about three o'clock and the all out signal was not sounded for several hours. Officials of the department are conducting an investigation to determine the cause of the blaze.

Sparks from the chimney of the factory of the Rohrer Co., of 149 California street, caused a blaze on the roof of the building last Saturday morning. Box 246 was sounded at 5:56 The fire was extinguished with little difficulty.

CITY HALL NEWS

Three claims have been filed against the city as the result of recent collisions between city-owned automobiles and private cars. Marjorie Corliss, by Carl W. Corliss, of Gammons road, Waban, is trying to recover for damages to her automobile received in a collision with a water department truck at Langley road and Centre st., Newton Centre on June 16. James Fraser of Cambridge has brought claims for personal injuries to his daughter received in a collision between the automobile in which she was riding and a garbage truck on Pearl street, Newton on June 30.

Catherine and John McLaughlin of 76 Clinton street, Newton and Mrs. Catherine Shea of Woburn desire remuneration for personal injuries and damages to an automobile received when the car in which they were riding collided with a street department truck on July 4th at the corner of Linwood avenue, and Crafts street, Newtonville.

Street Commissioner, George E. Stuart, has been invited to attend a delegation of the Permanent International Association of Road Congresses to be held in Washington, October 6th to 11th. This will include official delegates of fifty nations and the leading highway authorities of the world.

Y. M. C. A.

John Andrews, associate boys' secretary, has left on a two weeks' vacation. Mr. Robert Ferguson is ably handling the department during his absence.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

RUSSELL PITCHES NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME

Joseph Russell, star twirler of the Newton Upper Falls A. A., pitched the first full-nine-inning no-hit no-run game of the Hub Twilight League last Sunday when the local nine shut out Hyde Park, 3 to 0, at the Upper Falls diamond on Sunday afternoon. Russell passed but two batters during the game but one of these reached third base. Corrigan, Hyde Park hurler, opposed Russell and lost his first game in seven starts although he pitched good ball allowing but eight hits.

Newton scored two runs in the second inning. Gumprecht reached first on an error and scored on Simpson's triple. Simpson scored on Stanton's single. In the seventh Stanton scored the third run. He singled and counted when Russell hit the two batters who were on base. Hyde Park catcher, who was going fast. The Knights of the Holy Cross Fire and Drum Corps will lead the delegation to Braves Field. Special busses will be on hand to take the fans to the game en masse. Ten thousand Cronin Day buttons with Cronin's picture on them are now on sale and may be obtained from the office of the committee. Forty young ladies from Newton will sell these buttons at the field on Cronin Day where it is expected that the remainder of the lot will be sold out.

MORE PLANS MADE FOR "CRONIN DAY"

The heavy rainfall of last Saturday afternoon caused the postponement of the baseball game at Victory Field. Nonantum between the Nonantum A. A. and the Newton Police nine, leaders of the Greater Boston Police League for the benefit of the Cronin Day fund. This game will be played tomorrow afternoon on the same diamond. A large attendance is expected to be present and to aid materially to the fund which has now reached the $600 mark.

George Brophy, well-known West Newton merchant, and John Fitzgerald are new members of the committee which is headed by Thomas Lyons, playground commissioner.

Tickets for the doubleheader at Braves Field, Sept. 6th when Bill Cronin, Newton youth, and Graves' catcher, will be honored are going fast. The Knights of the Holy Cross Fire and Drum Corps will lead the delegation to Braves Field. Special busses will be on hand to take the fans to the game en masse. Ten thousand Cronin Day buttons with Cronin's picture on them are now on sale and may be obtained from the office of the committee. Forty young ladies from Newton will sell these buttons at the field on Cronin Day where it is expected that the remainder of the lot will be sold out.

SPORT NOTES

Tennis Tourney Postponed

The heavy rain last Saturday caused a postponement of the semi-final matches of the two-state Y. M. C. A. tennis tourney at the courts of the local Y. They will be played tomorrow with teams from Springfield, Boston, Salem and Providence competing.

Juniors Win—Seniors Lose

The Y. M. C. A. junior baseball team defeated the Endicott A. C. of Dedham this week while the senior team met defeat in a game with the Belmont Independents.

California Wins

Malcolm T. Hill and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., Waban cousins and noted tennis players, were eliminated from the Newport Casino invitation doubles tournament on Wednesday in a third round match. Keith Gledhill and Ellsworth Vines, young California stars, put the local pair out after a hard five set struggle, 3-6, 3-6, 6-4, 6-0, 6-4.

Twirls No-Hit Game

Harry Houlihan of the New Centre team in the local twilight league pitched a no-hit no-run game against Upper Falls last week Thursday evening. He struck out ten batters and gave but two walks. His batting also aided in the 4 to 0 victory. He collected two hits, one a double, to drive in two of Newton Centre's runs.

Powers Now With Orleans

Johnny Powers, who has played with a number of clubs this season, is now playing first base for Orleans in the Cape Cod league where he is hitting and fielding his customary style. Starting with the Nashua Club until the New England league broke up Powers then went with Malden in the Greater Boston Twilight league from which he jumped to Portland of the same circuit. In between times he has played with the Waltham City Club and turned down an offer to go West to one of the Detroit "farms" in organized baseball. He caught on with Orleans recently and thus far boasts a batting average of over .500.

Shares Doubles Title

Miss Virginia Rice, former Newton Centre girl, and Miss Clara Zinke of Cincinnati won the Eastern grass courts women's doubles title by defeating the Misses Hilleary and Andrews in the final round of the tourney at Rye, N. Y., on Sunday.

EGYPTIAN TO REOPEN

Brighton's million-dollar wonder theatre, the new Publix-Egyptian, will re-open on Saturday August 30th with an entire new policy of first-run double feature attractions. Publix-Paramount, the new operators, have made other innovations and improvements in the new screen and sound projection methods placing it on par with the best in the country. The opening attraction for August 30 to September 3 will be "Holiday"—the sensational picture that has been a tremendous attraction all over the country. The stars of the picture are Ann Harding, Mary Astor, Robert Ames, Edward Everett Horton, and Hedda Hopper. On the same program will be shown Jack Mulhall in "The Fall Guy," latest sound News and other shorts. Shows, starting at 2 and 8 p. m., will be changed Sundays and Thursdays. Saturdays and holidays the show will be continuous from 1 to 11 p. m. and on Sundays from 3 to 11 p. m.

ADVERTISES LOCAL PRODUCT

Local radio listeners will be interested to learn that the familiar Eveready Hour, each Tuesday evening, advertises a locally manufactured product. This hour is sponsored by Eveready Raytheon Tubes, product of the National Carbon Co., a subsidiary of the Union Carbide and Carbon Corporation. The distinctive four-pillar tubes are manufactured in Newton where part of the old Saxony Mills are now being occupied. The plant was moved there about a year ago from Cambridge.

Skilled job workers of Newton and surrounding cities and towns operate the amazingly intricate machines by which the tubes are created. Huge testing machines subject each tube to many hours of testing before it is accepted and wrapped for marketing. Long lines of employees' automobiles parked before the factory gates on Chapel street testify to the prosperity of the industry.

Gasoline Consumption Increases

For every person that was killed by automobiles in this state last year Massachusetts motorists drove safely 7,695,504 miles.

This picture of the actual highway performance of motor vehicles in Massachusetts is made available for the first time as the result of returns from the gasoline tax compiled and analyzed by the registry of motor vehicles and the governor's committee on street and highway safety. Heretofore there have been local figures showing the ratio of automobile deaths to population and to the number of cars registered, but there has been very little data to indicate just how far those vehicles have been driven.

In the new computations of gasoline consumption and mileage Massachusetts is seen as maintaining the same comparatively good record that was revealed in the statistics previously assembled. The automobile death rate in Massachusetts for 1929 was 1.5 per million gallons of gasoline consumed. This compares with an estimated rate for the entire country of 2.8.

The death rate per million gallons of gasoline fluctuated irregularly month by month during the year. It did appear, however, that the rate tended to be higher in the mid-winter months, and in both August and September. The monthly figures were: January, 2.1; February, 1.9; March, 1.5; April, 1.4; May, 1.1; June, 1.5; July, 1.1; August, 1.7; September, 1.8; October, 1.4; November 2.0; December, 1.7.

During the first half of this year the motorists of Massachusetts used approximately 10 per cent., or 21,500,000 gallons, more gasoline than in the first half of 1929. It is expected that the second half of the year, which includes the more active motoring season, will show an increase of between 10 and 15 per cent. over the corresponding period last year. Up to July 1, however, Massachusetts had been holding its own in keeping fatalities down to the same mark as 1929, so that the figures are consequently likely to show a considerably higher mileage per fatality this year than last.

PARAMOUNT—NEWTON

Norma Shearer is coming to the Paramount Theatre Sunday for four days in "Let Us Be Gay."

This is Miss Shearer's fifth talking picture and is regarded by critics as the smartest performance of her career.

Robert Z. Leonard directed the new Shearer film.

The story is from the sophisticated stage play of the same name in which Francine Larrimore scored on the New York stage. It is by Rachel Crothers and was adapted for the screen by Frances Marion.

Playing opposite the star is Rod La Rocque.

On the same program will be a Zane Gray story, "The Border Legion" with Richard Arlen, Jack Holt and Fay Wray. This is a story following the Civil War when a band of outlaws known as "The Border Legion" terrorized the frontier country in the South West. Jack Holt as the bandit leader of the notorious bandits is excellently cast.

For the last half of the week will be seen William Powell in "Shadow of the Law" in this picture Mr. Powell is accused wrongly of a crime which he is supposed to commit but as the story goes on he acquits himself in a capable way. Opposite Mr. Powell is Marion Shilling, and Natalie Moorhead. On the same program will be seen Helen Kane in "Dangerous Nan McGrew," queen of the "Boop-Boop-doo" who forgets who gave her $40,000 in New York a few days ago but has never forgotten how to put over her character in any picture she has ever played in. The Paramount Theatre together with the Merchants in Newton are planning a "Fall Trade Week" from Sept. 1 to 6 which promises to liven up business by buying now. It is endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce, Business Men's Association, and Mayor Weeks.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

A charming picture of children feeding the swans at Jamaica Pond attracts your attention to the week-end events at the Children's Museum of Boston in September listed on a flier as follows:

Week-end Talks for September

Saturdays at 3:00

Sept. 6.—A half hour with the Museum pets. Illustrated by specimens from the "live museum".

Sept. 16.—Grand Canyon of Arizona. Colored motion picture showing the "Rim of the Eternal".

Sept. 20.—Summer Experiences. Short nature talks on observations during vacation days by young museum enthusiasts.

Sept. 27.—Old Mexico of Today. Motion pictures giving us glimpses of Indian families, Mexico's "Indian Venice", etc.

Sundays at 3:30

Sept. 14.—Australia's Wild North-west. A hazardous 6,000 mile journey along this wild coast.

Sept. 28.—Life Along the Penobscot in Film and Story. A narrative by Mrs. Lincoln Fairley. Filmed by Miss Margaret Olmstead.

Admission is free. The Children's Museum is off Jamaicaaway in Olmstead Park. Take Jamaica Plain car from Park or Dudley street to Moraine street. Mildred E. Manter, Director.

The Museum continues to attract visitors in large numbers—the past week's record showing over 3,600 visitors. The daily motion picture talks for next week include "Through the Norway of America," a beautiful water cruise from Vancouver to Prince Rupert and "In the Wake of Capt. Cook," an airplane trip to Nootka Sound, on the northern Pacific Coast of Canada. The Museum is open daily from 9 to 5; Sundays 1:30 to 5.

IT'S WISE TO  CHOOSE A SIX

Announcing a new production record

2,000,000 Chevrolet Sixes now on the road

Since January, 1929, Chevrolet has produced and sold over 2,000,000 six-cylinder automobiles—nearly five times as many as any other manufacturer has ever built in an equal length of time.

These 2,000,000 buyers have chosen Chevrolet because it offers many desirable qualities not obtainable in any other car so low in price—

—the smoothness, silence and flexibility of a modern six-cylinder engine—the comfort and roadability of a modern, full-length chassis—and the style, safety and distinction of bodies by Fisher.

Yet, despite these fine car advantages, the Chevrolet Six is unusually economical. Its gas, oil, tire and upkeep economy is unsurpassed. And

SIX-CYLINDER SMOOTHNESS AT LOW COST

POLICE NEWS

A choice of a sentence of six months in the house of correction on the charge of assault and battery on an officer, or the restitution of $24 for damage he did to the coat of Patrolman William P. Walsh was one of the sentences imposed on Julius Cottons, 49, of 220 California street, Newton, in the Newton court on Monday. The assault occurred Saturday night as the police officer was attempting to arrest Cottons on a charge of drunkenness. Several blows were struck during the fray and Walsh's uniform coat was badly torn. Cottons was given a suspended sentence to the State Farm on the drunkenness charge and the six months' sentence was suspended on condition that restitution be made. Judge Bacon informed Cottons that the sentences were suspended because of the court's desire that the officer be reimbursed for the damage to his clothes.

Charles F. Eagan, 38 years old, no home, was arrested last week Thursday night by Patrolman Maguire on a charge of drunkenness. The police also held a warrant for non-support of his wife and children and in court on Friday he was charged on both counts. On the non-support charge he was given a six-month sentence in the House of Correction and a suspended sentence of one month on the charge of drunkenness.

Joseph Sokol and Alexander Dolth, the pair of youths who were arrested recently for breaking into the Charles River Country Club, were given suspended sentences in the juvenile court on Friday. They were also ordered to make restitution of $15 each for the articles stolen from the clubhouse.

Douglas Quinn, 17, of Allston and Timothy Fay, 19, of Brighton were fined $10 each in court on Friday on charges of malicious destruction of property. The two youths are alleged to have made considerable "whoops" in a Newton restaurant recently. They are alleged to have thrown ketchup bottles and other restaurant property around.

Fines of $10 each on charges of speeding were levied on Joseph J. Peltz, Lindsay P. Hutton, Jr., of Cambridge, Alexander McIsaac and James D. Rogers of Roxbury at Friday's session of the court. John J. Sullivan of 12 Chandler street, Upper Falls was fined $10 for parking without lights and Frank L. Farrell, Jr., was fined $5 for driving without proper lights. A lower plate of false teeth is awaiting its owner in the lost and found department at police headquarters. It was found on Waltham street, near River street, last week Thursday by O. F. Keefe of Watertown, who turned it over to the police.

Patrolman Hoyt found a four-year old boy at the corner of River and Lexington streets, West Newton, last week Thursday evening. The lad was found to be Amato De Neo of 158 Charles street, Waltham, who had strayed from his home. His father was notified and the latter called at headquarters to take the lad home. Patrick Driscoll, 61, of 10 Cliff road, Upper Falls and a friend were arrested on a charge of drunkenness by Motorcycle Officer Alfred Hammill. While awaiting the coming of the patrolman Driscoll made a break for liberty, and raced down to the bank of the river off Oak street and plunged into the water. Officer Hammill pursued his quarry and had to wade into the river to pull him out.

At Saturday's session of the court John W. Shork of Brighton and John Lapinsky of Lawrence were exonerated from blame for the death of William P. Brady, 58, of Falmouth street, Boston in an automobile accident on Commonwealth avenue, near Lake street, on July 7. The two youths were charged with driving to endanger the lives of the public. While Shork was the actual operator of the car which struck Brady, who was crossing the street, Lapinsky was the licensed operator in charge of the car. Shork was being taught to drive by Lapinsky who had received his license only a few days previously. After a lengthy hearing Judge P. Sarsfield Cuniff found both youths not guilty. Brady was employed as a gardener on the Liggett estate in Chestnut Hill.

George F. Ryan, 34 years, no home, refused to pay a taxicab fare Saturday night and got himself into a lot of trouble. He was brought to headquarters by the taxi driver and booked on a charge of drunkenness. A warrant charging him with neglect to provide for his wife and child was also served on him. In court on Monday the third count of evading his taxi fare was charged against him. On this charge he was fined $20 from which he appealed. He was committed to the house of correction on the non-support charge, while the complaint of drunkenness was placed on file.

Kurt Schorr of Brighton was fined $10 in the Newton court on Wednesday for ejecting William J. Burke from his store in Newton Centre. Burke charged that Schorr assaulted him during an argument over a tire and tube in Schorr's establishment. Schorr, testifying in his own behalf, denied approaching within several feet of Burke. An employee of Schorr's called to the stand stated that Schorr merely "bumped" Burke. When asked by Judge Bacon how many times the employee said he was too busy with his own work to pay attention to the quarrel and did not notice,

New Orleans Conducts

Business Over Coffee

Few affairs of importance have been discussed in New Orleans except over a cup of coffee, writes Ralph A. Graves in the National Geographic Magazine. Here, as in the Near East, business seems to function more easily to the accompaniment of sips of the bitter black French drip than in any other, and the most harassed executives will pause for ten minutes in mid-morning, leave their offices and go to the restaurant or the hotel for a cup of coffee—nothing more.

On the top floor of one of the most progressive banks in the state—and in countless other establishments, no doubt—there is a special kitchen and dining room to which the employees retire when the bank closes at three; after their cup of coffee they return to their desks.

In one big manufacturing plant every workman brings with him each morning a small coffee pot which he deposits under his pet steam-heating valve, so that as the condensing hot water drips constantly, he provides himself with small quaffs of the beverage throughout the day.

Scientists Find Many

Metals in Human Body

Such figurative expressions as "a heart of gold," "the iron fist," and "with leaden feet" are recalled by the recent investigation of two French chemists. Through spectroscopic examination of the ashes of human organs, says Popular Science Monthly, they found there are copper, aluminum and a little silver in the heart; copper, aluminum and traces of the rare metal, titanium, in the lungs; cobalt, nickel, lead and silver in the pancreas; copper, lead and silver in the liver; aluminum, silver and copper in the kidneys and the nearby adrenal glands, and silver, tin and copper in the spleen.

The brain appeared to be rich in tin, and this metal was also found in the thyroid gland, in the neck, which also contained silver, copper, lead and zinc.

Evil Omen of Friday

Friday the thirteenth has long been regarded as an evil omen. The idea is 2,000 years old. Jesus was crucified on Friday. At the "Last Supper" there were thirteen at the table. Therefore, Friday the thirteenth means double trouble, and probably will as long as the Christian religion endures. In connection with this, it is said to be unlucky for thirteen people to sit down to the table for dinner for one of them will die within a year and all will be unhappy. Doctor Kitchener once remarked that there was one case when it was really unlucky for thirteen people to sit down to dinner together, and that was when there was only food enough for twelve.

White Bread Wholesome

That white bread is a wholesome food is the opinion expressed by specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture and five nationally known authorities on nutritional problems. The views of this group, headed by Dr. A. E. Woods, director of scientific work of the department, are expressed in part in a statement based on the scientific facts regarding breads made of white flour and of whole wheat flour: White and whole wheat breads are both wholesome foods. They are among the most important and cheapest sources of energy and protein in the diet.

Color in the Sea

The most beautiful of tropical sea-folk is the moonfish, often called the ghostfish because of its paper-thin form of a silvery color. The angel-fish is as gaily colored as the rainbow with long trailing fins of contrasting tints. The squirrel fish flaunts a deep coral shade and great dark eyes. The parrot fish attracts attention as much by its gorgeous colorings of turquoise blue, plum purple, or bright green as by the peculiar bony beak.

The Philosopher

"Yes," he said, "I think the world is getting better."

"Am I ask why?" she answered.

For a moment he twisted the ring she had just handed back to him, held it in such a position as to make it flash brightly.

Then he replied:

"This is the first time I have ever had an engagement ring returned without a fight or protest."

Flowers in Japan

The arrangement of flowers is traditionally an art in Japan, and even developed into a philosophy in the Fifteenth century. The basic idea is to reproduce in the arrangement the effect of growing plants, and also to reflect the season or the occasion. Certain colors are considered especially suitable for certain occasions.

An uneven number of flowers in a display is considered lucky and more true to nature than an even number.

Light Stops Trains

Demonstration of a method of halting trains by the action of a beam of light, was made with a small model recently. A small hand lamp casts a ray which strikes a light cell on the front of the engine. The cell then causes the brakes of the train to be applied through the action of relays set in operation by the effect of the light upon the cell.

Do You Know?

That a Newton woman is director of one of the most unique, alive, and fascinating educational projects anywhere about—the Children's Museum of Boston. Her name is Miss Mildred E. Manter, of 58 Erie avenue, Newton Highlands. For ten years prior to her connection with the Children's Museum, she headed the Mathematics Department of the Ralph Waldo Emerson School, Newton.

In an address delivered in June before the 25th Conference of Museums at Buffalo, New York, entitled "The Underlying Spirit of a Live Children's Museum-Partnership," Miss Manter described the spirit and work of the Children's Museum, which is the first of its kind in New England, and the second in the country. She said in part:

"The value of a children's museum depends less on the extent and importance of its collections than on an intangible quality of aliveness that renders it adaptable to a child's needs, accessible to his grasp.

"I want to take you for a few moments to a children's museum, the Children's Museum of Boston, where the underlying spirit behind everything that goes on is self-direction, ownership, partnership—a quality achieved at no cost to dignity, sound Museum policies or careful scientific installation. Because so much of the initiative and activity is in the actual hands of its children, our Museum, staffed by an average of only eight persons, is able to meet the onslaught of nearly 130,000 visitors in the course of a year, and to plan and carry out a program that keeps the museum humming all day long and every day.

"You cannot stay long here without catching the fundamental spirit of the place—ownership, partnership. How is it achieved? In many ways, but, perhaps I had better select two—the Museum League and the publication by the children of a magazine that is an expression of Museum spirit and an outgrowth of Museum experiences.

"The Museum League is composed of children who are earning points for a Museum League diploma and pin. If a child has done that, then he has the proud title of Junior Decent and tries for the even more ambitious title of Advanced Junior Decent. It is indeed a proud and happy day when he receives recognition of good work done in the shape of his Advanced Junior Decent pin and even prouder and happier when he is awarded that coveted Advanced Junior Decent diploma. Points may be earned in various ways, such as attendance at the Museum talks, winning review lecture contests, perfect attendance and excellence in club work, worthwhile reading, general personal improvement, bringing in interesting specimens for study, etc.

"In order to become an advanced Junior Decent the applicant must pass both a written and an oral examination in the plant and tree life in the Park. The Museum—its general purposes, the exhibits, etc.

"Now about the children's magazine.

which is the outgrowth of an idea of the Exchange Bureau members that they, to quote the youngsters, 'should publish some sort of a paper to tell about the Museum, and to familiarize the members of the Museum Exchange Bureau with each other's ability, work and spirit.' It started with a paper of nine mimeographed sheets, on a strictly business basis, without asking financial aid from the Museum. From the beginning, the children planned, edited and financed this project. A member of the Museum staff is present at the weekly meetings, to act as advisor when needed. Today, this nature magazine known as 'Our Hobbies,' is in its third year and holds a unique place among museum publications. It is a well-printed magazine of some 25-30 pages, interestingly illustrated, and contains articles, stories, poems and accounts of Museum activities, all written by Museum boys and girls. It has an international circulation, going to schools, libraries, museums and individuals of all ages in this country as well as in Europe.

"These are only two of the activities by which the underlying spirit of the Museum, self-direction, ownership, partnership—is fostered and developed.

"There are a great many things about education that we are even yet only beginning to learn. But one truth is established: A child can be taught only what he wants to learn; the cap of knowledge forced on an unwilling head may prove only an extinguisher, putting out the vital spark of curiosity that is the beginning of the flame of life. The Children's Museum of Boston is built on this truth; from it springs inevitably the long list of self-directed activities, the pride of ownership, the partnership spirit that makes a children's Museum so vital a supplement to our homes and schools, so splendid a seedling-ground for the Agassiz and Audubons and scientific pioneers and the great democratic citizenry of Tomorrow."

We would like to enter a strong protest against the amount of jazz given on the leading broadcasting systems nowadays. We cannot understand why these howlings are classed as "music." Only this week the beautiful and harmonious "End of a Perfect Day" was immediately followed by a blatant, hideous piece of jazz. With so much really good music available, there is certainly room to curtail the jazz stuff.

While at first glance the bald statement made by Capt. Parker, Registrar of motor vehicles, before the Rotary club that "there is no excuse for an automobile accident" may seem too sweeping, a careful analysis of such accidents will reveal that somewhere along the line, even when the victim was himself entirely innocent, something happened for which there could be no excuse.

Mr. Draper asks to be sent to Washington to stop the illegal traffic in liquor. This is a matter which has engaged the best brains of the country for many years and it is a job altogether too large for Mr. Draper to handle. It certainly will not be solved by authorizing the "legal" sale of intoxicating liquor.

Exhibitions such as the one given Wednesday on the Newton Centre playground, show that the playground work here in Newton is well worth while. Congratulations to Superintendent Hermann and his capable corps of assistants.

We note that memorial exercises are being held today for Sacco and Vanzetti, but we fail to hear of any sympathy expressed for the family of the paymaster who was killed by these men.

The Badge of The Badger

(Editor's Note—Last week we told of the 1930 convention and entertainment program of the National Editorial Association in Milwaukee and some of the facts about that city. This week our article will deal with Wisconsin, the state, and with the first few days of an educational tour to several outstanding points of interest.)

Before taking up the narrative of our tour of Wisconsin it would not be amiss to acquaint our readers with a word picture of Wisconsin as a state. First of all the Badger State is virtually the heart of the continent situated in almost the geographical center of North America. It is also near the centers of population, of agriculture, of manufacturing, of transportation, of marketing, and of the tourist business of the continent. Wisconsin is the divide between two of the great river systems in any continent—the Mississippi and the St. Lawrence. The state is practically surrounded with water being bounded on the west by the Mississippi River, the north by Lake Superior, the east by Lake Michigan and fifty miles from the southern boundary is the Illinois canal connecting Lake Michigan and the Mississippi River. The deepening of the latter to a uniform channel depth of nine feet would make every community on the river an inland port while the opening of the rapids of the St. Lawrence to make navigation possible for ocean liners would make every harbor on the Great Lakes an ocean port. These waterway developments would give Wisconsin three outlets to the sea.

Wisconsin is about 50 per cent. agricultural and 50 per cent. industrial in nature. Industry in the state is greatly diversified, including twenty-six distinct types such as fruit growing, dairying, general agriculture, fur farming, commercial fishing, lumbering, mining, ship building, and the manufacture of products ranging from scientific instruments to automobiles and mill machinery and including everyday necessities like furniture, knit goods, paper and pulp, agricultural implements, tractors, road machinery, cooking utensils, and the like. Because of such diversity of industry national business depressions do not affect Wisconsin as greatly as in most other states. In its financial history there have been fewer commercial bank failures than is the average for the country. Only one state surpasses it in home ownership, sixty-four per cent. of all families owning their homes. Comparatively speaking Wisconsin is a state of constant prosperity with a total annual income of well over three billions of dollars a year. It is one of two states in the country that has no bonded indebtedness, meeting all current expenses and improvement costs out of revenue from taxation. Its system of taxation, embracing both a property tax and an income and inheritance tax, have advanced its progress. At present there are many state and national income tax laws in effect throughout the world based on the Wisconsin system.

Wisconsin has about 200,000 farms, representing an investment of about $2,500,000,000 and an income of about $500,000,000. Nearly eighty-five per cent. of these farms are owned by those who operate them. Many of these farms are modernized to degrees ranging from 90 per cent with automobiles to 17 per cent with electric lights. Wisconsin produces more tame hay than any other state as well as 15 millions of dollars in barley, 37 millions in wheat and 250 millions in rye.

The fur industry of Wisconsin is one of its oldest. During the reign of the Indian the state was alive with all kinds of fur bearing animals. With settlement by the white man the natural wild life disappeared and some types of animals were almost exterminated. About twenty years ago fur farms were established to raise fur-bearing animals in captivity and today this is the most profitable of all live stock industries in the state.

Wisconsin mines lead, zinc, iron, and copper to a total value of more than nineteen millions of dollars. Building and monumental stone are produced to the extent of more than four million more with building limestone leading this group. The zinc mines, located largely in the western part of the state produce three millions in income. Commercial lime, mostly from the eastern part, has an annual value of about two million. Clay products from the southeastern part add another million dollars while lead, from the southwestern part, produces about a quarter of a million more.

Wisconsin leads the world in the manufacture of aluminum cooking utensils—it was a pioneer in this industry. It has sixteen aluminum manufacturing plants. The state also ranks high in the automobile industry with fifteen plants manufacturing autos and trucks and forty-three plants manufacturing auto bodies and parts. The largest of its two passenger automobile plants are those of the Nash Motors Company with plants at Kenosha, Racine and Milwaukee which turn out 1900 cars a day and employ over 15,000 people. Fifty-one mills turn out about sixty million dollars worth of knitted goods each year. Silk hosiery is first among the items produced. In the production of wood pulp and paper the Badger State ranks second in the nation with a total of more than $122,000,000 annually. Every type of manufactured paper from tissue paper to paper board is made. The success of industrial Wisconsin is testified to by the fact that it has more advertisers in magazines of national circulation. Its share of national advertising is probably greater in proportion to its population than that of any other state in the Union. In addition to the Nash Motors a few other national advertisers might be mentioned—Parker Pens, Carnation Condensed Milk, Cudahy Packing Products, Kohler Plumbing, Mirro Aluminum, Holeproof Hosiery, Phoenix Hosiery, Palmolive Soap, Johnson's Floor Wax, Aristocrat Writing Paper and Simmons Beds.

Five important factors have combined to develop Wisconsin to such a remarkable extent in an industrial way. First, most of the essential raw products are easily available. Second, the centers of population and markets are near. Third, highway, waterway, railway and airway systems provide efficient means of transportation. Fourth, an excellent supply of efficient, skilled labor is available. Fifth, a low-priced dependable supply of power—water, gas, and electricity is close at hand. During 1930 the various gas, electric, and transportation companies are spending forty millions of dollars to improve their present service and provide for future additional business.

In several other industrial ways the Badger State may be said to have badges of even greater distinction. These we will touch upon as we come in more intimate contact with them on our trip through the state. Wisconsin also has a rich historic background. Its territory has been ruled by Spain, France, England, and the United States. Following the American Revolution the Badger State became part of the Northwest Territory of the United States. On May 29, 1848, it was admitted to the Union as the thirtieth state.

Nicolet, Joliet, Marquette, Duluth, and Radisson are some of the romantic figures of Wisconsin's early history. Jean Nicolet, in 1634, was the first white trader to settle there. The most interesting historical spots are the Apostle Islands in Lake Superior where the Ojibway Indians had founded their empire before Columbus discovered America. Over ten thousand Indians still inhabit the state, living on the several Government reservations. Four of these areas are occupied by the Ojibway tribes who are better known as Chippewas. They follow the customs and traditions of their ancestors more closely than the Potawatomis, Menominees or Oneidas which are also represented in large numbers. The latter live in quite modern fashion.

Leaving Milwaukee immediately after breakfast on Thursday morning by special train our party began its northward tour. Our objective was Kilbourn, about a hundred miles northwest of Milwaukee. Passing through Portage a short while before reaching Kilbourn, we were told that this was one of the oldest settlements in the state. Portage is so called because the Indians and white traders portaged between the Fox and Wisconsin rivers here. In 1673 Joliet and Marquette discovered the Fox-Wisconsin waterway between Lake Michigan and the Mississippi.

Shortly before noon our train pulled into Kilbourn where we were entertained at luncheon by the Dells Hotel Association. Although Kilbourn, located on the bank of the Wisconsin river has a population of but 1500 over a hundred times that number of tourists are attracted there each year. The attraction is the Dells of Wisconsin—beautiful, most unusual, world famous science wonder, said to be more visited than any other in the world. Truly, Nature has wrought a masterpiece here. For generations of Red Men it was a place of fear, of wonder, of ceremonial rites. Now it is a rendezvous of the White Man who comes to view its wonders and to amaze its strange and unusual charm. The Dells have been formed by the action of water, wind and weather upon the soft sandstone which belongs to a much later geological age than the old quartzized underlying it. Glaciers blocked the old river bed and caused the river to cut a new channel in the sandstone. Some of nature's most remarkable formations are found here, along the silver strand of the walled-in river or up the narrow canyons and gulches which lead like labyrinths into it. In these gulches delicate ferns are found in more than two dozen varieties. Trees seem to grow right out of the rocks and tower high above. Various rock formations are well-described by the names they carry such as Stand Rock, the Devil's Elbow, the Hornet's Nest, Witches Gulch, the Lower Jaw and the Navy Yard.

Due to the fact that the water level in the river was nine feet above normal, at the time of our visit original plans for our trip had to be altered. After luncheon our hosts conveyed us to the upper end of the Dells. Entering the rock formation which continually increases in height as we descended the sloping trail in Witches Gulch we pass through Spooky Lane. Around the bend were the Giant Arm Chair, the Witches Falls, the Witches Bath Tub and the Whirlpool Chambers. As we walked down the gulch we exclaimed at the beauty of the spot but our exclamations were but murmurs in contrast with our response to the wonders we saw later. A few minutes' walk brought us to the boat landing.

Motor launches, carrying about twenty passengers each, and accompanied by a guide who explained the various points of interest, awaited us. Crossing the river, which is about a mile wide at this point we landed near the base of Stand Rock, a most unique formation. The rock is 54 feet high, surmounted by a three-foot slab approximately twenty feet square, the top of which is level with the bank from which it is separated by about eight feet. The base of the pillar is nearly thirty feet through and the top about ten feet. A trail leads up the cliff to the top of the bank and to other interesting formations. Luncheon Hall the Devil's Anvil, the Hornet's Nest, the Devil's Fireplace, and Toad Stool rock are a few. One of the great attractions near here is an Indian pagan preserving the old Indian customs and given in a natural amphitheatre by a tribe of Winnebago Indians. Returning to our boats again we started down the river with the swift current of the current steadily increasing as we entered the Upper Jaws.

Our guides point out Arch Cove, Rudes Glen and Steamboat Rock. The latter, the largest rock island in the Dells, being 140 feet long, 100 feet wide, 40 feet high with perpendicular sides and shaped as its name indicates. While passing through the Lover's Lane as the narrow channel between the island and one of the river's banks is known those of the party who were in our launch were given a thrill that was not part of the program. The swift current swung the stern of our boat well over to the bank as we made the turn into Lover's Lane. As our helmsman endeavored to head the boat downstream again the current caught us from the other side. In less time than it takes to tell the launch was dashed against the perpendicular rocks with a resounding crash. Fortunately the boat was of staunch construction and no damage resulted.

After getting back into the main channel we came to the Narrows where all of Wisconsin's largest river passes through a gorge only fifty-two feet wide. The depth of the water here is about one hundred and fifty feet and in the spring somewhat more than that, giving use to the expression "the river on edge." Just as we entered this walled up gorge the river makes a right angle turn to add more thrills to our exciting adventure. The bend is known as the Devil's Elbow, named by the raftsmen because of the great danger in rounding the bend while rafting logs.

The next major point of interest was the Navy Yard, where a number of rocks, resemble a fleet of vessels at anchor with bows projecting into the stream. Further on, after passing numerous other formations, the river narrows somewhat to form the Lower Jaws, or the Gateway to the Dells. On the right bank is Romance Cliff and on the left, High Rock. Just ahead on the left bank are the Swallows' Nests where thousands of swallows have built their nests in the holes of the sandstone rock along the bank by the action of the water. Shortly afterwards our boat docked at Kilbourn. The sublime grandeur of the Dells, its incomparable scenic beauty made their indelible impression upon us. Words cannot describe it adequately. Comparisons are in vain. Yet the Dells are to Wisconsin what the Old Man of the Mountain and the White Mountain region are to New Hampshire—impressive—awe-inspiring—treasure lands of beauty.

There are many other points of interest in this section of the state which time did not permit our visiting. The Lower Dells situated below Kilbourn, although not as extensive as the Upper Dells, contain interesting formations such as Lone Rock, Sugar Bowl, the Inkstand. A few miles south is Devil's Lake. Here there is a state park of remarkable beauty and rich in geological wonders. It is enclosed on three sides by high bluffs towering as high as 600 feet above the water. The lake itself, about 12 miles long, has no visible outlet, glacial drifts having filled up the older river gorges. In this section there are many Indian mounds of various types, some of prehistoric ages. They represent the clan symbols of the Indians buried there and are frequently in the shape of a bird, bear, turtle, panther or other animal. About twenty miles from Kilbourn is a Man Mound—the only one of its kind in the world. It is said to represent an ancient deity or noted chief and has been described as a "great figure striding westward." It is 214 feet long and 48 feet wide.

The Dells of Wisconsin have been called the summer playground of the Middle West but they are not the only attractive spots in this wondrous state. Four and a half million people a year is Wisconsin's tourist record. One famous visitor has described a trip there as having "a surprise at every turn in the road and the road turns all the time." Some of the mineral springs such as White Rock, Chippewa, and Waukesha are world known. Its lakes are for the most part bordered with shady forests and pebbly beaches. One of the advertising slogans is "mighty rivers, ten thousand lakes and the Great Lakes." Wisconsin not only offers beauty to the traveler but sport to the fisherman and hunter. There are millions of acres of forest lands with various kinds of game, both animals and birds common to the Middle West. Twenty-seven fish hatcheries annually propagating and distributing more than 300,000,000 fine food fish to Wisconsin waters and a game propagation program assure a perpetual sportsman's paradise.

Its vacation lure attracts those of all vocations. In 1928 Calvin Coolidge then President of the United States, chose the northern section, along the Brule River, for the Summer White House. Its miles of concrete road make traveling comfortable. Southeastern Wisconsin is dotted with lakes for cottagers while the northern country, called the "Land O' Lakes," attract those who desire solitude in almost virgin country.

Returning to our subject from which we have strayed, our party left the mid-afternoon—all too soon, but our program was so good, Madison, the state capital, which we reached after a two-hour ride. Here we were met by a fleet of private automobiles which took us on a most interesting tour of the city and the grounds of the University of Wisconsin. Madison is a city of about 60,000 people, including the 10,000 or more students of the University and has the most fascinating setting imaginable. Picture if you will a lake, in each corner of a square with Lake Mendota and Lake Monona, the two largest lakes, diagonally opposite and an isthmus of land about a mile wide between them. On this isthmus the central part of the city is located with its residential sections for the most part bordering the lakes. It is called "the four lake city on an isthmus" and was described by Sir Edwin Arnold as "the most beautiful little city in the world."

In addition to the attractiveness and unusual setting of Madison two other glimpses of the city must not be overlooked. One is the State Capitol building completed only a few years ago at a cost of $7,000,000. It is in the form of a cross and is situated in the center of a square park whose diagonal axis coincides with those of the building. At each end of the wings of the building are ground floor entrances while the main entrances are reached by a single flight of steps at the four inside corners of the cross. These have small dome roofs of pleasing design. The main building is four stories high with a central dome constructed at a cost of $3,000,000 and the second highest in the world. It is 300 feet above the ground and has a diameter of 107 feet. At the base of the dome, directly above the four main entrances are group statues which add greatly to its architectural beauty while surmounting the dome is a 15-foot gilded statue, "Forward," which can be seen for miles glistening in the sunlight. The interior decorations and furnishings are equally magnificent.

The University of Wisconsin is the other attraction. With 10,000 students during its regular terms and from ten to twelve thousand summer students it can readily be seen that Madison is a university city. The grounds of the University cover acres and acres of land, a great part of which is along the shore of Lake Monona. Students in the agricultural college have a most splendid opportunity for instruction under natural conditions while the other departments have more than the ordinary facilities. The University of Wisconsin has always stood out as a leader among similar institutions. It was the first to take its courses, through extension work, to the people who support it.

The entire state of Wisconsin ranks high in educational matters. It has the smallest percentage of illiteracy than that of any state east of the Mississippi among its population of over three million, ranking thirteenth in the nation. It has a good system of grade and high schools and a supplementary system of vocational and continuation schools. Nine teachers' training colleges, with county teachers' training schools, Stout Institute and the State University supply a well-trained corps of teachers. At Platteville there is a mining school of high standing.

While in Madison on Thursday evening we were the guests of the Consolidated Water Power & Paper Co., of Wisconsin Rapids, at a banquet and dance in the ballroom of the Hotel Lorraine. The address of the evening was given by Dr. Glenn Frank, President of the University, who gave a most challenging speech. He predicted political realignment through the creation of two distinct Americas, the city and the country. The most important tendencies of the day are from ruralism to urbanism and from individualism to co-operationism. He further predicted that the 1930 census, would show that 62 per cent. of the nation's population is urban whereas in 1830 the urban population was but 7 per cent. George W. Mead, president of the Consolidated, was the host of the evening. The following morning we were the guests of the Madison Association of Commerce at breakfast after which we again boarded our train.

We journeyed to Plymouth, located slightly more than fifty miles north of Milwaukee and about fifteen miles inland from Lake Michigan, and the cheese marketing capital of America. Throughout the state of Wisconsin the dairy industry is one of the most important. Eleven per cent. of the total milk production of the United States is produced in the Badger State, more than in any other state. It is also first in the production of fluid milk for household consumption and first in the production of condensed milk, producing 30 per cent. of the entire country's total. Wisconsin produces 66 per cent. of the country's American cheese, 90 per cent. of the Brick and Munster cheese, and 82 per cent. of the Swiss cheese, to rank first among all states. It has more cheese factories, more dairy cattle, and more silos than any other state. In addition, over 140,000,000 pounds of fine creamery butter are produced annually.

At Plymouth we were met by buses which conveyed us to Kohler, a model village ten or twelve miles nearer the lake shore where we were the guests of Governor Walter J. Kohler whose hospitality was exemplary of that which received everywhere we went. Arriving at Kohler shortly after noon we were taken to a charming Nature Theatre in Ravine Park, where a cafeteria luncheon was enjoyed. Here we were welcomed by Governor Kohler who told us of the history of the village.

The Governor, speaking as a resident of Kohler village and as president of the Kohler Company, explained that Kohler is a planned community. He traced its development in the last thirty years from a small factory originally located in the midst of farm land to its present status—that of a model city of several thousand. He told how at first the homes were not planned, of his trips to Europe and various parts of this country to study different communities. Later the project of a planned village was begun with the co-operation of expert town planners, architects, landscape gardeners, and engineers. Those of us from Massachusetts were pleased to learn that a Boston concern, Olmstead Brothers, was called into service in this work. Governor Kohler also said in part, "you will find no sordidness in Kohler—no shanties. And our village is planned for future development with the company owning land far beyond the village limits. At the same time Kohler is not a factory-owned town. A subsidiary company builds the homes and they are owned 100 per cent by the villagers. The houses are sold at cost and on a sound financial system of conveniences and no residence is built until the streets passing it are paved and other improvements made." The village is zoned and generous provision has been made for parks, playgrounds, and schoolhouses. The residential section of the city consists largely of modest homes of the industrial workers as the people of Kohler are for the most part identified with the Kohler Co. Consequently community co-operation is of the highest order and the community itself is possessed of a common background of economic interest. Another way in which the Kohler homes are distinctive is in the variation of types—here a French cottage, there a hint of Central Europe or Old England and others of fine American types with but a surprisingly few exact duplications in outside appearance.

During the early afternoon we toured the Kohler factory with its large plants for the manufacture of enameled and vitreous china plumbing fixtures, plumbing brass and electric machines, all of which are nationally known. The operations in the factory and the kinds of skill required cover a wide range, including dry dock, ceramics, pattern making, chemistry, various phases of engineering and a host of other activities. The administration building is tastefully appointed with the walls of the spacious entrance hall being adorned with large mural paintings depicting the work performed daily in the factory and dedicated to the men whose co-operation has made the organization.

The Kohler Recreation Club is one of many organizations fostering various activities along recreational and social lines. A band of fifty-five members has attained outstanding merit and has taken long journeys to many parts of the country to participate in musical competitions. In and out-of-door sports and recreation are some of the diversions which, coupled with the interests of home and civic affairs, make the hours of leisure insignificant and profitable. Kohler illustrates the practical possibilities of co-operation and foresight in community life, becoming more beautiful as the plan is more fully carried out. It is an interesting and heartening example of what American community life may be. The most minute detail has been worked out to the last degree and not one has been forgotten. In short Kohler is a dream come true.

Behind Kohler is the personality and character of the man who dreamed—Walter J. Kohler, not only Governor of the State and President of the Kohler Company, but a man of extraordinary insight and thoughtfulness—a man with a purpose and the will to carry on. Despite his duties to state and business he is an enthusiastic horseman and aviator.

After visiting the Kohler display rooms, the Demonstration Home and the airport we made a tour of the village and were then tendered a reception by Governor and Mrs. Kohler at their spacious estate, River Bend, on the banks of the Sheboygan River. On being introduced to the Governor we were pleased to have him recall Newton. He remarked, "Newton, Mass.—you have some beautiful homes there. I visited your city while on one of my trips East." As the afternoon waned we were taken to Sheboygan, a lakeport city of 40,000 about three miles from Kohler.

A tour through the residential and business districts terminated at the rooms of the Sheboygan Association of Commerce where we were the guests of C. E. Broughton, editor of the Sheboygan Press, at a banquet. Our curiosity and interest in Sheboygan had been augmented by a remark of our automobile driver on the tour that Sheboygan was "famous for its chairs, cheese and children." Sheboygan and Milwaukee are the two largest furniture centers of the state which has eighty nine furniture manufacturing plants. Like many of Wisconsin's cities, the former has a great number of diversified industries. Eighty-two per cent. of its families own their homes. Its municipal affairs are in capable hands.

An interesting sidelight on the furniture industry of Wisconsin, ranking fourth in the country, is in the applicability of the phrase, "From the Cradle to the Grave". From the bed in the hospital, the baby carriage, and furniture for the child's bedroom, furniture used in every room of the house, in the office, and in the hotel, and even the casket—all are manufactured in Wisconsin. Wood household furniture produced in the state each year is valued at more than twenty-one millions of dollars while upholstered, reed, fibre, metal and novelty furniture adds another ten millions.

Vaudeville entertainment after the banquet concluded an evening of what Wisconsin understands by the untranslatable German word, "gemuehlich." It was an extremely tired, though happy, party of travelers that sought their staterooms on board the Goodrich Steamer, "Carolina," that lay at the Sheboygan dock that Friday evening.

Splendid Carillon

The carillon given by Arthur R. Baxter to the Scottish Rite cathedral in Indianapolis, Ind., has 63 bells, ranging in weight from a few pounds up to 12 tons. The carillon differs from chimes in that its bells are stationary. This one may be played in three ways—from a keyboard similar to the organ or piano, from a clavier worked by handles and pedals and by perforated rolls.

Tunnels in Washington

There are tunnels to both the senate and house office buildings in the national capital. In the one leading to the senate office building there is a monorail electric car system. This convenience has not been installed in the tunnel leading to the house office building. A tunnel for transmission of books connects the Library of Congress with the Capitol.

This Week's Short Story

The strong man, knife in hand, gazed at the smooth white body in the water. "I cannot do it!" he groaned. "It is not a man's work!" and the tears streamed from his eyes. The woman, with a look of utter scorn on her face, took the knife and—finished peeling the onions.—The End.

Cat Mother's Sparrow

Trained not to harm birds, a cat in London is mothering a tiny sparrow. Recently the half-fledged bird fell out of its nest and lay neglected on the lawn. Puss took it in her mouth and deposited it in her basket, where she had two kittens, and curled up to sleep with the little tabbies and the foundling. The owner of the cat fed the tiny stranger until it grew feathers. It now flies in and out of the window and often sits on the cat's back.

Gulf Stream's Movements

The Gulf stream is said to be 50 miles wide as it flows through the narrowest part of the strait between Florida and Cuba; 150 miles wide off Charleston, S. C.; and 300 miles wide off Newfoundland; while in crossing the Atlantic it spreads fanlike over the surface. The total length of the Gulf stream is estimated at 3,900 miles.

Champion Egg Layer

Delicate instruments recently devised have proven that the oyster is not as silent as it has been supposed, for there is a constant undertone to be heard in the oyster beds. It is a fortunate thing that the hen oysters do not cackle every time they lay an egg, for the total egg product of the oyster is 5,000,000 eggs.

Life's Happiness

The best provision for a happy life is to practice honesty in good earnest, and speak truth . . . live easy and cheerful, and crowd one good action so close to another that there may not be the least empty space between them.—Marcus Aurelius.

Determining Emotions

An apparatus, described as a "complete give-away of the emotions which a robber attempts to conceal," has been designed by an electrical engineer. The device registers the heartbeats of the person under examination.

Built by Colonists

The Virginia was the first boat built in Maine. She was built by the Poppleton colony, 1607-08, and under command of Capt. James Davis sailed from Plymouth with the Somers and Gates colony for Jamestown June 1, 1609.

Maybe It Isn't

Three moving bodies have been discovered moving away from the earth at the rate of 4,000 miles a second, confirming the suspicion that the world isn't as attractive as it is used to be.—Butte (Mont.) Standard.

Race Drivers DEMAND the TIRES WE SELL!

THE Indianapolis 500 Mile Endurance Race is famous as an endurance test and battle of tires for no driver can win this race who has tire trouble. He races over a hot brick track at a speed of 100 or more miles per hour. For eleven consecutive years Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires have been on the winning cars.

FOR years the winner of the hazardous race of Pike's Peak climb—where a slip meant death—used Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

1. THESE drivers do not simply choose Firestone Tires. They demand them. They know by experience that this tire never fails. It never fails because it is built not to fail by the special Firestone processes of tire building.

(a) Every fibre of cotton thread going into the making of the cord fabric, which is the foundation of the tire, is coated and cushioned in rubber by the Firestone patented Gum-Dipping process.

(b) Under the tread is the Firestone patented Gum-Dipped Double Cord Breaker—which means not only two extra plies where most needed, but also sets the Firestone Tire apart as an all cord tire, while others are woven fabric and cord.

(c) Firestone Super High Speed Tires now have 32% more rubber in the tread, giving deeper grooves that will give you over 50% more non-skid wear before the tire is smooth.

2. THESE are not just features. They are basic differences in tire building proved by service on every kind of road and track.

3. YOU may never intend to race. You may never intend even to speed. You may never climb Pike's Peak. But, every day—whether you know it or not—your life depends upon your tires.

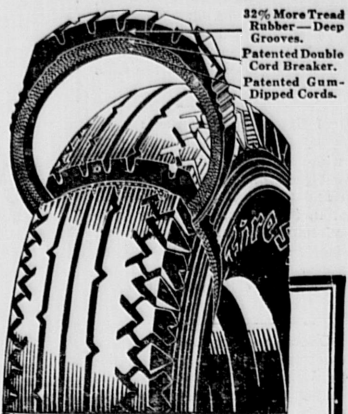

4. WE have these Super High Speed Gum-Dipped Balloons for sale today. They are the same tires that the racing drivers demand—the premier tires of the world. Their first cost is low. Their cost per mile of service makes them cheaper today than even cheap tires. They are inexpensive, not only because the price of rubber is low, but because we have joined with Firestone to bring into the sale of tires the same degree of efficiency which goes into their manufacture. The benefit of all this is in the price to you.

5. DRIVE IN TODAY. We will examine your tires and make you an allowance for your unused mileage. We can equip your car with new Firestone Super High Speed Tires at a much lower cost than you ever expected. They will give you unequalled service and satisfaction.

TRADE IN YOUR USED TIRES TODAY!

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons report that they have sold for C. C. Crowell the estate located at 16 Fairmont avenue, Newton. The property comprises more than an acre of land, and a mansion home of twenty-two rooms and five baths. The property has been sold to Mr. Frank H. Damon, president of the Damon Hall Junior College, an exclusive private school for girls, which has been located in Newton for a number of years. Mr. Damon plans to make extensive alterations before the fall semester.

Burns & Sons have also sold in the Waban district of Newton the new artistic brick home located at 97 Gordon road. Of French Norman design, the house contains nine rooms and three baths, and together with a two car garage and 17,300 square feet of land, the property is valued at $30,000. Clara D. Hartigan was the purchaser and buys for a home.

WILLIAM B. MERRILL

Mr. William B. Merrill, a resident of Newton Centre for 40 years, died last Saturday at his summer home at Satter's Point. Although Mr. Merrill has been in poor health for the past three years his death was unexpected.

He was born in Boston August 18, 1862, and attended schools there, including the Boston Latin School. As a young man he lived in Milwaukee, Wis., for a few years, but returned here forty years ago. He had his own business, William B. Merrill & Co., manufacturers of metallic packing.

Mr. Merrill was a member of the Exchange Club in Boston and The Country Club in Brookline. He is survived by his wife, who was Jessie Muir of Milwaukee; two daughters, Mrs. John E. Fowler of Cambridge and Mrs. Winthrop G. Dow of Wellesley Farms; a son, Sherburn W. Merrill, who lives at home.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the residence, 11 Lake terrace, Newton Centre. Rev. William E. Huntington, D.D., president emeritus of Boston University, and Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, D.D., of Trinity Church officiated.

MRS. WILLIAM P. UPHAM

On Saturday, August 16, 1930, Mrs. William P. Upham of 90 Highland avenue, Newtonville, passed into the other life, after an illness of several months.

She was a warm and loyal friend, to young and old alike, who loved to come to her, sure of a happy greeting, and a cordial welcome. In the 43 years she has lived in Newtonville, her home has been a center of hospitality and good times. An "open house" to an amazing number of people.

The circle of her friendships and usefulness, spread far and near, and many hearts hold grateful remembrance, that their lives touched hers, and feel themselves better men and women, for having known her friendship.

She will be greatly missed. In home life, her church life, and in social life, everywhere, one of Nature's noble women. In recent years, lack of health has obliged her to give up many active interests outside the home.

So vigorous and positive a personality inspires in our hearts the certainty, that she is not dead, only "away" and that she will never be far from our loving remembrance. Services were conducted at her home, Monday afternoon, by Rev. E. M. L. Gould of Brooklyn, N. Y., her former pastor, and by Rev. John Spiers of the New Church, Newtonville.

Person of Unusual Size

Classed as Monstrosity

Many persons admire giants, perhaps envy them, and imagine that they are examples of a superior humanity. A complete error; for gigantism is an anomaly, a monstrosity, as much so as dwarfism.

It is really a disease. The work of anthropologists has shown that the giant is a man that is still a child, in whose case growth does not stop at the age when normally he ought to have ceased to grow. The giant is rarely well-proportioned; his hands and feet are almost always too large, his face is generally distorted.

Physicians who have studied gigantism say that giants are all diabetic. Professor Landouzy says also that almost all of them are candidates for tuberculosis. They are subject to all sorts of other morbid troubles; they tire sooner than normal persons; they are unfit for all violent labor; their muscles are weak in spite of their size; their nerves lack resistance, and they are often affected with neurasthenia. Handsome giants are rare.—Jean Lecocq in Le Petit Journal, Paris.

St. David's Day Holiday

for Grecian Youngsters

The Welsh are not the only folk who keep holiday on St. David's day, says an article in the Montreal Family Herald. In Greece it is called Swallow day, the festival of spring, when the children go from house to house gathering small gifts and carrying wooden swallows, which they spin around to the accompaniment of folk songs. Some of these "swallow songs" have a long history. One of them has been traced back, indeed, more than 2,000 years.

Jesus college, "Little Wales in Oxford," as the facetious have called it, because of the preponderance of Joneses there, has its own method of celebrating St. David's day. For one thing there is the toasting of St. David in "swig," an exclusive and potent Jesus college brew. This is dispensed by a ladie that holds half a pint, from a beautiful silver bowl presented for the purpose by Sir Watkin Williams-Wynn in 1732.

Derivation of "Tariff"

According to Edwards' "Words, Facts and Phrases," the word "tariff" comes from the Moorish name "Tarifa," a fortress that stands on Cape Tarifa, a Spanish promontory commanding the entrance to the Mediterranean. When the Moors had possession they levied duties at certain fixed rates upon all merchandise passing in or out of the straits. The Century dictionary and other authorities on etymology, however, give the word a different origin. It comes from an Italian word, "tariffa," meaning "casting of accounts" or "list of prices," which was itself derived from the Arabian "arif," meaning "knowing."

Adjustable Owl

An "adjustable" owl is on view at the zoo, London. It is known as a European Scops owl, and, though insignificant in size, being normally less than six inches high, it is regarded as a great rarity. The color and markings of its plumage are like those of a tree trunk. When at rest the owl elongates its body and sits motionless in such a position that it resembles the stump of a branch. But a remarkable change comes over it when alarmed. It blows out its body, which visibly grows in size like a toy balloon being inflated. The bird is then almost globular in shape and quite unlike its elongated self.

Theory Made Real

A few years ago at a meeting a banker opined that the total amount of money in the world ought to be equivalent to the total wealth of the world; else, he suggested, people would never be able to pay their debts. He explained that in the United States there were $20 of wealth for every dollar of money, and therefore there was but one chance in twenty of a debtor's paying his debts. "I will give $5," he said, "to anyone who can disprove that statement."

When no one accepted the challenge, a wag suggested it was because there was only one chance in twenty of getting the promised $5.

Talcum Production

North Carolina powders the nose of the United States, having one of the biggest talcum mines in the country near an abandoned gold mine and much more valuable than any gold mine. From the same rock which provides the finest and softest talcum for the faces and arms of women comes the talcum used in roofing and automobile tires. Much of that is sold to the motor industry, while the finer kind that goes into dainty powder boxes measures 80,000 particles to the inch and is guaranteed to shed water, resist fire and weather and protect all underlying surfaces.—Capper's Weekly.

Three Was the Limit

"You must give your husband five teaspoonfuls of this mixture every night before he goes to bed," ordered the doctor.

The patient's wife looked a little disconcerted. "Five!" she said. "I can't do that. I'm afraid that's quite impossible." The doctor frowned. "Impossible?" he said. "Oh, nonsense! What on earth do you mean?" "Well, sir," explained the woman, "I don't think we've got more than three in the house."

NEWTON HOSPITAL

During the week ending August 16, there were 123 patients in the hospital. Of this number, 40 paid as much as cost of care or more, 43 paid less than cost of care, and 40, including babies, were treated free of charge. 22 babies were born, 10 boys and 12 girls. 181 visits were made to the Out-Patient Department. Three calls were made by the social worker and six patients were transported in the social service car.

Four of the nineteen accident cases admitted this week were caused by automobiles. Three of these were men who were injured when the car in which they were riding tipped over, one receiving internal injuries and contusion of the brain and the other two receiving lacerations of the scalp.

The other automobile accident was a boy who received abrasions of the left ankle when he was struck by the front of an automobile. Of the remaining accident cases, three were women. One received lacerations of the thumb while slicing ham while at work in a food shop, the other sprained her ankles when she fell from a step, and the third was a case of iodine poisoning. Five men were treated. One man collapsed while at work spraying celery, another received lacerations above the left eye and abrasions of the chest when he was kicked by a horse which he was leading from a blacksmith shop, another is said to have been burned on the right forearm by an electric switch while starting a motor at work, the fourth received abrasions of the first finger of the left hand which he jammed in a garage door, and the fifth had a blister on the large joint of the right big toe, the cause of which was unknown. Still another man received a puncture wound above the right eyebrow when he was struck by the crank of a cement mixer. Of the remaining accidents, all six were boys. One received lacerations of the wrist when the knife slipped as he was cutting tape to repair a bicycle, another received lacerations of the scalp when he fell and cut his head against an auto rim, another received lacerations of the right hand when he fell and cut his hand on a milk bottle, the fourth received lacerations of the scalp when he was hit with a bat while playing ball, the fifth received slight abrasions on the left wrist when he was bitten or scratched by a dog, and the sixth received an iodine burn of the right little finger when he upset the iodine bottle while putting iodine on a cut.

We often wonder just what is meant when a wedding writup says "they were quietly married." We take it, though, that there was no drinking or blows struck, and that the preacher spoke in a friendly, well-modulated voice after being assured his fee would be up to expectation and in cash. Really, one hardly ever hears of rough stuff any more at weddings.—Smith County (Kan.) Pioneer.

O-O

Like your work or it will lick you. Many Sabbath-breakers begin on Saturday night.

The duty at hand is the door knob to your distant destiny. Be a heaver and build. Rats are busy but only at burrowing.

Trust your reason, or you will land in the middle of an intellectual bog.

By Edw. H. Powers

According to the returns from the recent census there has been a decided decrease in the number of farms in the New England states during the past 10 years. Vermont has 4,084 fewer farms now than in 1920, a decrease of 14%; Massachusetts has 6,401 fewer farms, a decrease of 20%; Maine has 8,823 less farms than in 1920, a decrease of 18.3%; New Hampshire has 5,664 fewer farms, a decrease of 27.6%; Rhode Island farms number 717 less, a decrease of 17.6%; Connecticut contains 5,174 fewer farms, a decrease of 22.8%.

Agriculture certainly declined in New England during the past decade. Not only has the lure of the cities caused thousands of country boys and girls to leave farms, but improved transportation facilities permit vegetables and other farm products to be transported from remote sections of this country to be sold in competition with farm products of New England in nearby markets.

But, because of economic conditions many persons believe that an appreciable part of our population must return to agricultural pursuits, not through choice, but through necessity. The entrance of European and Asiatic countries into the industrial field, countries formerly almost exclusively engaged in agricultural life, has made these countries competitors, not customers of the United States, England, Germany. Improvements in machinery have greatly lessened the demand for industrial workers. So, it is believed that in the near future many will have to till the soil to eke out an existence. Perhaps, when economic conditions will have been adjusted to meet the existing situation, those who may have to return to the farms, will not find conditions unbearable.

Do you favor one-story buildings surmounted with huge billboards? There is an example of such a condition at Nonantum square where, for years, a one-story block of stores, which certainly is no architectural asset to Newton Corner's business district, has been even less attractive because of the big billboard which rises above its roof. Twice within recent months the Newton Board of Aldermen has had submitted to it by the Department of Public Works of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts petitions from a bill-board corporation asking permits to erect two billboards on the roof of another one-story building at Newton Corner. One of these billboards would be 50 feet long and 12 feet high; the other would be 25 feet long and 12 feet high. The Board of Aldermen of this city are opposed to granting any more bill-board locations within the limits of Newton and so turned down the petitions for these bill-board permits. Notwithstanding this unmistakable evidence of the aversion against bill-boards in this city, the Department of Public Works has again submitted to the Newton Aldermen another petition from the same corporation for permits in the same location.

The petitioners have also threatened to bring legal action because the Public Buildings Commissioner of this city has refused to approve their petition, inasmuch as the Building Code of Newton does not permit the erection of such a bill-board as they seek to erect.

LOCAL CONCERN HAS NO ACCIDENTS IN SIX MONTHS

In the state-wide safety contest for commercial vehicles over the past six months' period, sixty-six per cent. of the cars had a record of not a single accident. In the fifteen groups of different types of fleets only one Newton concern was without an accident. This record was made by the C. F. Eddy Co., of West Newton in the coal and ice division.

Surprising Barbarians.
Lipton's $400.
Big Business Forgot.
Psychology, Perhaps.

Having given the Afridis twenty-four hours' notice, British air men bomb their defense towers and many homes, knocking them down as children would overturn a house of sand. The barbarians were surprised to see how one small bomb could destroy what they considered "an impregnable fortress."

What will happen to Western civilization if the barbarians decide to build bombing planes for their own use? What would happen if our highly civilized friends of Asia decided to stop fighting each other and attack through the air somebody in the West?

Stalin of Russia has shown ability to manage men, organize industry and raise billions of dollars.

He feels that he has been insulted by capitalist nations, particularly this nation.

What would happen, in this busy world, if he used some of his new factories to build airplanes and sent them against "capitalism," with millions of armed Asiatics to back them up?

Sir Thomas Lipton is here again to see his yacht win or lose. He is eighty, and the cup that he seeks was won by an American boat when Lipton was a one-year-old baby. It would please everybody if the genial old Irishman could take the cup back with him. We don't need it, and our young millionaire yacht builders would enjoy going over after it.

Yacht races mean little to the average man, but a few words that Lipton said to reporters mean everything to millions.

He told how he came to this country, aged seventeen, in the steerage, adding: "I went to work in the South, saved, and returned home with $400 in my pocket, and I thought I was the richest man in the world."

He wasn't the richest man, but he was rich because he knew how to save. That in itself is wealth.

Lipton has business ability, understands advertising, and trade. But all his business intelligence would have done him no good without the first $400. That money enabled him to start something.

And starting, he succeeded. A great majority of all Americans die worth less than $100, and 85% of those past 65 are dependent on others, and that in a country where average intelligence, willingness to work, and capacity to save, mean independence in old age.

Dr. Thomas, president of Rutgers University, advises 200,000 young men and women about to enter American colleges, to "leave their conceit at home." The doctor's advice is sound, if properly understood, but it is not to be taken literally. What we call "conceit" is half developed ambition.

To tell a young man to leave at home the driving power of conceit, would be like telling a watch to leave its mainspring at home. You need conceit, which means belief in yourself, to keep you going. "Conceit is not the way to popularity, least of all on a college campus," says the doctor.

On the other hand, popularity on a college campus is of no great importance, later in life.

When young Bonaparte sulked in corners, at French military school, despising comrades that laughed at his Corsican accent he was not popular. But later, as Emperor, he made some of them marshals, and had others shot.

When big business met the President in the White House after the Wall Street smash, industry solemnly vowed that whatever might happen it would not reduce wages.

Big business even expressed its belief that "high wages are the real foundation of our prosperity."

Promising is one thing, doing is another. New York's Labor Bureau reports sixty industries or big concerns that have reduced wages since May. Lack of employment has made this easy.

The cost of living is reduced and it seems reasonable to some employers not to let a man earn more than it costs him to live. Superfluity might spoil him.

Thomas A. Edison says our "depression is largely psychological." Henry Ford says too many of us are "looking for a Santa Claus" instead of getting to work.

There is some defective psychology and some Santa Claus hunting, undoubtedly, but many a man of Mr. Ford's age, sixty-seven, and younger, without Mr. Ford's ability or fortune is job hunting, not Santa Claus hunting.

He goes about, his gray hair dyed a sickly black or brown, to conceal his years, and he is told "We hire younger men." No psychology there, no Santa Claus hunting, but hard times.

CONCLUDE THEIR LABORS

Washington, Aug. 21—Five of the commission appointed by President Hoover have successfully concluded their labors and been discharged. Republican party leaders point to this achievement as sufficient answer to any criticism leveled by the opposition.

Objectives reached by the Commissions are: Consolidation of the Veterans' Bureau, the Pension Bureau and the National Soldiers' Homes; negotiation of the London Naval Limitation Treaty; settlement of factional difficulties in Haiti and establishment of a new policy in dealing with that West Indian republic; settlement of the strike on the southwestern railroads, and settlement of the controversy over the building of the San Francisco Bay bridge which has involved the Army, the Navy and the municipal authorities of the city behind the Golden Gate.

VEGETABLES AND FRUITS IN THEIR SEASON

The Hittinger Fruit company has for sale at their farm, 450 School st., Belmont, delicious vegetables and fruits in season. Early peaches and Bartlett pears are ready. The salesroom is open daily from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. Saturdays until 9 p. m. Good parking facilities. Tel. Belmont 0043.—Advertisement.

—Those who have twice attempted to beatify Columbus have been forcing things a bit," Doctor Charcot says.

—There were times when his intimate life was not exactly virtuous and there were times when his hand was heavy, but in all he was a clean, religious man. After four and one-half centuries we are just beginning to be able to draw a picture of what Columbus looked like.

—He was, above all else, modest never having exaggerated opinion of himself. He did not even claim to be a savant, but he had a robust opinion of his own sea qualities. He was probably less perfect than his admirers picture him, and better than his detractors would portray him.

—"Even if he had not discovered America, he would have gone down in history as the admiral who gave the hammock to ships, and ever since his day seamen have slept at night in that sort of bed."

—Although thirteen different Italian towns, as well as Corsica, France and Spain have laid claim to being the birthplace of Columbus, Doctor Charcot is of the opinion that Columbus was born in 1452 in Genoa, an issue of the marriage of Domenico Colombo, a weaver, and Susanna Fontanarossa, and that he had three brothers, Giovanni, Bartolomeo and Giacomo, and a sister, Blanchinetta, who married Giacomo Bavarello, a dealer in cheeses and sausages.

—He lived on his allotment about five miles south of Pawhuska in a tent until J. George Wright, Indian agent, persuaded Stink to occupy a small frame house built for him.

—For the last ten years Stink has refused to visit Pawhuska and draw his tribal funds. Formerly he lived in an old frame building near the agency, but one morning while absent from home a policeman killed his four dogs. Stink turned his back on Pawhuska and never has been in town since that time. He lived alone until recently the Osage agency provided him with a Sioux Indian as housekeeper.

—Doctor Cummings declares the nurse-driver brings the car daily to a grocery near his window, takes off the radiator cap, breaks three eggs and drops them in.

—"Curious," he reflects, "but then perhaps it wouldn't be a bad idea if it developed a taste for beefsteaks. Think of the dental work necessary to outfit it with plates."

—Housekeeper Leaves Estate to De Valera

Boston.—A housekeeper, who was known only as Bridget, has just died, leaving $1,000 to Eamonn De Valera, Dublin, Ireland. The rest of the residue of her estate, which is estimated to be $6,000, goes to Aidan's Gaelic school in Dublin.

—Soldiers' Privilege

In the United States the privilege of not paying to send letters home was accorded by statute to Revolutionary soldiers in actual service.

Not Explorer, but Salesman, Dr. Charcot Says.

Paris.—Christopher Columbus had freckles and a dimple in his chin, was a strict vegetarian, a 100-per-cent dry who drank only water flavored with sugar and orange flowers, and had the habit of sprinkling himself with perfumes, particularly attar of roses and odor of black currants.

That is the picture Dr. Jean Charcot, of the Institute of France, himself famed as an explorer in polar waters, has drawn of the hardy navigator after nearly a lifetime study of the history of Columbus.

In the opinion of Doctor Charcot, Columbus was not an explorer, but a traveling salesman, who had been sent often by the government to buy sugar in African isles and to sell Spanish and Portuguese goods.

Didn't Even Swear.

Doctor Charcot pictures Columbus as a kind father and perfect gentleman, almost saintly in character. He never swore, beyond an occasional oath "by San Fernando," and he knew nothing of the traditional vocabulary of seamen.

Those who have twice attempted to beatify Columbus have been forcing things a bit," Doctor Charcot says.

POLICE NEWS

The first liquor raid in many weeks was staged last Friday night and resulted in the appearance in court on Saturday of Rosario F. Guzzi, 37, of 42 Oak avenue, West Newton. The raiding squad headed by Sergt. Daniel Crowley included patrolmen Regan, W. Jenkins, Greeley, and Barr. About nine o'clock they raided the Guzzi home and seized twenty quarts of beer, 3/4 of a gallon of wine, a half pint of coloring, a capping machine, two empty gallon jugs, fifteen pint bottles and two sacks of empties. Guzzi was arrested after the raid and in court was fined $50 on the charge of illegal sale following his plea of guilty. He was also given a suspended sentence of a month in the house of correction on the charge of keeping and exposing.

Bennie Boudreau of Cambridge appealed a sentence of one month in the house of correction on a charge of driving while under the influence of liquor and a fine of $10 for drunkenness which were imposed on him in Newton court on Monday. He was arrested on July 21 by Patrolmen J. B. Foley, James McHugh, and John McGrath. He was ordered to furnish $400 bail.

William F. Goldsmith of 2144 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, Robert F. Motte of Chelsea, Milton Shaler of Rosindale, George O'Brien of Dorchester and Richard B. Reck of Boston were fined $10 each on charges of speeding at Monday's session of the court. William F. Whitehead of Boston was fined $5 for failing to slow down at intersecting streets.

Robert L. Houghton of Saxon road, Newton Highlands was fined $10 for speeding.

A pair of Natick youngsters were picked up in West Newton square on Wednesday night by Patrolman Lyons while trying to hitch-hike a ride back to their homes. At headquarters they were recognized as having been there on two previous occasions, once about a year ago and the other time several weeks ago. A year ago they were picked up by Patrolman Lyons. They told police they were given a ride from Natick by an autoist who refused to let them out at Wellesley as they intended but carried them to Boston. They were trying to get back home by thumbing rides and had not succeeded when Patrolman Lyons spotted them. They were held until relatives came for them. The younger of the pair was nine years old and the elder twelve.

Auto Insurance Rates For 1931

Tentative Schedule Announced—Slight Increase Here

Increases in the cost of insurance policies under the Compulsory Motor Vehicle Insurance act, according to the 1931 tentative schedule of rates announced yesterday by Insurance Commissioner Brown, average slightly higher than last year. In some outlying places there are a few instances of slight decreases.

Private passenger cars in Newton are again placed in Territory V with the following changes in rates:

	1930	1931
Group W	$31	$32
Group X	33	37
Group Y	41	44

The public auto territories have been increased from three to six with Newton in territory II.

A public hearing will be held on Monday, Sept. 8th, at 10:30 in the morning at the Gardner Auditorium, State House, by Commissioner Brown to consider the new rates. The schedule as set forth at present is subject to any changes which may be deemed advisable following the hearings.

WITNESS OF AUTO CRASH COLLAPSES

Frightened when she witnessed two automobiles collide at the corner of Boylston and Walnut streets last Monday, Phyllis Santucci, 24 years old, of 418 Langley road, Newton Centre, collapsed on the sidewalk. She was removed to the Newton Hospital from which she had been discharged last Saturday following a tonsil operation, in the police ambulance. It is believed she suffered a heart attack.

Harry Edwards of Revere, who was one of the drivers that figured in the crash, was cut about the face by glass from the shattered windshield of his machine. He was driving south on Walnut street and crossing Boylston street when his car was struck in the rear by a truck driven by William A. B. Moore of Charlestown. Moore was driving east on Boylston street. His car was hurled to the opposite sidewalk by the impact.

DOG BITES MAN

Monday night Thomas Rouse of 46 Harris street, Newton reported to the police that he had been bitten on the hand by a dog owned by Thomas Mathews of 53 Trowbridge avenue, Newtonville. Patrolman Lyons notified the owner to restrain his dog, which will be examined by Dr. C. Mr. Ira Conant of 14 Larchmont Arthur Boultle.

avenue was notified by Patrolman Reeves to restrain his dog following complaint by Mrs. Ralph Young of 21 Larchmont street.

MAKE UP EXAMINATIONS

Make up examinations at the Levi F. Warren Junior High school will be held on September 5, beginning at 9 A. M.

All students who were absent for any or all of the Final Examinations in June should report to take the examination in the subject or subjects missed, according to the above schedule.

Students who received condition or failure Final Marks should avail themselves of this opportunity to take the examinations to make up the deficiency and to obtain full credit.

Mr. Scarborough, the Principal, will be in his office at the school September 5 from 10:00 a. m. to 12 noon, and from 2:00 to 3:30 in the afternoon to meet parents or students who wish to confer with him relative to promotions and enrolment.

INFANT LOCKED IN—POLICE CALLED

Police were called to the rescue of a nine-month-old infant who had been locked in when the woman was left to care for him stepped out of the house at 35 Cabot street, Newtonville last week Friday evening. Patrolmen Charles Feeley and Timothy Riley responded to the woman's frantic call and obtaining a ladder climbed to the roof of the house to enter through a skylight.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: The City Hall Association of Newton has given no one authority to solicit money, advertisements or prizes.

Aldermen Hold Special Meeting

Make Several Appropriations And Grant Permits

But twelve members were present at the special meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night. The most important subject under discussion that evening was on a recommendation from Mayor Weeks that money be appropriated for the water department for certain improvements in the Newton water system. Other routine matters were also acted upon.

The Board appropriated $1000 to engage a water supply expert to study conditions at the water supply building on Watertown street, Newtonville, and another $1000 for the drawing of the proposed plans to remodel and enlarge the building. City officials believe the old building should be modernized and when the work is ready to be done a considerably larger sum will be appropriated to carry the project out.

An ordinance prohibiting parking on the south side of Institution avenue, from Beacon street to the Boston & Albany Railroad, was passed.

Appropriations under the General Betterment Law were made for the construction of Monadnock road, Tudor road, Wesssex road, Garland road, Greenlawn avenue and Wachusett road were passed. The order for the construction of Christina road was held in committee. An order for the construction of a drain in Jackson road was also passed. Further appropriations were made as follows: $10,000 for maintenance of mains and hydrants; $5000 for connecting dead ends; $450 for office expenses of the water department.

Three petitions for filling stations were granted. The Newton & Watertown Realty Trust was granted its permit to erect, conduct and maintain a station at 1250-1260 Washington street, West Newton, and to keep, sell and store gasoline in connection with it. Three tanks and pumps will be installed. Albert T. Stuart was granted a permit for a station of three tanks and five pumps at 1082 Beacon street and 900 Walnut street, Newton Centre. The Shell Eastern Petroleum Products Company was granted a permit for a station at the northwest corner of Beacon and Walnut street, Newton Centre. This station will have three tanks and six pumps. Alderman John Temperley voted against the petitions, explaining that he was opposed to more than two driveways at gasoline stations, while the plans under consideration called for three driveways at each station.

The petition of John A. Marr for a permit to establish a garage repair shop at 67 Lexington street, West Newton, was refused by the Board following the recommendation of the franchise and license committee to give it leave to withdraw. The site of the proposed garage is that of the Gorgone Block which was wrecked in an explosion several years ago. The plans called for the construction of a roof over the existing basement of the old building. The committee was of the opinion that this arrangement would result in an unsightly structure and that at least a one-story building should be erected there. The petitioners desired to operate the repair shop in the basement with an entrance on Rumford avenue which slopes downward from Lexington street.

The aldermen voted leave to withdraw on the petition of the Texas Company for a permit to increase the capacity of gasoline storage at its station at Boylston and Chestnut streets, Upper Falls, by the installation of another 1000 gallon tank. Leave to withdraw was also given on the petitions of Philip Rizza of 40 Alden place, West Newton, and Philip Painsner, 317 Washington street, Newton, for first-class taxi licenses.

The twelve members of the board who were present at the meeting were Aldermen Floyd, Jamieson, Temperley, Murray, Bowen, Ball, Hawkins, Chase, Pratt, Gordon, Holden and President Collins.

Loss Of Nearly A Thousand Voters

About Four Hundred Register For Primaries

Registration for the State primary closed on Wednesday evening with a total of about four hundred new names added to the voting lists. The net loss of voters is more than twice that number as a total of 1,330 names had been dropped because they were not listed by the Assessors as having been living in Newton on April first. On Wednesday between eight-thirty and the morning when the session opened until ten o'clock at night about one hundred and fifty persons registered.

The next opportunity Newton citizens will have to register will be after the primaries and before the State election. This registration period will begin on September 17th.

WIN HONORS

Two of Camp Moosehead's honors were carried away by the Maguire brothers of Blackstone terrace, Newton; sons of Edward F. Maguire. Edward F. Maguire, 2nd, won the junior swimming medal. His older brother, Leonard, won the second highest award ever given at Camp Moosehead—the silver cup, for the highest degree of self improvement, spiritually, mentally and physically.

Dr. Stacy B. Southworth, head of Thayer Academy and director of the camp, paid Leonard Maguire some very glowing tributes when he presented the award.

LIFE SAVING SERVICE

Red Cross Junior Life Saving certificates have been awarded recently to the following at Crystal Lake: John Cooper, James Heald, Joseph Nolan, Louis Remond, Leon Golby. At Camp Mary Day, Mary Glover, Alice Burton.

Senior Life Saving certificates were awarded to Theodore Woolston at Crystal Lake and Elizabeth Heinrich at Camp Mary Day.

In addition to this 47 have passed the Beginners' test and 20 the Swimmers' test.

COMMITTS SUICIDE

Franklin Slater, a patient at the Newton Hospital, committed suicide Tuesday afternoon by jumping from the third floor window fracturing his neck. Slater was 27 years of age and resided at 111 Pleasant street, Newton Centre.

Slater was married and had a wife, Mrs. Florence Slater, and a baby daughter, Edna Elizabeth, age 15 months. Mrs. Slater and the child are with relatives at Cape Breton, N. S. He was formerly associated with his brother-in-law in the electrical business.

The aldermen voted leave to withdraw on the petition of the Texas Company for a permit to increase the capacity of gasoline storage at its station at Boylston and Chestnut streets, Upper Falls, by the installation of another 1000 gallon tank. Leave to withdraw was also given on the petitions of Philip Rizza of 40 Alden place, West Newton, and Philip Painsner, 317 Washington street, Newton, for first-class taxi licenses.

The twelve members of the board who were present at the meeting were Aldermen Floyd, Jamieson, Temperley, Murray, Bowen, Ball, Hawkins, Chase, Pratt, Gordon, Holden and President Collins.

Two Children In Fatal Accidents

Occur In Different Parts Of City On The Same Afternoon

Within a few minutes of each other, two children lost their lives on Wednesday afternoon in different parts of the city. In Auburndale, Winifred Scott, thirteen years old, of 17 Hancock street, was run over by a huge sand and gravel truck and in Newton, three-year-old Robert Stokes of 55 Green street was run over by an ice wagon.

The Scott girl apparently lost control of the bicycle she was riding, and crashed into the side of the truck, which is owned by the Riverside Sand & Gravel Company of Grove street, Newton Lower Falls, and was hurled beneath the wheels of the heavy machine. The driver, Giuseppe Di Palma of 219 Watertown street, Newton, told the police he was passing the girl going east on Central street when the bicycle suddenly swerved into the side of the truck.

She was removed to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance and was found to be dead on arrival. Medical examiner T. M. Gallagher viewed the body. The police are to conduct an inquest before taking any action in the case.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McMillan of 147 Hancock street and had received the bicycle as a gift only a few weeks ago.

The police were unable to learn the exact circumstances of the accident which resulted in the death of the Stokes baby. The ice wagon, owned by the Howard Ice Company of Watertown, was being driven by James Cramm of 41 Elliot street, Watertown. No witness of the accident could be found. Cramm told the police that he did not see the child before the accident. He said he stopped the wagon when he felt a jar and found that the rear wheel had passed over the child's head.

The mother of the little lad ran out of the house when the accident occurred and became hysterical at the sight of the child's body, which was later viewed by Medical Examiner T. M. Gallagher.

Burglar Captured At Point Of Gun

Police Arrest "Poor Box" Thief In Church Vestry

Suspicion aroused by the presence of an automobile parked on Prospect street, West Newton, near St. Bernard's Church, led to the capture of William J. Marchant, 29 years old, of 181 Walnut street, Watertown, early Sunday morning by Patrolman John Donahue of the Newton police. Marchant was arrested in the vestry of the church with about $18 in change in his possession.

After noticing the automobile Patrolman Donahue heard sounds from the rear of the church and an investigation revealed an open window. A call for aid brought Sergeant Dan Crowley and a squad of officers who surrounded the church. Donahue with drawn revolver and flashlight climbed in through the window in search of the intruder whom he found in the vestry. On the officer's order the young man threw up his hands and offered no resistance to arrest. At police headquarters a search by the police brought forth a screwdriver, a jimmy and a dirk knife in addition to the $18 in poor box loot.

According to police Marchant admitted that earlier the same night he had entered the St. John's Church in Belmont and had looted the poor boxes there. The police found that the boxes had been broken into. Police from Boston and Cambridge have visited the local headquarters to question the prisoner regarding poor box robberies in those cities.

In court on Monday morning Marchant was arraigned on charges of breaking and entering in the night time, larceny, carrying a dirk knife and having burglars' tools in his possession. He was held in $5000 bail and his case continued to September 13th. In the meantime the police will present the case to the grand jury.

MORE TYPHOID VICTIMS

The local list of patients suffering from typhoid fever as the result of attending the recent outing of the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company at Saxonville increased to five at the end of last week. Dennis A. Murphy of 4 Bowers street, Newtonville, was reported as having the disease.

On Monday a sixth name was added to the list. It was that of Jeremiah Hartnett of 3 Newland street, Auburndale. The case was reported to the Newton Board of Health by Hartnett's physician, Hartnett, who is at the Newton Hospital, became ill on August 11, but it not until Monday that a definite diagnosis of typhoid was possible.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

N. H. S. GRID CANDIDATES CALLED OUT

With the approach of Labor Day comes the annual call by Coach John L. Sullivan for candidates to report for the Newton high school football team. Suits will be issued on Wednesday morning next by Dr. Oscar Martin, faculty manager of the local school athletic teams, and the first practice session is set for Thursday morning. Morning sessions will be held daily until the following week when school opens. From that time on practice will be held every afternoon.

Mr. Sullivan, despite strong rumors last spring to the contrary, will again coach the local eleven this fall. He will be assisted by L. P. Jones, who will have charge of the line candidates. Mr. Jones has been the assistant varsity baseball coach the past several seasons as well as working with the "jays" in football.

This coming fall the local eleven will play the following schedule:

Sept. 27 Malden at Malden.

Oct. 4 Camb. Lat. at Camb.*

Oct. 11 Everett at Everett.*

Oct. 18 Quincy at Newton.

Oct. 25 Somerville at Newton*.

Nov. 1 Medford at Newton.

Nov. 8 Rindge at Rindge*.

Nov. 15 Waltham—site undecided.

Nov. 27 Brookline*, site undecided.

* League games.

From the above schedule it will be seen that local fans will have but few opportunities to witness the orange and black on its home field. The first home contest is set for Saturday the 18th of October with Quincy as the opponents, and will be followed a week later with Somerville as the visitors.

Due to the condition of the local field the sites of the Waltham and Brookline games have not been decided as yet but it is quite probable that only one of these objective contests will be held in Newtonville.

With one game scheduled at home and another away it will insure local fans of witnessing one of these big attractions at home every year in the future.

The New Stadium

The condition of the new football gridiron is the prime factor in making the final decision as to where the 1930 home games will be played.

This summer the city has expended many thousands of dollars towards the completion of the development of Claflin Field, Newtonville. The new gridiron, which had previously been graded, was brought to a finished grade and seeded with a special turf in an effort to make it possible to use the field this fall. The exceedingly dry weather of the past several weeks has made it problematical as to whether or not the gridiron will be suitable for use until another season.

The new Dickinson Memorial stadium, costing about $50,000, and seating over 5,000, is nearing completion and it is hoped that it will be possible to dedicate the structure this fall to the late Allie Dickinson, Newton high coach beloved by all for many years.

The 1930 prospects at Newton are considerably better than a year ago when the so-called "three-year" rule went into effect, leaving but two letters men for Coach Sullivan to work with.

Naturally the 1929 team was an inexperienced eleven. Several of that team, most of whom were linemen, were graduated in June but many of the players in the backfield and on the second string line are returning. There are also a few other players expected to come out who have been attending other schools and have had some experience.

BOYS SEE BIG LEAGUE GAME

About 175 boys from the various Newton playgrounds attended the big league game between the Philadelphia Athletics and the Boston Red Sox yesterday afternoon at Fenway Park. They were the guests of the local Kiwanis Club and Bob Quinn, Red Sox president. They were accompanied by Thomas Lyons, playground commissioner, and Walter Muldoon, both of whom are members of the Kiwanis Club committee on underprivileged children.

The boys, most of whom ranged from ten to twelve years of age, were selected by the playground directors as the most deserving of the privilege. They were taken to the field and back in special busses.

SPORT NOTES

Stratton Sets New Record

In the first round of the final 36-hole match for the golf championship of the Brae-Burn Club Emory Stratton set a new competitive record of 69 for the course in its revised impress. He won from Clark Hodder, former Framingham golfer who recently returned as a member of Brae-Burn, 7 and 6, to annex the title. Stratton made but one mistake on the entire round by driving into the brook that crosses the seventh fairway and had to sacrifice a stroke to get out. He reached the turn in 35 and then came home in 34 with the aid of three successive birdies. For the entire thirty holes that were played his score was two better than even fours. His card of 69 broke his own mark of 70 made on the day following the National championship in 1928.

Local Pairs Eliminated

The two pairs of local tennis players entered in the National Doubles tourney at Longwood this week were eliminated in early round matches. Alfred and Robert Turner were put out by G. M. Lott, Jr., and John H. Doeg, Davis cup players in the first round, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5. Malcolm T. Hill and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., Waban cousins, won their first round match from John Barr and James Quick of Texas, 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4, but were eliminated by Bill Tilden and Francis Hunter in the second round, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

McStay Wins Title

Pat McStay won the title in the 126-lb. class at the international boxing competition at Dilboy Field, Wednesday evening, at which boxers from Boston, New York and Nova Scotia took part. In a preliminary bout McStay knocked out Frank Miller of New York in the first round, and then outslugged Tony Macdeiros of Taunton to win a three-round decision.

"CRONIN DAY" SMOKER TONIGHT

The committee in charge of "Cronin Day" have announced the final two affairs to be held in connection with the raising of testimonial for the popular West Newton youth and Braves catcher. Tonight a smoke-talk will be held in the clubhouse of the Nonantum A. A. in Nonantum with an interesting program of entertainment. There will be boxing, wrestling, dancing, singing, and musical numbers. Charlie Kelley, national amateur welter weight champion, Pat McStay, Wallace DeWolfe, Frankie Brock, Jack Fitzpatrick, Archie Shellman, Honey White, and Frank Lovely will do the gloves. Leo Cormier, New England heavyweight champion, will wrestle Al DeRocco, Italian champion, and Joe Arsenault will take on Henry Vachon. Jackie Murphy and Chet Boudrot of Keith's circuit will sing and the Hapenny Twins and "Aloma" will appear in dance numbers. Cy Harris and Barney Lyman will also have a part on the program.

Tomorrow afternoon a third and it is hoped a successful attempt will be made to play the announced baseball game between Jack Fitzgerald's Nonantum A. A., Newton twilight league champions, and the Newton Police team leaders on the Greater Boston Police league race. Last Saturday and the week before rain prevented the playing of the game. Frank Feeley, manager of the police team, has announced that "Knobs" O'Connor will pitch against the two-league champs.

UPPER FALLS DROPS TO SECOND

The Upper Falls A. A. local semi-pro team in the Hub twilight league and first half champions, dropped to second place in the second half race last Sunday when shut out in a 2-0 game with Revere on the Upper Falls playground while the Allston Hopedale Club went into the lead with an 11-6 victory over Jamaica.

Dave Walsh, Revere ace, twirled shut out ball for his team in turning back Upper Falls, allowing but seven scattered hits, five of which were collected by Gumprecht and Brinn, the former making three and the latter two.

Briley, pitching for Upper Falls, deserved a better fate as Revere made but three safe hits off his deliveries. In the second inning a double and a single accounted for the winners' first run and a homer by Rose in the fourth chalked up the second tally.

Tuesday night the Jamaica Plain playgrounds the local team defeated Jamaica 7 to 5 with Joe Russell, allowing the home team but seven safe hits. Newton made nine hits off two Jamaica twirlers with Brinn and Benette each getting two.

The standing at date:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Allston	14	6	.700
NEWTON	12	6	.667
Revere	13	8	.619
Somerville	12	9	.571

SPORT NOTES

Noble Wins Title

Arthur D. Noble of Newton Centre won his third leg and permanent possession of the Southern Maine Tennis cup this week in the annual tourney at York Harbor. Noble encountered little difficulty until the semi-final when he met Charles Watson of New York, ex-Yale captain. After winning the first set from Watson the local youth dropped a love set and then came back to win the match at 7-5. In the finals Noble opposed Hugh Moorhead of Washington, D. C., and won the title by scores of 6-2, 6-3, 6-2. In the men's double Noble and his partner, Francis Broughton, of Newton, were eliminated in a brilliant early round match by Albert Horton and Alden Briggs. This pair were obliged to default later in the tourney because of an injury to Briggs while swimming.

Reilly Pitching Great Ball

Bill Reilly, former Newton high and prep school star twirler, has been pitching great ball for the Waltham Bleachery Ramblers recently. A week ago he led the Cambridge Colorados down with three hits on a 7 to 2 victory while on Monday night he shut out the Concord Elks, 3 to 0, allowing but two hits. In the game with the Phantoms Reilly struck out eleven and issued no passes. He fanned seven in a row, the last two batters in the second, three in the third and the first two in the fourth. Roger, clean-up hitter for the Cambridge team, connected for two triples to deprive Reilly of a shut-out, one following a single by the previous batter. In the game with Concord, Reilly was opposed on the mound by George Johnson, who previously this season had twirled a no-hit game. A great pitcher's battle was offered the fans with the Bleachery team scoring once in the first inning on Thibault's home run on the first ball pitched in the first inning. Reilly did not allow a hit until after the sixth inning. Up to that time only one Concord runner had reached first through a muffed fly. Not one Concord player reached second or third until the last inning and the sole player who reached the hot corner was left stranded when Reilly bore down to force two easy infield outs.

McStay Wins Title

Working For Safe Highways

A wide range of activities and accomplishments is set forth in the first annual report of the governor's committee on street and highway safety, issued today. From initiating and supporting progressive legislation to removing actual danger spots, the first year's work of the committee has included attacks on the motor problem from many angles, with concentration alternating between guiding the efforts of hundreds of local agencies and executing special undertakings independently.

One of the major tasks of the year was the organization of a big, but widely safety machine, composed of units in every one of the 355 cities and towns in Massachusetts. Through the medium of these branches, which include in their membership local officials as well as leading citizens, the governor's committee has secured the immediate action necessary to make its program effective.

The outstanding phases of the program were:

Compilation and analysis of motor vehicle accidents.

Specific plans for elimination of physical hazards.

Establishment and maintenance of safety education as part of the school curriculum.

Educational publicity program.

Adoption of uniform traffic regulations, signs and signals.

Strengthening of law enforcement through creating favorable public opinion and increasing police personnel.

Among the specific undertakings of the committee was a detailed study of the hazards concerning the transportation of children by school busses. Through their efforts a new code was generally adopted and put into effect in many communities throughout the State.

As the result of a recommendation of the governor's committee to the department of education, a field worker has just been employed to devote her full time to promoting the adoption of safety education as a part of the school curriculum in the public schools of every city and town of the state.

The committee in April arranged an intensive drive against defective lighting equipment, enlisting for the first time in such a movement the police in every community of the state. Likewise the governor's committee played a large part in setting up the "Save-A-Life" campaign in which Massachusetts is now participating simultaneously with the rest of New England.

Another activity of the committee was the conducting of the first statewide interleaf contest for commercial vehicles ever held in this country, which brought 13,357 vehicles, in 453 fleets, into competition for six months with 66 per cent. of the entrants going through the entire period without a single accident. A second contest is now under way, covering the period from July 1 to Dec. 31.

Among the outstanding legislative accomplishments of the committee was the enactment of a bill permitting cities and towns to appropriate money for highway safety work. The committee also endorsed a legislative proposal which, if enacted, will provide for the non-criminal disposition of certain minor violations of automobile laws and regulations and supported a bill to make safety education compulsory in the public schools. It opposed bills calculated to curtail the present power of the registrar of motor vehicles. A similar activity of the committee was constant effort to bring about the adoption of uniform traffic ordinances in scores of cities and towns. Through the co-operation of the local safety committees a uniform accident reporting plan has been officially adopted on a large scale.

"HOLIDAY" AT THE EGYPTIAN

"Holiday," the most magnificent screen document of the year, is the attraction at the Egyptian Theatre, Brighton, for the fall opening, beginning tomorrow. Pathe's screen version of Philip Barry's successful stage play is a dialogue production de luxe. It is a tensely emotional drama of high society and vast wealth, interpreted by stage and screen players of exceptional prominence, and produced on a highly pretentious scale. The dramatic moments are relieved by the action of delicious comedy while the dialogue, compact and witty is of the best.

The picture owes much of its magnetic quality to the artistic portrayal of the featured players in the cast. Ann Harding, Mary Astor, Edward Everett Horton, Robert Ames and Hedda Hopper play the leads.

On the same bill with "Holiday" will be shown Jack Mulhall in "The Fall Guy," latest sound news, novelty shorts, Organ selections complete the evening's entertainment at the million-dollar Egyptian—with its new policy of first run double feature bills. The show will be continuous from 1 to 11 on Saturdays and holidays and from 3 to 1 on Sundays. Regular matinees from 2 to 5 and evening shows from 8 to 11.

N. H. S. EXAMINATIONS

Entrance examinations to the Newton High School will be held on Friday, September 5th, on the following schedule: Registration (Library on the third floor of the Classical Building) 8:30 to 9:30; English, 9:00 to 10:30; Arithmetic, 10:30 to 12; History or Social Studies, 1:30 to 3:00; Geography, 3:00 to 4:30.

CHILDREN'S MUSEUM

The special week-end attraction of the Children's Museum of Boston, Miss Mildred E. Marter, the Director, announces, will be a motion picture talk featuring birds and fish, given at 3:30 on Sunday afternoon in the Museum lecture hall. This picture will show glimpses of the famous Canadian bird sanctuary in the Gulf of the St. Lawrence and various types of sea fowl. On this same program the Muskellunge of Northern Ontario, celebrated for both its size and strength, will also be shown. As a fish-eater the Muskellunge rivals the Barracuda of the salt water, making the same fierce rushes and having a similarly large mouth set with dangerous teeth. With a long, narrow body, strong dorsal and anal fins placed far back on the body, and a powerful tail, the Muskellunge is well equipped for speed.

Miss Madalene B. Sawyer, head of the educational department at the Museum is enjoying a month's vacation. Miss Eva R. Taylor, in charge of museum exhibits, has just returned from a two months' trip abroad.

The all-day visits scheduled for groups during July and August have proven so popular that the time has been extended through the first week in September. Last week's visiting attendance totaled nearly 4,000. The Museum is open daily from 9 to 5; Sundays 1:30 to 5; holidays all day. Take a Jamaica car from Park or Dudley streets to Moraine street where signs point the way. It is easily reached by auto along Jamaica-way; the entrance is opposite Mayor Curley's home.

GOOD WORK

Carrying a hundred pound young lady on his back down a wet mountain trail for three hours was an achievement to the credit of Ellis B. Jump, son of Rev. Herbert A. Jump of Newton. The young lady in question was a camper who sprained her ankle on the trail from Mt. Washington to Mt. Madison in the White Mountains of New Hampshire. Young Mr. Jump was a hutmaster at the Appalachian Club but where the young woman limped in one evening last week. He volunteered to be the horse on which she could ride horseback down to the Ravine House where a doctor could be found. A saddle was rigged up on a packframe and on this saddle she comfortably negotiated the thrilling descent of the mountain trail soaking with several days of rain. Mr. Jump is a Dartmouth College Junior and has been active in Outing Club programs, so this little adventure came to him in the natural logic of events. Thanks to his strength the unfortunate young lady was saved the prospect of a long helplessness due to travelling on an injured member.

WILL VISIT WEST NEWTON

Ervel von Alsdorf, German musical comedy and motion picture star, now in this country filling a New York engagement for the summer, before leaving for Hollywood for a short visit prior to returning to Europe in the fall, has signified her intention of spending a few days in West Newton early in September. She will fly from New York to Boston.

The popular German favorite of the musical comedy stage is related by marriage to Mr. and Mrs. John Goddard, of 43 Cross street, West Newton. She will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Goddard while in West Newton.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NEWS

Twenty young people from the Norumbega Christian Endeavor Union attended the annual Massachusetts C. E. Union Conference held at Northfield last week.

Among the young people from Newton who attended the conference were H. Newton Jones, Rev. and Mrs. John S. Franklin, and Russell Angell. Mrs. Franklin was a member of the Personal Relations Committee and Mr. Franklin conducted daily classes in "Progressive Endeavor" and "Youth Evangelism."

This Week

by ARTHUR BRISBANE

Mr. Ryan, All Copper Men.
Poison for Prisoners.
Mr. Coolidge Sees Hope.
Bishops O. K. Birth Control.

Last week copper fell to its lowest price in twenty years. This suggestion is offered to copper producers. Offer copper, in thin sheets of various thicknesses, suitable for flashing and other building and repairing purposes. Sell it to farmers, householders and others at the lowest profitable price, and unload your surplus.

Get co-operation from mail order houses, and hardware stores, and advertise a definite price, fifteen cents a pound, if possible, tell how many square feet there are in a pound of thin copper sheeting, and why it is better than tin or galvanized iron.

The copper surplus could be disposed of, if copper men would unite in a really intelligent, persistent, advertising campaign, using extensively the country weeklies, read by farmers, among other mediums.

This column would buy a few thousand pounds of copper sheeting properly priced, to start the sale, and make money on it.

What is the average level of civilization among human beings? When the airship R-100 reached England, returning across the ocean, only a gathering of fifty friends and relatives of passengers and crew, plus a few stragglers, welcomed the dirigible's return. English attention was concentrated on a cricket test match.

In the monkey house, with peanuts on the floor, no monkey would notice the most important arrival, not even Darwin himself. The distance separating the masses from the monkeys is not as great as some among the masses imagine.

A new idea for capital punishment suggested by the Very Reverend Dean Inge of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, commonly called "the Gloomy Dean," and endorsed by George Bernard Shaw, is this:

"Don't kill your criminals. Sentence them to death. Lock them up, leave painless poison where they can get it, and let them swallow it when ready."

It reminds you of Dickens's nurse, who said, concerning whiskey: "Don't ask me will I take none but leave it on the mantelpiece and let me put my lips to it, when so disposed." Criminals might not be "disposed" for a long time, if ever.

Mr. Shaw would compel the doomed to decide. He would say to the murderer:

"For two or three days we shall supply you with poison to kill yourself, painlessly. If you are not dead by such a date we shall hang you."

That would make the condemned's last days more complicated than usual, listening to Carlyle's "Hammering on the Gallows," and looking dubiously at the poison.

It is hot in Rome, and Mussolini sets a good example appearing in public wearing a suit of white cotton, a soft cotton collar, white canvas shoes made of cotton and a white yachting cap also of cotton.

If men here would adopt the idea, wearing cotton in summer, they would be more comfortable and the cotton farmers more prosperous.

For those that can't afford too much "dry cleaning" the cotton suits could be dyed gray, brown, black.

Mr. Coolidge, writing every day for the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph and other papers, observes the educational effects of modern inventions.

"Now all kinds of cars with people from all sections are circulating all over the country. Another important influence is the radio. A third is the motion picture. These influences have supplemented the school house in banishing ignorance."

On the other hand these new inventions do not appear to have increased mental concentration. It is what the individual thinks in solitude, not what he gazes at in a crowd, that makes him worth while.

Milton, in his blindness; Roger Bacon in prison; Bunyan in jail, Voltaire and Mirabeau in the prison of the Bastille developed excellent ideas. Life should not be spent with the radio turned on or the automobile engine "purring" always.

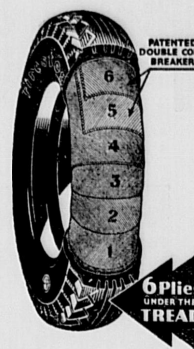

At the Lambeth conference 306 Bishops of the Anglican Church gathered in England from all over the world, requested the nation "To return to spirituality." The next step is to define Spirituality, remembering Voltaire's excellent advice "Definissons nos termes." What would be spirituality for a Congo native dancing around a dead hippopotamus might be bestiality for the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Surprising to all, and shocking to many non-Anglican bishops, is the fact that bishops at Lambeth voted 133 to 67, in secret conference, withdrawing objection to birth control.

It is no longer sin, from their point of view, to refuse to have a baby if you don't want one. That is good news for women with seven or eight children alive and sickly, two or three dead, and a drunken husband.

UNDER the non-skid tread of these famous Firestone Tires is a double breaker of two plies of cord fabric anchored in cushion rubber. This special construction absorbs road shocks—protects against punctures and blowouts—provides the foundation for the thick, tough tread with deeper grooves—giving longer non-skid wear.

OTHER makes of tires have only a single breaker of old-fashioned square woven fabric which Firestone discarded when they developed the balloon tire. Some makes do not have any breaker at all. The Firestone Tire is set apart as an "All Cord Tire".

INTERESTING WINDOW AT RANDALL'S

Randall's Candy Shop at Newton Corner, local retailers of Schrafft chocolates and selected candies, has a handsomely engrossed facsimile copy of a certificate from Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd in their window which is creating considerable interest. The certificate is an acknowledgment of appreciation for the candy presented the Byrd expedition before it sailed to the South Pole from the W. F. Schrafft & Sons Corporation. During their long stay on the Antarctic Continent the members of the expedition ate an average of 100 pounds of candy apiece. Each of the 42 members received a weekly allowance of candy.

The certificate received by the Schrafft Corporation is decorated with pictures of penguins, whales, sea lions, and sledge dogs. At the top appears a picture of the airplane in which Admiral Byrd flew over the South Pole. The acknowledgment reads: "Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, U. S. N. (retired), and the Executive Committee of the Byrd Aviation Associates express to W. F. Schrafft & Sons Corporation their enduring appreciation of the most valuable cooperation in the equipping of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition. It is our privilege to attest, and we most gratefully acknowledge, that without such assistance the accomplishment of the Expedition in the Antarctic would not have been possible." It is signed by Admiral Byrd and James I. Bush, chairman of the executive committee.

ROTARY CLUB

Vice president Frank L. Richardson was in the chair at the weekly luncheon on Monday at the Newton Rotary Club held as usual at the Woodland Golf Club.

The guest and speaker was Alderman Charles B. Floyd whose hobby is birds and he certainly gave ample evidence of his interest in that subject.

Mr. Floyd showed how birds were trapped for the purpose of banding them and how much knowledge of bird life has been obtained by this method. It is estimated that there are a million birds now banded in the country and Mr. Floyd modestly said that he had banded 25,000 himself. Many interesting facts were mentioned by Mr. Floyd. The longest migration known was of a bird flying from Labrador to the east coast of Africa, a distance of 10,500 miles. Most of the birds here in Massachusetts in the summer are found in Central and South America in the winter. The tiny humming bird Mr. Floyd said winters in Central America and is known to fly across the Gulf of Mexico. The humming bird also, Mr. Floyd stated, could fly backwards as well as forward. The talk was splendidly illustrated with colored slides.

Recent Weddings

JONES—ELLIOTT

Miss Ruth Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Elliott of Newton was married to Robert Molyneux, of 79 Charles street, Auburndale at the home of her parents, 77 Arlington street, on Saturday afternoon, August twenty-third at four in the afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Taylor.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Constance Elliott of Newton as maid of honor and Kenneth E. Mann of Waban was the best man.

The gown worn by the bride was of white satin in princess style with a veil of point d'esprit. She carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore yellow chiffon with hat of Copenhagen blue velvet and blue moire shoes. She carried a bouquet of Tailsman roses and blue larkspur.

A reception was held following the ceremony at which the couple were assisted in receiving by the parents of the bride, the maid of honor and the mother of the groom.

The house was decorated with roses, hydrangeas and gladioli. After October first Mr. and Mrs. Jones will reside at 1334 Walnut street Newton Highlands.

CONROY—WARREN

Last Saturday at a nuptial mass in St. Lawrence's Church, Chestnut Hill, Miss Mary E. Warren of Eliot street became the bride of John W. Conroy of West Newton and Rochester, N. Y. The double ring service was solemnized by the Rev. John B. Mullin. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Daniel W. Warren. Her attendants were Miss Marcella H. Warren as maid of honor and the Misses Evelyn R. Warren and Mary E. Coughlin as bridesmaids. Mary Murphy was flower girl. Mr. J. William Conroy was best man and the ushers were Mr. Daniel W. Warren, Jr., and Mr. Joseph A. Edwards. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Conroy will reside in Rochester, N. Y., where the groom serves as the northern New York representative of the Bown Durrell Co. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Conroy of Derby street, West Newton.

Recent Engagements

John Howard Chandler, of Newton Center, announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Esther Chandler, to Earle Dow Smith of Portland, Me. Mr. Smith, who is a graduate of Dartmouth, class of 1922, is the son of Mrs. Charles A. Clark of Roslindale.

Mrs. Willard G. Brackett of Wellesley Hills, formerly of 236 Marlboro street, announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Eleanor Brackett, to Edward Lee Dummer of Auburndale. Miss Brackett studied at Boston University and was graduated in 1929 from the Secretarial School of Simmons College. Following this she was for two years secretary to Dr. Alexander Mann of Trinity Church, Boston (now Bishop of Pittsburgh) and later held the same position for three years under Rev. Henry K. Sherrill, bishop-elect of Massachusetts. Since then she has been connected for the last four years with the Co-operative Workrooms, an organization giving work to handicapped women.

Mr. and Mrs. Gifford LeClerc of Waban and Brewster announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret to Charles David Gray son of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Gray of Brockton.

Miss LeClerc attended Kendall Hall, and Miss Sacker's School of Design. Mr. Gray is a graduate of Norwich University, Class of '29.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. Fonger Veen of Bordeaux, France, announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Jacqueline Veen, to Mr. John Varnum Spalding, son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Spalding of Newton Centre.

Mr. Spalding is a graduate of Harvard College and Law School. He is a member of the Harvard, St. Botolph and Newton Centre Squash Tennis Clubs. The wedding will take place the latter part of September, and they will make their home at 146 Langley road, Newton Centre.

TINY TEE GOLF LINKS

Tiny Tee Golf Links, corner Beacon and Walnut streets, Newton Centre, will be open Saturday. Children 25 cents. Adults, 35 cents days, and 50 cents evenings, except Sundays and holidays.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cook, formerly of Commonwealth Park, have moved to Los Angeles, Cal.

KIWANIS CLUB

The regular weekly meeting of the Newton Kiwanis Club was held on Tuesday, August 26, at the Old Venice Restaurant in Norumbega Park, many guests were present including Dr. Ainsley the president of the Newton Rotary Club.

The singing was led by Bill Skelton, and for the first time in the history of the Club, the South side of the City sang against the North side, from the viewpoint of a disinterested person, the south side was louder but not quite as sweet as the North side. The attendance prize was won by Dr. Lanegan.

The speaker of the day, Norman Vaughan, of Hamilton, Mass., and a member of the party that accompanied Admiral Byrd to the Antarctic gave a very interesting talk on the trip, telling of the hardships that were met and also relating many of the hazardous journeys that the members of the party took in the interests of science.

Eben S. Draper, candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, is expected to speak to the Club next Tuesday.

PUBLIX FALL TRADE WEEK
PARAMOUNT THEATRE

The Publix Theatres throughout New England together with the co-operation of the local merchants are observing "FALL TRADE WEEK". The Paramount Theatre, Newton, has interested the Newton Merchants insofar that they plan on having FALL TRADE WEEK sales during the week of Sept. 1 to 6th this will bring new faces into their stores and thereby create new business for their stores. This movement is endorsed by Mayor Weeks, Secretary L. J. Fleming, Chamber of Commerce and Dwight Colburn, Secretary of The Newton Business Men's Assn. This will be an annual affair and will tend to bring back prosperity to the local stores instead of sending the purchasing public to the larger cities.

On the program for Fall Trade Week will be Belle Bennett in Courage, a picture that has been drawing big crowds everywhere it has played. It is a story of a mother and her seven children who move from Iowa to Cambridge, Mass., so that the eldest son might attend college. It is a tender story of a valiant struggle of a widowed mother to give her children the finer things of life against overwhelming odds. On the same program will be Clara Bow in "Love Among the Millionaires", a story of where a Railroad President's son falls in love with the waitress of a Western wayside restaurant, it is a real story and one of the best Clara has been in for a long time.

For the last half of the week Moran and Mack ("the two black crows") will offer "Anybody's War," a farce on the late war, it is full of novel fun and adventure and has a laugh every minute. On the same program will be Lon Chaney in "The Unholy Three" this is the first picture in which Lon Chaney has talked and it will be interesting to hear his voice for the first time.

Fall Trade Week In The Newtons— What It Is And What It Means

Next week, from September 1st to 6th, is Fall Trade Week in the Newtons. Fall Trade Week is planned to stimulate fall business among the local merchants and to enliven industry, promote employment and develop new business. The plan, sponsored by the Paramount Publix Theatres, has been endorsed by Mayor Weeks, the Chamber of Commerce and the Newton Business Associates.

At this time of the year many people are returning from summer vacations, many new people are coming into Newton, the children are getting ready for the new school term. Those returning home from the shore or the country must stock their shelves with food products, are planning new improvements or new furniture in their homes. The new residents are getting acquainted with the stores of local merchants. The opening of school means that considerable sums are being spent for outfitting the children. In many ways money must be expended at this time. What better place than to spend it in local stores?

When a dollar is spent with a Newton merchant that dollar is at once put into circulation in Newton. The power of that dollar becomes immense when it is considered that that merchant again spends it in Newton. It is magnified each time that dollar is spent. The surest, safest, and speediest way to bring about renewed prosperity and to maintain it is to patronize home merchants and home industries.

The merchants advertising on these pages are endeavoring to help you as well as to attract your patronage. Many of them are making special offers for Fall Trade Week. The Paramount theatre, leading the way in this co-operative plan, is showing feature pictures which should attract capacity houses, thereby increasing the number of prospective purchasers in the local stores. The local theatre is a "home institution." A very small part of each dollar received at the box office leaves the community. It is spent within the trading area served by the theatre. One of the most forcible precepts taught by Public is "Trade at home—wherever possible."

Optimism of the business leaders is more than justified. There is no place for the pessimist. While we have been in a long period of business depression we can hasten the turn for the better by buying now. Patronize local merchants not only during FALL TRADE WEEK but all the time. Next Monday being Labor Day the local stores will be closed but on Wednesday afternoon they will be open. During the past three months many of the Newton stores have closed on Wednesday afternoons.

With this issue of the Graphic the present management completes thirty years of newspaper service to the people of Newton. For a full generation the Graphic has noted the passing of events, the births, marriages and deaths and other matters of interest to its large circle of readers.

It is interesting to note the changes which have taken place in this city during thirty years. The population has virtually doubled, jumping from 33,000 in 1900 to 65,000 in 1930. The number of voters shows the greatest change due to the women's vote, the figures being 5,000 men and 576 women in 1900 and about 29,000 today. The expense of running the city has more than doubled, being $2,300,000 then and over $5,000,000 now. Valuations have jumped from some $56,000,000 thirty years ago to $160,000,000 today. School expenses have gone from $193,000 in 1900 to $1,300,000 now with an increase in pupils from 5838 to 11,000 and an increase in teachers from 187 to 556. We had a central postoffice at Newton Centre with Edward A. Ellis as postmaster in 1900 and Chestnut Hill, Waban and Lower Falls did not have carrier service.

And there have been important changes in the Graphic itself during this period. In 1900 the Graphic was entirely hand set, had no display headings and carried no features of any kind. Eight pages was the limit and 1800 copies were printed. Today, the Graphic is entirely machine set, its articles are tastefully displayed and it has had but 2 eight page issues for the past year, most issues being 10 or 12 pages. Our readers already know and appreciate our exclusive features—the woman's page, Mr. Bentley's "One Thing and Another", Mr. Powers' "About Town" and others of equal interest. Incidentally we print 3100 copies and have the largest circulation of any Newton paper.

It is interesting to note that with this issue we come to the end of the 58th year of the Graphic, which was first published in 1872.

The Public Theatres are to be congratulated and commended on their enterprise and initiative for better business in their plan for a Fall Trade Week in New England and for which they are expending $25,000.

Their objective is to bring people into the cities and towns, thereby stimulating business not only for the local merchant but for everybody concerned. Incidentally the Theatres will present their highest grade features during the entire week.

In these days of slack business, which shows some indications of taking a turn for the better, the Public Theatres are expressing their belief in the inherent soundness of present day conditions.

U. S. District Attorney Tarr is most emphatic in his attitude toward the proposed repeal of the State Enforcement act. He says: "Now I have said many times, and would like to repeat it, that, in my opinion, repeal of the State Enforcement act will cause an increase in crime and disorder; increase in the manufacture of illicit liquor; will increase its free transportation; will increase drunken driving and bring an influx of criminal population."

The fact that first assistant district attorney Warren L. Bishop, who is a candidate for the Republican nomination for district attorney, was, at some time in the past, an active Democrat, is not a liability as another candidate suggests. That he is a Republican now is a tribute to his common sense and will be so regarded by right thinking persons.

The Badge of The Badger

Third and Final Article in a Series on Wisconsin and the National Editorial Association

(Editor's note—Last week in the second of a series of articles dealing with the 1930 convention of the National Editorial Association in Milwaukee and an educational tour to various places in Wisconsin the past June we told something of that state. This week, in the concluding article of the series, we take our readers to the "Thumb of Wisconsin," through "Cherry Land," on to historic Mackinac Island and Sault Sainte Marie, Michigan, and back to Two Rivers, Wisconsin, the final stop of our itinerary.)

When all the members of the N. E. A., their wives and friends, who were booked for the four-day lake cruise, were aboard the S.S. Carolina about eleven o'clock that Friday evening the lines were cast off and we steamed down the harbor along the west shore of Lake Michigan towards the "Thumb of Wisconsin." This peninsula, in a way, is to Wisconsin what Cape Cod is to Massachusetts. It is about seventy-five miles in length and varies in width from fifteen miles at its southern end where it joins the mainland to about three miles at the northern tip. Unlike Cape Cod it is more in the shape of a thumb than an arm, bent at the elbow. The bay on the western side of the peninsula is known as Green Bay. Somewhat more than half way to the tip of the peninsula, on the Green Bay side, Sturgeon Bay is located. On reaching our staterooms that night we found printed instructions as to the plans for our visit next day at Sturgeon Bay and Door County which increased our anticipations immeasurably although we had already heard a great deal of the attractions of that section.

As we arose the next morning we were passing through the Lake Michigan canal, connecting the waters of Sturgeon Bay and Green Bay with Lake Michigan. The canal, about a mile and a half long and a hundred feet wide, was constructed by a private company, opened in 1882 and purchased by the U. S. Government for $103,000 in 1893. A half hour later we steamed up to the dock at Sturgeon Bay, a charming little city of about 5,000 population, noted as a popular summer resort and the trading center of Door County.

Disembarking we were shown through the factory, storage plant and warehouse of the Fruit Grower's Canning Company. This factory is the largest canning factory in the world and we obtained some idea of the extensive cherry industry for which Door County, often called "Cherry Land," is justly famous. Upon leaving the plant we found ninety automobiles lined up for our use for the day. We were first taken for a trip through the city to the Van Camp milk condensery on the west side of Sturgeon Bay. This company has a monthly milk check payroll of $80,000 to $100,000, which shows the extent of the county's dairy industry.

Returning to our automobiles we were taken to Potawatomi State Park, one of the two state parks with which the county is favored. It was here that Jean Nicolet landed in 1634. Its beautiful drives, rising 150 feet above the lake shore, present a view of cities, waters dotted with islands, vast bluffs, and a splendid panorama of the largest cherry orchard in America. Crossing the park to the shore of Lake Michigan we passed through the "Glidden Drive," an enchanting road about three miles long, through the forests bordering the lake shore. Back in Sturgeon Bay we drove by the shipbuilding plants, which are the leading industry there, the fish hatchery and down the Bay Shore drive to the Sturgeon Bay company's crushed stone plant and quarry, the largest limestone quarry on the Great Lakes. Over a million tons of crushed stone are shipped by water every summer to ports on Lake Michigan and to Detroit, Cleveland and Buffalo.

Winding our way to the top of a high bluff we came to the cherry orchards. In Door County there are six hundred thousand cherry trees planted on six thousand acres. Between four and five hundred growers, most of whom unite in an organization, own the canning plant, cold pack and market their crops on a co-operative plan. The Door County organization is one of the few in the United States that has been recognized by the Federal Farm Board and granted a loan of $700,000 to extend its operations. The annual production of cherries in a normal year is about eighteen million pounds and is valued at about two millions of dollars. The return to the growers is from six to seven and half cents per pound. In the picking season, most of July and the first week of August, about eight thousand pickers, many of whom live in camps maintained by the growers, are employed on a payroll of between one hundred fifty and two hundred thousand dollars. Almost two-thirds of the cherries are pitted and canned, thirty per cent are pitted and frozen while five per cent are packed fresh in crates. The remaining one per cent is pressed and the juice bottled. By-products of the industry are cherry seed oil, cherry seed stock feeds, face cream, and cooking oil.

The fruit picked the first few days of the season is picked on the stem and often forty-five carloads of 630 crates each are packed in one day for shipment to neighboring states. In a week about 250 carloads of fresh fruit are canned in the factory at Sturgeon Bay and cold pack stations at East Harbor and Sister Harbor. The cherries are received at the factory each grower's load is weighed and he is given a slip showing the number of containers, the gross weight and the net weight. The cherries are then dumped into tanks of cold water to cleanse and harden the fruit. They are then elevated to the picking-over tables where women remove the leaves, dirt, unripe, or defective fruit. The over-type or spotted cherries are sent to the juice press. The fruit is pitted and given a final inspection before going to the fillers where a hundred No. 2 cans or twenty No. 10 cans are filled each minute. After the cans are filled they move through an exhaustor to the closing machine where the covers are put on. After being rolled to the cooler and then to a conveyor belt, they move on to the warehouse to await labelling and shipping. The total time necessary for the entire canning operation is about thirty minutes.

Cherry blossom time, the latter part of May, has become a widely known event here in "Wisconsin's Wonderland." In Door County is sometimes called and many are attracted there to see the delicate beauty of snow white blossoms covering thousands upon thousands of trees. Private homes and many of the resorts open for the occasion and two of the recent innovations are the serving of cherry pie and the provision of large cabin planes for viewing the spectacle from the air. At the time we visited this section the cherries were just beginning to take on a tinge of red. After driving several miles with cherry trees on both sides of the road we came to the Reynolds Orchard where luncheon was served. Cherry pie was featured and enjoyed by everyone.

In addition to producing thirty per cent of the nation's red cherries, Wisconsin excels in the raising of other crops. Twenty-five million dollars worth of canned peas (representing 53 per cent of the canning peas of the entire United States), a half million in cranberries, twenty-four millions in potatoes, two millions in cabbage, seven millions in leaf tobacco, and nearly a million and a half in clover seed are the values of such crops produced throughout the Badger State in an average year.

After lunch we resumed our trip through Door County, passing through the Martin Cherry orchard of 700 acres, the largest in America, up the shore to the Peninsula State Park of about four thousand acres and with line miles of waterfront. The Wisconsin State Game farm to which thousands of visitors are attracted is located in this park. Driving on to Ephraim, a resort village on the bay shore, we were the guests of the Door County Chamber of Commerce at a delicious dinner. At Ephraim we again boarded the S.S. Carolina which had come up the shore from Sturgeon Bay while we were motoring through Door County. It was with a feeling of regret that we steamed out of the harbor that Saturday evening as the sun set behind the wooded shores across Green Bay.

As darkness fell we passed the widely-known Death's Door, a name given the passageway between the tip of Door County peninsula and Washington Island as the result of a battle there, nearly three hundred years ago, between two tribes of Indians, the Winnebagoes and the Potawatomis. The story was that the latter tribe occupied the island and their enemies the land at the tip of the peninsula. Trouble having brewed between them, the Potawatomis selected a dark night to cross the mile wide passage in their canoes to attack the Winnebagoes. A scout was sent ahead to build a fire on a protected spot in the rockbound coast to guide them to a safe landing. The scout was captured by the Winnebagoes, who learning of the plans of the Potawatomis, built a fire at the foot of a high cliff as a decoy. The false beacon and a sudden storm resulted in the Winnebagoes being easy victims of the Potawatomis. Several hundred of the Potawa-

Early Sunday morning the steamer docked at Mackinac Island, situated in the straits that divide Lake Michigan from Lake Huron, where an opportunity for several hours of sight-seeing was greatly enjoyed by our party. There are no automobiles on Mackinac Island which is said to be the only island possession of the United States where they are forbidden by law. This restriction was passed because great expense and considerable destruction of beauty would have been necessary to reduce the danger automobile traffic would create on the narrow winding roads.

Historically Mackinac Island stands pre-eminent in this section of the United States. Following visits by Jean Nicolet in 1634, Joliet in 1669, Pere Marquette in 1670, the French took possession of this "Isle of the Red Man" in 1671 and retained it for nearly a hundred years. Pontiac, the "Red Napoleon," endeavored to seize it in his well-planned but futile conspiracy in 1763. Under the Treaty of Paris in that same year the island passed to English rule and in 1780 Fort Mackinac, crowning the heights like a sentinel was built. Captain Porter first unfurled the Stars and Stripes here in Michigan in 1796. Old blockhouses, gleaming white walls and embankments, all intact, have guarded this "Pearl of the Island Seas" for these three great nations and stand as mute evidence of struggles of the past. In the battle of Mackinac in the War of 1812 the English surprised and captured the garrison at the fort. Two years later the Americans made an unsuccessful effort to recapture it in a battle in which the gallant Mayor Holmes was killed. The fort was restored to the United States possession in 1815 and it remained a military post until 1895. At that time an act of Congress deeded it in trust to the state of Michigan to be maintained forever as an historic public park. Its natural beauty, wooded shores, and many islands, with hardly a sign of human habitation for mile after mile, make it one of the most delightful spots on a cruise of the lakes. The St. Mary's River is about forty miles in length and forms the international boundary between the United States and Canada.

Near the upper end of the St. Mary's River are the "Twin Soss," Sault Sainte Marie, Michigan, and Sault Sainte Marie, Ontario, Canada, often called the "Hub of the Great Lakes." Early that evening our steamer docked on the American side and most of our party went ashore to view the city. On Monday morning we were the guests of the Sault Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast in the Hotel Ojibway. The chief speaker was Chase S. Osborne, former Governor of the State and a candidate this year for United States Senator. He gave many reminiscences of his experiences as a newspaper man and as a traveler in many parts of the world. The remainder of the morning was spent in visiting points of interest of which the famous locks are the outstanding.

Above the city are the rapids of the river with a fall of twenty feet in less than a mile, making a portage necessary until the Old State lock and canal were opened in 1855. Traffic increased in volume and ships in size making larger locks necessary. There are at present five locks, four of which are on the American side of the river and one on the Canadian side. They are the Weitzel lock, 515 feet long and 80 feet wide, opened in 1881; the Canadian lock, 900 feet long, 60 feet wide, built in 1895; the Poe lock, 800 feet long, 100 feet wide, built in 1896; the Davis lock, 1350 feet long and 80 feet wide, built in 1904 and the Sabin lock of similar dimensions built in 1919. These latter two locks are the longest in the world, 250 feet longer than the famous Gatun lock of the Panama canal.

The amount of freight passing through these locks has steadily increased from about 15,000 tons in 1855 to more than 92 millions of tons in 1929. Ships pass the Sault on an average of 100 a day in a normal season making a total of approximately 20,000 ships of all kinds in the course of the eight months in which the canal is open to navigation. Comparisons with some of the other large canals in the world are extremely interesting. The Panama canal is the greatest in the world from viewpoint of cost. Notwithstanding the fact that traffic through the Panama canal increased 83 per cent over the previous year the traffic in the Sault canals was a little more than three times that through the Panama and three and a half times that through the Suez canal both of which are open twelve months in the year. The tonnage of freight passing through the Sault canal is more than passes the Panama, Suez, Kiel and Manchester canals combined.

It is a most interesting sight to witness the huge vessels passing through the locks for which no toll is charged and statistics show that over 105,000 people visited the locks in 1929. Sault Sainte Marie has the distinction of being the first settlement in Michigan. Antoine Brule probably landed there in 1611 while records show that Jean Nicolet arrived in 1634 and the Jesuit Fathers established a mission there in 1641. Marquette made the first permanent settlement in 1662. In 1761 the British flag was raised and on June 15, 1820, Governor Cass raised the Stars and Stripes. The first U. S. soldiers, in command of Col. Hugh Brady, arrived two years later and built Fort Brady on the site of the old French Post where the Federal Building now stands.

A visit to Fort Brady, now located on the hill back of the city and overlooking Lake Superior, a ferry trip to the Canadian side and a drive around the city occupied the remainder of our time there. After three hundred years of white civilization this vicinity still retains a distinct atmosphere of its romantic past. It is called the "Home of Hiawatha." Not only were the Indian legends, which are the basis of Longfellow's "Hiawatha" collected here by Schoolcraft but the characters they described were set down here by the poet and made to play again their several parts in the poem, regarded as Longfellow's greatest. On the Canadian side of the river is Hiawatha Park with much of the natural beauty still remaining, including Minnehaha Falls.

We left the Sault early Sunday afternoon and turned towards Milwaukee with but one more stop scheduled, that at Two Rivers, Wisconsin. From the time we boarded the boat at Sheboygan on Friday night until we entered Lake Huron again after steaming down the St. Mary's River that Sunday afternoon the waters of the lakes had been as smooth as a mill pond. But as we entered the straits of Mackinac there was something of a ground swell and a brisk cross-wind that tipped the waves with white caps. The waves began to run as high as six or eight feet. A little later a storm came up and the lightning flashing in the distance and seeming to pierce the water made a fascinating picture. We soon ran out of the storm, however, and a shift of the wind into the northwest cleared the skies. The water became considerably calmer and the Carolina ceased to roll. Shortly after midnight the wind rose again and Lake Michigan gave the party a taste of its roughness. Not all of them enjoyed it. All was forgotten as a beautiful morning dawned and the lake surface quieted down again.

We entered the harbor at Two Rivers about one o'clock and as we neared the dock we were greeted by the strains of music from the instruments of the uniformed band of the Hamilton Manufacturing Co., our host of the afternoon. The Two Rivers harbor is unique in its Y-shaped form with the East and West Twin Rivers uniting only a few hundred yards from the lake. It is the home of the largest and best-equipped commercial fishing fleet on the Great Lakes, nearly half of the total catch of trout and whitefish on the lakes being shipped from this port. Two Rivers has the only coast guard station along the west shore in a stretch of sixty miles. In the old sailing days the crew here was one of the most important on the lakes, due to the treacherous winds and currents setting around Two Rivers Point, once noted all over the lakes as a graveyard for unlucky ships. Scores of thrilling rescues are recorded in the log of the coast guard in its usual matter of fact terms.

Two Rivers, with water upon three sides, has two unique distinctions—it is the "coolest spot in Wisconsin" and the "fastest growing city in Wisconsin." Fifty years ago it was but a village of several hundred while today it has passed the ten thousand mark and is still growing rapidly.

One of the main factors in its rapid growth has been the Hamilton Manufacturing Company and its founder, J. E. Hamilton. Just fifty years ago in a 10 by 12 foot room in his mother's home, Mr. Hamilton, as a young man, opened up a shop of his own to make wood type. It was more or less by accident the publisher of the local newspaper, needing some big type for a dance poster turned to young Hamilton, who at that time was a lathe-hand in a small chair factory, to get him to scroll-saw the type. From this small start the present Hamilton Manufacturing Company, covering more than two square blocks with over 600,000 square feet of floor space and with an annual volume of business well into seven figures developed. For several years the company specialized in the making of wood type and in 1886 added the making of reglets, furniture, and a few small articles, made of wood, which were in general use in printing offices. The expansion of the printers' line was rapid and according to insistent demand the company began production of cabinets to hold wood type, type cases, imposing tables, and other articles. About 1900 the facilities of the plant had expanded to the point where other fields could be entered and the addition of a line of dental cabinets followed and about fifteen years later a line of drafting room furniture.

The development of steel printers' furniture, now the major part of the company's business, is the most recent addition, being inaugurated in 1911. This handsome and indestructible type of equipment rapidly increased in popularity throughout the country so that it is now the major part of the business. A unique feature of the Hamilton labor policy is the annual week's vacation with pay which is granted to every employee with a year's service. Every department of the plant is included. One of the great annual events of Two Rivers is "Hamilton Night" the festa which celebrates the closing of the plant for the vacation period. An outdoor entertainment with fireworks, band concert, refreshments, etc., are features of the gala affair.

Our party was escorted to the factory where in small groups, each with a guide, we were conducted through the various departments of the plant. The huge machines stamping out galleys by the wholesale, the steel plant and its rapid and efficient fabrication of all-metal equipment, and the experts at work in the wood-type department were of great interest to the publishers, most of whom have in their offices or print shops some equipment manufactured there.

No story of Two Rivers or of the Hamilton Manufacturing Company would be complete without recognition of the fact that J. E. Hamilton has contributed more to the creation and development of both than any other one person. He has always concerned himself with the advancement of his community and along with his industrial understanding and business acumen has developed a foresight in and loyalty for civic affairs. Two Rivers is almost as much a monument to him as the great industry he created. In recognition of the fiftieth anniversary of this industry he has given the city a Community Building which is now being erected at a cost of over $150,000. But J. E. Hamilton has given much to Two Rivers in other than a monetary way. The results of his thinking and planning are everywhere. Although he has retired from the affairs of the Hamilton Company, leaving the business in the hands of his son, nephew and others long associated with the business, he will doubtless never cease to take an active part in community undertakings.

Two Rivers is also the birthplace of the aluminum manufacturing industry in the United States. After the late Joseph Koenig, inventor, proved to Mr. Hamilton the practicability of his plans, it was launched in a corner of the Hamilton Company factory. The company, with the aid of the Hamilton business intelligence, proved a success and still maintains its largest works in Two Rivers.

Following the tour of the plant buses conveyed us to a pine grove a few miles from the city where a beautiful outdoor buffet supper had been prepared. A corps of girls from the Hamilton offices assisted in serving and the Hamilton band provided an enjoyable concert. In the interludes a trio of Italian strolling players moved about singing their native songs. Nine o'clock, the time scheduled for the departure of the Carolina, came all too soon—once again Wisconsin hospitality had proven its warmth.

POLICE NEWS

In the Newton district court last Friday morning Leona B. Quigley of Newton street, Waltham, was arraigned on charges of larceny of nearly $100 by means of worthless checks. She is alleged to have passed two checks, one for $50 and another for more than $40 on local merchants in return for merchandise. The case was continued to Sept. 6.

Frank Karlons of 45 High street, Upper Falls, was fined $15 for fishing without a license as the result of being found by a deputy game warden while fishing in the Charles River near his home.

A domestic quarrel brought James Barrisano of 224 Adams street, Newton, a suspended sentence of three months in the house of correction in the Newton court last Saturday. The young man was arrested, tried and sentenced, all within the space of twelve minutes and breaking all records for speed in the local court. Mrs. Lillian Barrisano appeared at the court house Saturday morning to swear out a warrant charging her husband with assault and battery. This was promptly served by Sergt. Patrick J. King and Patrolman Joseph B. Kelly who found Barrisano on Adams street and brought him to court where his wife awaited them. Before Judge P. S. Cunniff the young man admitted he had struck his wife but asserted that he did not do so until she had hurled a knife and plate at him. He displayed a wound on his face as evidence. The wife, according to the police, admitted she had thrown the missiles.

As the result of driving under the influence of liquor Paul Olender of Brookline was fined $100 in the Newton court last Saturday. Charges of drunkenness and going away from the scene of an accident after causing damage to property were placed on file. Olender was the driver of an automobile that struck and broke off a pole at Needham and Winchester streets, Newton Highlands, resulting in injury to himself and two children. The accident occurred on August 13th. It was charged that after the accident Olender sped away despite the fact that his car was considerably damaged. He was overtaken and arrested after a chase on Beacon street, Newton Centre, by Patrolmen Condrin and McCormick.

Another case of driving under the influence of liquor resulted in another stiff fine at the same session of the court when Erthel H. Anderson of Cambridge was fined $100 on such a charge. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file. He was arrested on August 6th by Patrolman McLaughlin.

Sunday night Patrolman Hoyt picked up a runaway lad of fourteen years of age. The boy who gave his name as Jacob Mandell of Brooklyn, N. Y., was taken to headquarters and steps taken to notify his parents.

Joseph Sokol, 16, of Needham, was sentenced to the Shirley Industrial School at the juvenile session of the Newton court on Monday. He was arrested on a charge of larceny of an automobile last week after having previously been placed on probation on a charge of breaking and entering.

Benjamin Schwartz of Dorchester was fined $10 in court last Monday on a charge of driving without proper lights. The fine was suspended by the court.

5c Fare in Local Fare Zones

Monday, September 1st

In an effort to increase riding, the Public Trustees of the Boston Elevated Railway have authorized, for a trial period of thirty days from September first, a reduction of from six and one-quarter cents to five cents in the fare in local fare zones without transfers.

The Public Trustees earnestly desire to increase riding in local fare zones, and to that end offer a fare of five cents for such rides. It is hoped that this change will receive the co-operation of the public and that riding will be increased.

You will save 20% on Local Rides

HOOD'S Grade A Milk

is selected from the largest herd of Tuberculin Tested Cows
in New England

NEVER, in the history of New England dairying has such an extensive group of tuberculin tested, milk producing cows been selected for a milk service... As good and safe and rich as Hood's Grade A Milk has always been, we have gone a step further in adding this extra refinement to make Hood's Grade A Milk the ideal babies milk... Not many years ago, the intimate supervision, the extreme care given to Hood's Grade A Milk today was unknown to dairying. Later, these protective measures were applied only to milk of the highest price, production costs making it unavailable for many. Now Hood's Grade A Milk is surrounded by every protective safeguard. Cows are tested under State and Federal supervision. It is produced under a control that exacts a standard higher than any legal requirement. Hood's is the ideal babies milk, yes, and for grownups too.

RICH MILK—Better than legal requirements for Grade A Milk. Rich all through.

CLEAN MILK—From clean cows, produced under rigid sanitary supervision.

TESTED COWS—From cows tuberculin tested under State and Federal supervision, and then especially selected by our own inspectors.

CLEAN BOTTLES—Bottles are scientifically cleansed and sterilized by the most modern equipment in New England.

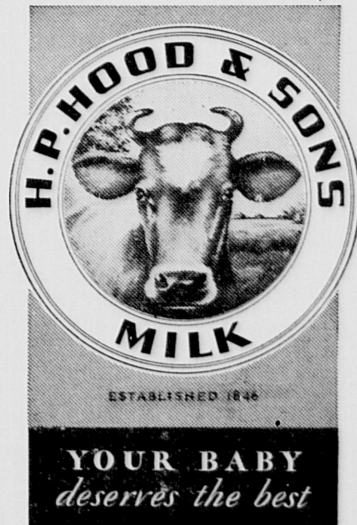

SEALED BOTTLES—Double sealed to prevent tampering or contamination.

PASTEURIZED—With the most modern and scientifically correct methods and equipment.

Oh Boy! What Joy LIFT CORNS RIGHT OUT

The English Way

Right from England comes the new, better, joyful way to take out corns—roots and all.

Callouses go also, and you can rub off that hard skin on heels and toes with your hand—the magic treatment.

Ask the Hubbard Drug Co., Inc., or any leading druggist for a package of Radox—put 2 tablespoonfuls in a gallon of hot water—do this 3 or 4 nights in succession—then lift out the corns.

FOURTH BURGLARY AT LOWER FALLS

Burglars visited Lower Falls for the fourth time within ten days last week Thursday night when they broke open the safe in the office of the Riverside Sand & Gravel Company on Grove street, Cash, totaling approximately $125, was taken while valuable papers and checks were tossed aside after the safe had been ransacked.

The thieves are believed to be members of the safe gang that recently broke into the Woodland R. R. Station, the Woodland Sand & Gravel Company office and the C. H. Sprague Company office on Washington street.

When the office was opened Friday morning by a clerk the burglary was discovered. He found that a rear window had been broken into and that the combination had been knocked off the safe. Only the cash was found to be missing. The cellar door had also been forced open but nothing was taken from the cellar. In all probability the burglars first entered the cellar expecting to find a stairway to the office above. There being no stairway they then entered by way of the window.

Michael Vassalotti, a member of the firm, discovered footprints, apparently made by a size 8½ shoe, near the window. The mark of a new rubber heel is another important clue to the police.

AUTO ACCIDENT

The intersection of Walnut and Watertown streets was the scene of another automobile accident last Sunday afternoon when two cars collided there. Claude Kinsman of Waltham, who was riding in one of the cars, received cuts about his hands when the car was overturned in the collision. He was taken to the Newton Hospital for treatment. The car was owned and being operated by Frederick Davidson of Orange street, Waltham. The other car, owned by Norman S. Waite of High Rock Way, Allston, was being driven by Frederick W. Waite of the same address.

Activity of Small Use if Not Wisely Directed

Aeschylus, one of the greatest of the Greek poets, tells us that "A child pursues the flying bird," and the old Greeks who heard him understood just what he meant. We have often seen a dog go after a flying bird with all possible eagerness; and we smiled at his folly. The dog might be a good runner, but the bird had no need to fear his speed. We have seen a dog chase a railway train and if the dog could think, no doubt when the train had passed beyond its ken it would say to itself, "I chased away that great monster."

Activity is little use unless it is wisely directed. A man may spend a lifetime chasing flying birds, or attempting to catch something which he has never the remotest chance of securing. Men have spent many years trying to discover the secret of perpetual motion, but the secret still eludes humanity. Youth is usually busy at something or other which is perfectly practicable, but occasionally we find a wild chase after the impossible. And, even if the child caught the bird, what would he do with it? Suppose we get what we are after, what good will it be to us? We have seen men catch something which they had been seeking for months, or even years, and when they had secured it they were no farther ahead. The thing was not worth the effort.—London Times.

Ruler's First Job

The first art to be learned by a ruler is to endure envy.—Seneca.

O-O

Direction is more essential to arriving than speed.

Floater can go in only one direction: Down stream.

The average church has too many sleepers and too few pillars.

Low ambitions and low fires make no one warm.

A spendthrift puts his money into the spigot, and draws it out through the bung hole.

Let's be careful how we lay life's building stones, since we cannot guarantee our tombstones.

Much sympathy is expressed by the many friends of Mrs. Dr. Julia A. Moriarty of Oakleigh road who is critically ill at the Newton Hospital.

—Robert Bradford Keene, direct descendant of Governor Bradford of Plymouth Plantation, celebrated his 9th birthday, August 26, with his many little friends.

—J. Baldwin Pearson, son of Dr. and Mrs. Chas. S. Pearson of Washington street, returned this week from a season at camp at Lake Dunmore, Salisbury, Vt.

—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cogswell of Chicago, recently returned from Europe, have been the guests of Mr. Cogswell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cogswell on Barnes road.

—Charles, Francis and James Donovan of Washington street, Hunnewell Hill, returned this week after a two months' stay at The Keewaydin Camps, Lake Dunmore, Salisbury, Vt. The Union Service for the summer of the Elliot, Channing, Methodist, and Baptist Churches will be held next Sunday in the Immanuel Baptist Church, Rev. Henry B. Williams, D.D., of New Bedford will be the preacher. Services in the several churches will be resumed on Sept. 7.

OBSERVES 91ST BIRTHDAY

Mr. C. C. Patten celebrated the completion of his ninety-first year at the summer residence of his daughter, Mrs. Percy Thomas at Little Compton, R. I., August 23rd. Present on that day were daughters, grand children, and great grand children, with numerous missives of congratulation.

Born in Boston, he was named after his maternal grandfather, Christopher Curtis, who owned a lime kiln, supposed to be located where the present Lime street is in Boston.

His father had a carpenter shop built on piles surrounded by water, a mile south of Dover street on Tremont Row. Mr. Patten moved to Oak Hill in 1849 and helped his uncle, Henry Hodges, reclaim land in building a stone wall on a trench filled with stones, five feet wide and four feet at the top. He drove two yoke of oxen to break up some land.

He went to the oldest district school, which was taught one winter by William Ward, an older brother of Charles Ward for whom the G. A. R. post is named. Another winter he was taught by Master Curtis, from whom he learned that money at 6% doubled itself in two hundred months. Mrs. Jane G. Avery Carter of Needham Heights was a pupil at the same time. Later he was employed for a time at Petee's machine shop, during which time the Fremont and Dayton Barbecue was held at Needham, where a whole ox was roasted. A "callopie" was a novelty introduced at the barbecue.

In 1857 he was employed in the redemption department of the Suffolk Bank, known as the King of New England Banks. He enlisted in the Newton company of the 44th Massachusetts regiment in 1862.

He was employed fifty years in the Old Boston National Bank, beginning 1865. He became a member of the Charles Ward Post of the G. A. R. in 1888 and held various offices, including trusteeship, until nine years ago, when because of loss of sight he moved to Springfield to live with his daughter, Louise.

He believes in folks being in earnest and not like the chap in the following story:—

"He had returned from a visit to his intended. He was so ardent before going to bed he wrote to her as follows:—

"I would climb the most barbarous and precipitous mountain to be near you. I would swim the widest stream, even the Hellespont, to be at your side. I would go through the most torrential rain to be with you.

Your dearest,
P. S. I will see you to-morrow if it does not rain."
